ALIENS MUST FIRST GO

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—No citizens of the United States are to be removed from their jobs at navy yards because of lack of work or lack of funds for naval construction, until all aliens have been discharged. This was the substance of an order by Secretary Daniels received at the first naval district headquarters here today.

One hundred and eighty soldiers of the A.E.F. were blinded.

10 Drowned as Steamer Hits Pier and Smashes to Pieces

MUSKEGON, Mich., Oct. 28.—Ten persons lost their lives this morning when the Crosby Line steamer City of Muskegon, formerly the City of Holland, struck the South pier at Muskegon channel and was smashed to pieces, sinking in four minutes. Three of the victims were passengers, the remainder being members of the crew. There were about 25 passengers aboard but the vessel lay against the pier so that most of them were able to make their way to safety.

The City of Muskegon left Milwaukee in clear weather last evening, but was caught in a raging northwestern that struck Lake Michigan early this morning. Riding the storm well, Captain Edward Miller decided it was safer to attempt to make the harbor than to turn about. Just as the bow of the vessel came into the channel, a big wave caught it and smashed the craft against the end of the pier.

FAIR PRICE COMMITTEE WAS NOT ON FURLOUGH FOR LOWELL

The fair price committee for Lowell, whose appointment was suggested at a conference held at the state house in Boston last Friday, will consist of five members, composed as follows: One representative of the city government, one retail provision dealer, one wholesale provision dealer, one woman and one public citizen.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson made this announcement today after a telephone conversation with Col. John H. Sherburne, chairman of the state commission on the necessities of life. At the conference Friday it was decided to have the state commission suggest the character of the makeup of the commission. The mayor has not yet appointed those who are to serve on the local committee.

The purpose of the committee is to make an effort to have the prices of living commodities stabilized as much as possible. Each week the state commission will send to the local committee a list of what it considers "fair prices" for various articles and the local committee will be guided by this list in fixing prices to meet local conditions.

NOTHING NEW IN DRACUT MURDER CASE

What little transpired in the investigation of the Fortuna murder case this forenoon was confined to the activities of the local police, who have been called in to assist Officer Silas Smith of the district attorney's office, and the Dracut department. Supt. Redmond Welch, Inspector Martin Maher and several other attaches of the Lowell force sped off in the chief's car shortly after 10 o'clock, but had nothing to say on their return.

Chief Cullinan of the Dracut police was at the Lowell station this morning for a while in consultation with Jacob Targ, brother of the dead woman, and then went out of town at 12 o'clock. He left in a hurry and simply said he was "going out of town."

Following the further questioning of Andrew Gagliardi, by the district attorney yesterday, the fiance was released, as the police are convinced that he knows nothing of the murder. Every person who has been spoken of in connection with Mrs. Fortuna's life now has been eliminated. It is said and whatever transpires in the future will have to do with persons whose names have not been publicly mentioned.

Commissioner Murphy Asks $10,000 For Sewer Construction and Council Allows Him $5000

Mayor Votes Against Passage of Order—Health Department Employee Awarded Compensation for Military Service—Hearings on Various Petitions

A further lease of life for the sewer department was created by the municipal council at its regular meeting this morning when it voted to borrow $5000 for sewer construction, despite Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy's plea that his department be given $10,000 so that sewers which now remain partially completed may be finished. Mayor Perry D. Thompson voted against the passage of the order.

The latter part of the meeting was given over wholly to detailed arguments, pro and con, on the petition of Edward Dean, a former employee of the health department, that he be given an amount of money equal to the difference in the wages he was receiving from the city as a teamster in the health department and the pay he received while in the military service in the world war. Hon. James E. O'Donnell appeared for Mr. Dean and Mayor Thompson opposed the petition on the grounds that Mr. Dean was not an employee of the department when he entered the national service, but that the city had merely rented a team of horses from him. Arguments on both sides were so extensive that the meeting began to resolve itself into the nature of a court scene. Mr. O'Donnell finally won his point, the council voting four to one, to award Mr. Dean $116.25, or a less sum if the city au-

STUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

John Tobin, a boy residing at 50 Fulton street, was struck by an automobile at the corner of Bridge and First streets shortly after 12 o'clock this afternoon and received slight injuries to his foot. He was treated at St. John's hospital. The operator of the machine was Charles L. Randall of 97, eighteenth street, who stated that the boy ran from the sidewalk in the path of the automobile and the collision was inevitable.

Capt. John Smith was the first writer of the first book in American literature.

Contentment and Happiness Will be more general in Massachusetts with

Richard H. Long

AS

He Is Honest and Fearless!

He has a faculty of bringing order out of confusion, harmony out of discord.

Governor Coolidge and the machine that gave him every office permit corporations and wealth to take extortionate toll from the pockets of the people.

The Boston Elevated bill is typical. The people of Greater Boston, including the Republican mayors, unanimously condemn it.

Richard H. Long will be just to wealth, but he also demands justice for the workers who create prosperity—the wage earners, school teachers, clerks, state, city and town employees, and the small business man.

The corrupt interests, conscious of impending loss of control, are summoning their every friend and tool, inside and outside the state, to defeat Long and make Massachusetts safe for the plunderers of the people.

Long's thousands of contented employees know, him and trust him.

The people, by his overwhelming primary vote, showed their trust in him.

Business men who want a broad-minded, liberal man for Governor advocate his election.

The only people who fear his election are the corrupt interests. Long would be elected by 50,000 today. He will be elected November 4th by more. Watch his majority grow.

Long advocates these sane and progressive measures: A graduated income tax to make the billion-and-a-quarter of Massachusetts' big incomes pay its share of tax burdens.

Recognition of the Service man.

The five cent car fare and restoration of abandoned service.

State ownership of the trolleys and the elimination of Water and Gas.

State ownership and development of water power, saving two million tons of coal annually and safeguarding against a coal famine.

DRUG CLERKS TO STRIKE

Walkout That Will Affect New York's Millions, Voted After Big Meeting

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—A strike that will vitally affect New York's millions was voted early today by representatives of 1300 drug clerks. After an all-night meeting, the men voted 1430 to 10, to walk out during the week, leaving the date to be determined by their officers. Union officials said that the men involved comprised 90 per cent.

of all the drug clerks in the city.

The clerks demand an eight-hour day, a closed shop and an average increase in wages of 35 per cent. Soda clerks, cashiers and other employees in drug stores are included in the union membership.

Officials of the union declared that every effort was made to adjust their grievances, but they were given no encouragement.

COOLIDGE SAYS LAW MUST LIVE

Declares He Will Fight Force and Terrorism While He is Governor

Speaks at Dinner to Commemorate Birthday of
Theodore Roosevelt

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Speaking at the dinner of the Middlesex club held last evening in Hotel Somerset in commemoration of the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, Gov. Coolidge declared: "So long as I am in authority it is my solemn duty to resist those who resist the government."

"I am for a government of all the people. I am against a government of force or terrorism, of group or class, or selfish interest. But most of all I am against a government founded on organized mendacity. The terror of force has failed. The terror of falsehood is failing."

What Governor Said
Other speakers included Chas. Sumner Bird, William Roscoe Thayer, Jas. R. Gardfield and George Wharton Jasper. Louis A. Coolidge presided. In part, the governor said:

"The memory of a great man is with us on this day, a soldier, a statesman, a patriot, a president, but above all, a great American, Theodore Roosevelt."

"He loved his fellow man. He loved his country. He loved justice. Life with him was a practical affair. He had thoughts, and theories, and principles, but they were important to him only as they gave a rule of action. With him a duty was something that ought to be done. Theodore Roosevelt was the courage of America to act. His voice is hushed now, his form is still, but his deeds live in an awakened civic conscience that take on immortality."

"Others will speak of him and what he did. Let us, like him, consider what we ought to do, and knowing, let us, too, as becomes Americans, act."

"Recent events have turned the eyes of the nation again toward Bunker Hill. What others see clearly there is danger in the confusion of a campaign that we may fail to perceive."

Policeman Not Employee

"A policeman is a public officer. He is the outward symbol of the law. He represents the authority of the people. It is a high crime to interfere with him in any way in the discharge of his duties. On him depends the peace and order of the state. He is a judicial officer. Well might he remember the words of Graver Cleveland that 'A public office is a public trust.' Policemen are not employees. They are not holders of a job. No private concern is trying to make a profit of their efforts."

"On the night of Tuesday, Sept. 9, about three-fourths of the Boston police abandoned their posts. They did not leave because of any grievance. They say their pay, which had just been raised $200, was small, their hours long, the station houses bad. That was not the reason they left."

"Besides, no one can be heard to assert that his selfish interests require him to violate the law and his oath of office. They left because they were determined not to obey the law as expressed in the rule of their department. They determined to substitute their will and their welfare for the will and welfare of all the people."

"Unless these in authority would permit this they were to be forced to permit it by turning over Boston to terrorism. Force was to be substituted for law. There was at once demonstrated the need of the order of Stephen O'Meara and the order and the rule which had the force of law against an affiliated police union. It was not for this purpose alone that the police left their posts."

What Mayor's Committee Found
"The committee of Mayor Peters confirms this when it says that 'at no time did the executive committee of the union or the members of the union vote to surrender their union affiliation or in any other way act upon the matter, except by vote to strike following the suspension of the 19 members who were placed upon trial.'"

"And in justice to the commissioner it should further be stated that at no time during the progress of the affair did counsel for the union or officers of the union of men upon trial take any position with the commissioner other than to insist upon continuing and retaining their membership in the union."

"And in justice to the governor it should be stated that at all times he assured the members of your committee that whenever called upon for a military force he would provide sufficient men—if they could be secured—to maintain law and order."

"And in further justice to all the parties it should be stated that the governor and the mayor and the commissioner, in the opinion of the committee, acted at all times from the highest of motives and with but a single thought, namely, the welfare of the commonwealth and its people."

The Governor's Position

"Up to this point the question was one of police discipline. Over that the governor has absolutely no control. With it I declined to interfere. From then until now the question has been whether terrorism was to succeed. So long as law and order are maintained there is no terrorism."

"For that purpose, on the evening of the strike I sent into Boston about 60 state police and about 100 metropolitan police. Some of the metropolitan police refused to do duty. That was in part the cause of the disorder of that night."

"As soon as possible under the law the mayor and I called out the state

Always Tired and Without Ambition for Daily Tasks

New Hampshire Woman Finds Tonic
That Enriches Her Blood and Strengthens Her Nerves

"I was very weak and run down and seemed to be tired all the time and without ambition for my work," says Mrs. George D. Wolcott, of No. 63 Pleasant street, Claremont, N. H. "I couldn't sleep and was so nervous that the slightest unusual noise upset me. I felt as tired in the morning as when I went to bed and couldn't enjoy my food for it always caused distress. My eyes bothered me, too, and I couldn't read. My heart palpitated and I suffered from shortness of breath when I exerted myself."

"I saw an announcement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and procured a box. After a week's treatment I saw a decided improvement in my condition and continued taking the remedy until I had not only regained my strength but had taken on weight. I now feel better than I have for years. I am no longer weak or tired, the heart palpitation has stopped and I do my work without tiring easily. I attribute my recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and gladly recommend them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 60 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

guard. Before night of the day the disorder started the state guard were on the street. There has been no disorder since they arrived that they have not been more than able to disperse."

"All possible help has been rendered by Mayor Peters. He did all he could in conference with me to avert the strike, and all he could to help me maintain law and order."

Help From Council

"In this important work Lieut. Gov. Cox and the council have aided vigorously. The lieutenant governor knows Boston thoroughly, is a legislator of experience, a lawyer of ability, decision and force of character. His counsel has been most helpful throughout. Many volunteers have appeared. They have done all kinds of work from patrolling the street to serving on committees for the solicitation and distribution of funds. The existence of the government itself is due to the loyal men of the three police forces, volunteers, state guard, new militia, and private citizens. For their sacrifice and determination, no praise is too high."

"An adroit attempt has been made to enlist organized labor against law and order. That has failed and will continue to fail. For that they organize. All that their worst enemy could wish is that they would array themselves against the peace and good order of the whole people to secure some fancied benefit for themselves."

Labor Loyal in War

"If that were to start organized labor would end. The high estimation in which it comes to be held was because of its patriotic stand during the war. It did not fail to support the government. That gave it public approval. That carried its legislation through the last session of the general court. Labor was loyal. It refused to listen to appeals to withdraw its support from the government. It will refuse now. If the organization of government falls the organization of labor falls."

"All values fall, all opportunity for employment ends, all rights of property and of persons end. Force and terror reign alone."

"Organized labor is on the side of law and order and for the support of the government. Its members in Massachusetts are not submerged. They sit in the Boston city council, the house and the senate, on the most important boards and commissions in the commonwealth and in the governor's council."

"With them right and private interest join. The government is their government. This fight is their fight. If it is lost they cannot win. They will not be deceived. They are not bent on suicide. They never authorized the Boston police to leave their post of duty."

"Picketing the Government"

"The leaders of those who sought to overthrow the administration of the law by terrorizing Boston are on the road now, apparently well financed, still striving to gain their end. They and their associates are picketing the government. They are hindering in

Heat Eases Pain

It reduces inflammation and scatters congestion.

There is more concentrated, non-blistering heat in a box of Begy's Mustarine than in any box the same size anywhere.

BEGY'S MUSTARINE

Is the world's quickest pain killer, and contains real yellow mustard.

Use it to end Chest Colds, Sore Throat and pleurisy—overnight.

Use it for Sprains, Strains, Swellings, Soreness, Stiff Joints and Neck.

Always in the yellow box. Money back if not as advertised—30 and 60 cents.

School overcoats for boys---

The Best You Can Buy

BOYS' overcoats ought to be warm and well made; nothing but all-wool fabrics should be used; the best of tailoring isn't too good.

But when you get these things you want style, too; your boy ought to be dressed to represent you. That brings us---and you too, we hope---to our fine line of boys' clothes as good as father's. Suits in many models; overcoats of many sorts; all good, all stylish, all-wool.

every way possible the organization of a new police force. They are vilifying the state guard for doing its duty. Altered and misleading. So long as I am in authority it is my solemn duty to resist those who resist the government."

"It is of the utmost importance that this question be thoroughly understood. It is not a question between employer and employee. It has absolutely nothing to do with wages or conditions of labor. Those questions can be compromised, they can be arbitrated. We cannot arbitrate the supremacy of the law, cannot arbitrate the duty of all persons to be obedient to the law. When that is done government ceases to exist."

"The will of all the people ends and the arbitrary will of some class, some dictator, begins. That is revolution. That is disorder. That is anarchy. That is destruction. Disaster, distress and universal poverty would follow in their ranks."

Not a Party Issue

"We are facing an issue which knows no party. It is not now. That issue is the supremacy of the law. On this issue America has never made but one decision. Since that day when the little band sat in the cabin of the Mayflower and declaring the right of the people to make laws, bound themselves one to another, that they would all observe obedience to those laws, America has rejected the rule of force and clung to the rule of reason."

"Since that day there has been a government in Massachusetts founded on the will of all the people, and that government has been supreme. This issue is the same cause of all the people. It must not fail now."

"I am for the government of all the people, founded on right, and truth, and justice. I am against a government of force or terrorism, of group, or class, or selfish interest, but most of all I am against the attempt at a government founded on organized mendacity. The terror of force has failed. The terror of falsehood is failing."

Issue for the People

"But the people must remember this is their government. If it is saved they must save it. No party can do it. It requires the united efforts of all the people if their cause is to prevail. I have presented but most briefly the dangers. The remedy lies in action. The press of the commonwealth and the nation, without regard to party, is unanimous in the support of this in-

sue. I appeal to all the people to rise and stamp out terrorism in every form that there may continue to be a reign of law and ordered liberty."

"Fellow members of the Middlesex club, though not by birth or residence, yet by the major part of my American inheritance I belong to Middlesex. I have a great pride in that county. Within her soil rest many of my ancestors. It was there our kinsmen fired the first shot for liberty. Send forth your minutemen again that what they won we may preserve. The courage of America to act—let that mantle of Theodore Roosevelt rest worthily and mightily upon us."

Sailors of the American navy have supplied whole French districts with homes. They worked from December, 1918, to May, 1919, on construction jobs.

Britain is building the largest dirigible in the world. It will carry six airplanes for its own protection and use—airial lifeboats, as it were.

WINTER COMES TO AID OF REDS

Soviet Forces Recapture Tsarskoye Selo and Pavlovsk

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Winter, moving southward from the Arctic regions, is coming to the aid of Bolshevik troops in Petrograd and the ability of General Yudenitch to capture the former Russian capital before cold weather puts an end to his campaign, seems doubtful. Soviet forces, fighting desperately against the Northwestern Russian army, have succeeded in recapturing Tsarskoye Selo and Pavlovsk, south of Petrograd, and appear to be in a position to prolong the defense of the city for an indefinite period.

Some of the best soldiers in the ranks of the Soviet army are said to have been rushed to Petrograd from Moscow, and it is believed they formed the main portion of the red forces which have initiated what appears to be a successful counter offensive. Yudenitch troops are reported to have fallen back along the front south of Petrograd, but unofficial reports would seem to indicate they have moved nearer Petrograd on the line running from Gatchina to Kravaino Gorka. It is said the town of Gurli, on this front, has been taken from the Bolsheviks.

Furious fighting is going on in and around Kiev, which was taken last week by General Denikin's forces. At some points the Denikin troops have been forced to retire slightly.

Letish troops are now holding Dunanovsk, below Nizh, and have maintained their control of the right bank of the Duna river.

War-Time Prohibition

time net provided that it should be annulled by the president when peace had been declared and when the army and navy had been demobilized. Congress was informed yesterday by the president in his message vetoing the prohibition enforcement bill that demobilization of the army and the navy had been completed.

The White House announcement clears up any doubt as to whether the war would be ended legally with the ratification of the German treaty. Some officials had expressed the opinion that the war emergency would not pass until the treaty with Austria had been acted upon by the senate.

The real estate involved in the transaction is assessed at about $60,000. There is an area of 71,992 square feet of land. The real estate consists of a grain elevator capable of storing 200 cars of grain and a coal elevator, with a capacity of 3000 tons.

The property has a frontage on Thordike street, Brewery street and Middlesex place. The main line of the Boston & Maine railroad intersects the property, affording a wonderful opportunity for future development of the land area for manufacturing purposes. There is a large manufacturing building on Thordike street with stores on the ground floor together with an office building on the same street.

Mr. Ziskind has placed Albert Rowlin White in charge of the entire business as general manager. Mr. White has been connected with the Livingston Co. for 30 years and is a son-in-law of the late William E. Livingston. He has retained the services of all the former employees and will be assisted in the office by Frank Gilbert and Mr. Ramsey, while James Crowley and Arnold J. Ryan will have charge of the grain business.

that men's underwear, blankets and garden implements will be received from the depot in Boston within a few days. There were many calls for blankets this forenoon.

The canned goods on the shelves disappeared swiftly, with beans and corned beef leading in total sales. Bacon was in brisk demand, also, although the fact that it was sold only in 12 pound tins, restricted its sale somewhat.

The store opened in charge of H. A. Broad of Boston, assisted by James Walsh of this city and 15 clerks and cashiers. Miss Alice F. Mehan, sent here from the Boston store in charge of the office. More clerks will be employed as patronage increases and other changes made to speed up the actual handling of customers. This was accomplished very slowly at times this morning, but will naturally become easier as the clerks grow more familiar with the goods.

At present it is planned to open the store daily at 9 a. m. and continue until 4 p. m., but this is only tentative, however, and it is probable that on two days in the week the store will open at noon and close in the early evening.

12,000 TRAINMEN READY TO QUIT

Will Strike Thursday Unless Demands Filed July 3 Are Met "In Full"

Other Lodges of 180,000 Trainmen Throughout Country Take Strike Vote

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Twelve thousand members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen embraced in 11 lodges in the Chicago switching district today were ready to strike Thursday, unless wage demands filed July 3 last were met "in full" and a vote on the proposition by the other lodges of the 180,000 trainmen throughout the country was underway. Headed by W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood, a committee of 23 tomorrow will confer at Washington with Walker D. Hines, director general of railroads. In the event the demands are not met the committee has been empowered to call out all passenger and freight brakemen, suburban service men and yardmen.

The strike declaration, after asserting that the present action is taken with "no tinge of un-Americanism, no tinge of Bolshevism, no tinge of red, but the highly aggravated feeling that our members must not and cannot be ignored," states:

"We have staunchly supported the cause of our government in its fight for democracy by contributing thousands of men to its fighting forces and unlimited dollars to its many funds; we are determined more than ever to respect Old Glory, her cause and her armed forces; but we also are set in our determination that we shall not be deprived of any rights or wages that Old Glory and her armed forces, together with all other American institutions should guarantee all American workers."

ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY FOR JOHN T. SPARKS

In a most enthusiastic rally made up of both democrats and republicans, the candidacy of Hon. John T. Sparks for senator received a decided impetus last evening in Elks hall.

In the absence of former Representative John W. Brennan, Walter E. Guyette called to order and former Alderman James J. Gallagher was presented as chairman. Mr. Gallagher said that it was quite evident from such a gathering that the Sparks forces were on the job and that it was a good omen to see so many of his friends coming out actively in his support.

Secretary Daniel Gray gave a comprehensive outline of the work thus far mapped out and read a list of ward chairmen. The latter were present and reported themselves ready for their work.

The candidate, Mr. Sparks, received an ovation when he was called on. He began by saying that such a showing filled him with confidence. He then reviewed his activities of the past week during which he had addressed many meetings and said that he was greatly encouraged by the interest shown on all sides and the tenders of support he had received. His record at the state house, he said, had not yet been challenged.

Marcel Chenevert spoke in advocacy of Mr. Sparks' election and gave some interesting facts concerning his record. Other speakers included Frank P. White, Charles Flannery, Charles Cordeau, Joseph Harvey, C. A. Desrosiers, Robert Carr, John Welch, John McCullough and others.

William F. Curtin said that Mr. Sparks' record had always appealed to him quite forcibly and expressed confidence in the candidate's election.

Representatives Thomas J. Corbett, Frank McMahon gave an insight into the details of the legislature and said that outside of a few bills relative to election laws there is never any cause for a strict lineup of the legislators or party lines. Both men extended on the qualification of Mr. Sparks for senatorial duty.

It was stated that the officers of the Sparks' campaign committee had arranged a series of rallies this week that will keep the candidate on the jump. Tonight he is to address a big meeting at the Centerville Social club another one in Pawtucketville Thursday night and in addition to the big rally Friday night where he is to speak with U. S. Senator Walsh and other celebrities, he is also booked for several other meetings.

HALLOWEEN PARTY
Great preparations are going on for the Halloween party to be given at the Girls' Community Service club, in the Rensselaer building, on Friday evening of this week. As far as is possible it will be a costume affair and many of the members have spent a great deal of time in making their dresses. The dance will be the principal attraction, although all sorts of spooky novelties will be arranged for the pleasure of the guests. All club members have been invited to attend and to invite service men and gentleman friends.

Was Not on Furlough

John King, alias Neal F. Kane, one of the two sailors who were found guilty yesterday of stealing an overcoat from Philip Breen, financial secretary of the local K. of C. after the two had been sheltered and housed at the organization's rooms Friday night.

King, or Kane, declared that he was not a deserter. He had intended going back to the hospital this week, he said, as soon as he could raise sufficient funds. Regarding the matter of his ship, the U. S. S. Pennsylvania which he yesterday said was in the Charlestown navy yard, and which was later found to have been away from New England shores since July, he had nothing to say today.

In order to further investigate his case, also to find if possible whether his story of escaping from the hospital in the Quaker City is true, the court ordered a continuance until Thursday, with bail set at $300.

Other Offenders

Accused of operating an automobile without having his headlights lit one evening recently, Charles Monapelas pleaded not guilty through his counsel and had his case continued until Nov. 6. Counsel claimed that Charles was driving his car on a brightly lighted street and at that moment needed no headlights. Court thought differently, however. Whether counsel's arguments will prevail will be decided when the case is called again. Law authorities at police court seem unable to come to an agreement as to the validity of counsel's assertion. At least, they hadn't convinced each other when the session closed this morning.

Two Lowell men, Aristides Economos and John S. Rabias, also charged with violating the headlight regulations, were given continuances until Thursday.

LOWELL TO HAVE NEW AUTOMOBILE CONCERN

Lowell is to have a new automobile concern to be known as The Motor Sales Co., and if five wires mean anything it is going to be a success. The men behind are "Ted" J. Coffey, Joseph M. Halloran and James J. Skehan. They constitute an up-to-the-minute trio and they allow that they can do some business here. They will handle the Columbia Six and while they have not yet definitely decided as to where they will locate they expect to be ready for business in a few days. They said today that they expected negotiations for a location would be closed this evening and then they will prepare for the sale of a car which they declare is a sure winner.

INQUEST INTO DEATH OF BOY

KILLED BY AUTO IN LAWRENCE STREET

An inquest was held by Judge Pickman today in connection with the death of Joseph Zinomi, 43 North st., the boy who was fatally injured in an automobile accident on Lawrence st., Oct. 13. Charles J. Bond of Boston, a Harvard student who is said by the police to have been the driver of the car which struck the lad, is out on bail in the sum of $1000.

CARD OF THANKS
I, the undersigned wish to take this means of expressing my heartfelt thanks to my friends and neighbors for their kindness in my recent bereavement in the death of my sister, Miss Katherine J. Bond, I wish to thank especially her schoolmates at the United States Business Mills. I shall hold all in love and loving remembrance.

KING AND QUEEN NATION'S GUESTS

Royal Party Greeted by Vice President and Mrs. Marshall at Capital

Awarded D. S. Cross and Citation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—King Albert, Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Leopold, Duke of Brabant of Belgium are the guests of the nation in the national capital today.

The royal guests arrived in Washington last night and were greeted by Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, members of the cabinet and diplomatic corps.

Their program called for an informal tea with Mrs. Wilson at the White House, Thursday afternoon, but it is probable, in view of President Wilson's improved condition, that the guests may be permitted to visit the president informally. King Albert is known to be particularly anxious to greet the president and return the call he received from him at Brussels.

At 3:45 o'clock this morning King Albert received informally members of the Belgian embassy and during the morning their majesties and the Duke of Brabant received calls from Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, cabinet officers, the president's protocol of the senate and the speaker of the house.

During the afternoon, King Albert was to address the senate and house of representatives; he decorated with the Distinguished Service medal by Secretary Baker an executive former minister to Brussels. Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Leopold also, were to visit the capital in the afternoon and her majesty later was to receive word and aided the Belgian cause during the war. A dinner in honor of the royal visitors tonight at the residence of Vice President and Mrs. Marshall ends the day's program.

The award of the American Distinguished Service medal carries the following citation:

"To this distinguished soldier, commander-in-chief of the Belgian army, this medal is presented as an expression of the high regard of the people of the United States and of their army for the distinguished and patriotic service which he has rendered to the common cause on the battlefields of Europe."

LOWELL EAGLES MAY BUY NEW HOME

A convention of the worthy presidents of the subordinate series of Eagles of Massachusetts is being held today at the Quincy house in Boston and among those in attendance is Worthy President David J. Hackett of the Lowell Aerie.

The Lowell members of the order are particularly interested in this convention, for the matter of the purchasing of a home for the Lowell Aerie is expected to be thrashed out at the meeting. The local aerie has now a building fund of $45,000 and it is understood that the trustees of the organization have their eyes on a large building in the vicinity of Merrimack square, which they intend buying, providing the deal is sanctioned by the board of trustees of the grand aerie. The members of this board are scheduled to be present at the convention and it is believed that after they are informed of the plan of the Lowell Eagles, they will approve them. If President Hackett returns with favorable news, a special meeting of the aerie will be called and it is safe to state that the deal will be put through in a very short time.

Pres. Wilson Continues to Show Progress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—President Wilson continued to show progress, said a bulletin today by his physicians. The bulletin follows: "There is no special change in the president's condition. His progress continues. He takes his luncheon and dinner in a semi-sitting position which adds greatly to the enjoyment of his food and causes no fatigue."

Pershing to Inspect War Industries

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—General Pershing announced today he was planning a tour of inspection of the war industries built up during his absence in France for the purpose of formulating recommendations to Secretary Baker as to what portion should be maintained against another national emergency. His trip will take him as far as the Pacific coast and while away, he will visit his home in Missouri.

HOUSE SHORTAGE GROWS; NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

BY GEORGE WATERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct.—When will the supply of houses catch up with the increase in population? Nobody seems to know.

It is known that from the increase in population alone 5,000,000 are jammed into houses where they should not be.

It is further known that not more than 20,000 houses were built in 1918, when the normal building program to keep up with the establishing of new families would call for 400,531. This estimate is based on figures obtained from the United States Housing corporation, which had control of all building during the war.

After the armistice building was resumed for a while with vim, but two months ago it slackened up again. Architects say the builders had no way of knowing that they could complete their structures before labor and material advanced, and they were uncertain as to whether there would be a decline in prices a little later on.

The kind of flooring that used to retail for $22 per 1000 feet is now selling wholesale, f.o.b. the mill, for from $30 to $50, and in the retail yards it sells for $105. The United States Housing corporation estimates that the increase in the cost of material has been from 70 to 75 per cent, so if the same amount of money was spent annually now for housing, as was spent before the war, it would produce only half the number of dwellings.

The increase in the population as it relates to the housing problem has nothing to do with the babies born the last two or three years. The ones who established the new families were born from 20 to 30 years ago.

The theory was advanced at the bureau of census that 20 to 30 years hence fewer homes might be established, thus enabling the country to catch up with housing, but it was soon shattered.

"Indeed not," said Chief Statistician Hunt, who makes the figures on population. "More babies are born during and after war than in normal times. That has been the experience of all wars. In 20 or 30 years from now we will need more than the normal supply of homes. And the war stimulated the creation of families. This census will show an increase of 25,000,000 families, an increase of 25 per cent over 1910."

The United States has not had more houses than the people could use in the last 10 years and R. A. Cullock, custodian of the United States Housing corporation, said the shortage was noticed in 1913. From the middle of 1913 to August, 1914, when the war started there was little building on account of a general lack of prosperity. With the prosperity brought on by the war in Europe a demand for houses was created, but the demand didn't catch up with the supply. The acute condition dates from the time the war industries board stopped building. At this time nobody will venture to state when he thinks the number of dwellings will get in speaking distance of the number of families.

SPOKE ON "WOMEN AND THE GOVERNMENT"

Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, a former state federation president, spoke before the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon on "Women and the Government." She allowed her conversational address to drift from the problems of government from the standpoint of women to the national campaign for thrift and treated each phase of her subject with her usual delightful thoroughness and always from a common sense viewpoint.

Club women always expect to hear Mrs. Gurney say many things that are decidedly worth while and of immediate moment. She is one of the most charming talkers imaginable, seeming almost to think and talk with you rather than at you. A fair representation of the club membership heard and enjoyed her address.

As a prologue to her subject proper, Mrs. Gurney reviewed the problems overcome by women during the years of war; their earnestness and keen desire to have a part in every patriotic endeavor; their sacrifice and their noble work at home. She then said that the problems of reconstruction which now face the nation are just as great as those of destruction, although not quite so spectacular. "We view the creation or reconstruction of a building with only passing interest," she said, "yet we will flock by the hundred to watch the destruction of that same structure by fire. Through the days of destruction and death we labored valiantly and now that the unemotional work of reconstruction is at hand a similar duty and sacrifice confronts us."

"As women go into politics more and more through the granting of suffrage, they must choose a party, for all our government is worked out along party lines. Whatever party principals we adhere to, we must have preparation. We must educate ourselves to the great responsibility we assume when taking the right to vote. We must not forget that whatever government we have a part in, responsibility for its acts rests upon us. I know of no better way to educate and prepare ourselves for this sovereign duty than to face them through a careful reading of the newspapers. I do not mean a hasty and superficial glance at headlines, or a religious reading of the society and fashion columns, but a careful study of the editorial pages, which deal with the great political questions of the hour."

"What is there to the duty of voting aside from the practical side of registration, appearance at the polls, receiving and marking the ballot, placing it in the box and leaving the booth? There is the spiritual side. Women to use this ballot correctly should enter a polling booth with a prayer in their hearts, asking for guidance to vote only for the best, that we may become factors for good government."

"I am going to speak to you once more of thrift. Why has the government made this nation-wide appeal for careful living and conservation? Is it because we have a paternal government which sees its individual children spending money extravagantly and wishes to play the role of interested parent? No, absolutely no. It is because the government considers it, and I do not think I am putting it too strongly, a question of life or death. Our terrible extravagance, if allowed to go on unchecked, would mean our ruin. We must become a thrifty people.

General debility cured by RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

MRS. WILLIAM GILROY

I have known RED PILLS for the past eighteen years, and they have helped me immensely during that time, in relieving me of general debility, headaches, poor digestion, and numerous other ailments peculiar to women. My ill health had been brought on by overwork, and the cares incumbent on the mother of a family. Today I consider it my duty to recommend RED PILLS to weak and suffering women who tell me of their troubles.

"In Germany today the people are perfectly satisfied with the condition of their country at the end of war. England's merchant marine is at the bottom of the sea, France is weakened and helpless, the United States is wasteful and stirred with labor troubles. German men and women are working their regular hours of labor for good pay and then at the close of each day's work are giving two hours more labor to the government, for which they receive nothing. They are speeding up production and practicing thrift. Thrift is not penurious scrapping, but simply the art of getting one's money's worth. Oftentimes it is a thrifty expenditure to purchase a high priced garment which will wear for a long time.

"Let me tell you what a prominent

Men in the Navy come home with the kind of experiences that most chaps read of only in books.

Here's your chance if you are a fellow!

Uncle Sam has, as you know, a big Navy and gives red-blooded young fellows like you an opportunity to step aboard and "shove off."

What will you get out of it?

Just this:

A chance to rub elbows with foreign folks in strange parts of the world.

The chance for good honest work on shipboard—the kind of work that teaches you something real; the kind of work that puts beef on your shoulders and hair on your chest.

You will get 30 care-free vacation days a year, not counting shore leave in home or foreign ports.

You will have the kind of comradeship in travel that sailors know.

You will have regular pay, over and above your meals, lodging, and first uniform outfit—good stuff, all of it.

You can join for two years. When you get through you'll be physically and mentally "tuned up" for the rest of your life. You'll be ready through and through for SUCCESS.

There is a Recruiting Station right near you. If you don't know where it is, your Postmaster will be glad to tell you.

LITHUANIANS TO BECOME AMERICANS

Among the Lithuanian laborers, notably in Chicago and through Pennsylvania, there is a strong movement on foot to counteract the possible spread of extreme radicalism. Three workers' houses have been established in Chicago, under St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Lithuanian Workers' association. The purpose of the undertaking is to establish educational centers where workers of more conservative and constructive sentiments can meet and discuss their needs. It is intended that these houses shall become the true centers of Americanization. The practical results of this are shown by the fact that 40 Lithuanians were recently taken by their priest to file their "first papers."

ARE YOU GOING DEAF?

Do You Gasp for Breath?

This is the most favorable season of the year for the rapid and successful treatment of catarrhal diseases. My specialty is treating deafness and head noises, asthma, freeing clogged nostrils and hearing sore places in the breathing tubes. I have devoted twenty-eight years to the treatment of this class of ailments and now by the discoveries made by me, I am able to treat deafness and head noises without using instruments in the ear tubes.

GOING HOME TO EXCHANGE CASH

One of the strongest reasons for the departure of the Italians from the United States is the exceptionally favorable conditions of the foreign exchange added to the fact that the bankers are carrying on a wide campaign to induce Italians to take advantage of these peculiar circumstances. During the first half of September, for instance, the exchange depreciated Italian money to such an extent that with $1, which in normal times is worth 5 lire, one could get 10 lire. This state of affairs continues to be one of the most pressing motives by which the Italians are influenced to withdraw their savings from the banks and depart for the mother country.

ITALIANS RETURN TO UNITED STATES

A recently arrived steamship from

Italy carried 800 steerage passengers, most of whom were returning Italians who had rushed home just after the armistice in the firm conviction that they could live in Italy in accordance with a few thousand dollars. According to what they said they were quickly disillusioned. They found that the food shortage in Italy was far worse than they had ever imagined, and they reported also that thousands of Italian Americans who rushed home last winter are trying hard to get back to the United States.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT REPUBLICAN RALLIES

Lowell Post of American Legion Honors Memory of Man of Destiny

Thodore Roosevelt, first citizen of the nation and man of destiny, was eulogized at an open meeting of Lowell Post of the American Legion at the Community Service club last evening.

Mr. Dalgely felt that Lowell people were ready and anxious to rally to the support of the drive, but had hung back through over-confidence and this situation, evident all over the country, has retarded the success of the campaign.

Mr. Dalgely spoke very personally of Roosevelt and intimately referred to him as a friend of the American people, regardless of race, color or creed.

The speaker outlined Roosevelt's life from boyhood and traced it through its crowning successes to its untimely end.

Daniel Cosgrove also spoke for the memorial and paid glowing tributes to the life and acts of the great man.

The Salvation Army band marched to the hall and furnished music throughout the meeting and afterwards marched back to its headquarters in Jackson street.

In 227 American cities of more than 30,000 population, the per capita expenditure exceeded the per capita revenue by an average of $1.12 in the last fiscal year.

MUST OBEY FOOD LAWS. Warning Now Face Criminal Prosecution. NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Food profiteers in New York who had ignored a warning issued several weeks ago to cease manipulation of food prices, found themselves face to face today with criminal prosecution. Following the arrest yesterday on federal warrants of two large handlers of food products, Arthur Williams, federal food administrator, issued the following statement: "We have given two months' notice that the food laws were made to be obeyed. We have done all that we should be asked to do. Hereafter we are going to recommend to the United States district attorney prosecution of all cases of violations in which we obtain evidence." The two men arrested yesterday were Louis Leavitt, a manufacturer, who was accused of hoarding 1,200,000 pounds of bacon purchased from the war department and Samuel Shapiro, a manufacturing confectioner, charged with profiteering in sugar. Both were released in bond for hearings. Mr. Williams said he had learned the name of a man who had offered 1000 tons of sugar for sale at prices nearly double those fixed as "fair" by the food administration and that proceedings would be instituted against this man within a short time. DR. M. C. MCGANNON DEAD Word has been received in this city of the death of Dr. M. C. McGannon, brother of Dr. Thomas G. McGannon of this city, and a former resident of Lowell, which occurred at Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 9. Deceased was born in Edwardsville, Ont., and was graduated from McGill university in 1855. He had practiced in Brockville, Ont., New York and Lowell, leaving the latter city in 1856 to make his home in Nashville, where he became professor of abdominal surgery and women's diseases in the University of Nashville. A short time ago deceased was appointed surgeon general of Tennessee by Governor Roberts with the rank of brigadier general. Science has never determined in what manner rats transport eggs. WHAT GOOD IS WEALTH If you are in poor health, if almost everything that you eat distresses you, frequent headaches, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, dark rings under the eyes, etc., The fact is, life is not worth living if you are a chronic sufferer from indigestion and biliousness. When the stomach is out of order, the liver not working properly, your heart is obliged to do so much extra work that it causes palpitation, faintness, and if not checked becomes dangerous. To feel fresh and fit for your daily duties, you must keep your stomach well, your liver active, and the bowels regular; you can get into this healthy condition by taking SEVEN BARKS, a digestive tonic, and stomach remedy. It has no equal, and 50 years of continuous sale proves its wonderful merit. Get at the root of your indigestion and constipation trouble by driving all poisons out of your system for good. No matter how chronic your case is, you can get quick relief by taking this medicine, SEVEN BARKS; one bottle costing 50c will prove its value. After you have proven its value, efficiency, you will never be without it. Ask your druggist for it.—J.M.

MR. GOMPERS' THREAT

In this country, as it should be in every country, the public interest is paramount or above all other considerations.

In other words the interests of the many are above those of the few. In the "right of eminent domain" this principle is expressed in law under which the rights of individuals may be sacrificed to those of the general public, even to the seizure of property.

It is true that all men are equal in the purview of the law, but the majority rules, which means, that the public, the people, the citizens throughout the country are sovereign and cannot be overridden by any class or organization, however powerful.

It would be well for all citizens to keep in mind these principles of our constitution under which are guaranteed the rights of every individual, but which at the same time, holds the rights of the people or a majority thereof superior to the rights of any individual or any class.

Class legislation, class power, class dominance are not or should not be countenanced under our constitution which is framed to uphold the public weal. The rights of the public, the people, the citizens, are paramount and any assertion of power in opposition to this principle is opposed to public policy and to the fundamental principles of American liberty. In this light it appears that President Gompers and the Brotherhood officials who declare that they will not obey an anti-strike prohibition in the new railroad law are on dangerous ground.

They are actually setting up the organizations they represent as superior to the government of the United States and a law unto themselves. They had better think the matter over before they go far in this direction. If, as we have shown, the public interests are paramount, then no class of railroad employees should be allowed to tie up the transportation systems of the country in order to coerce congress into granting what they want. We are surprised especially at Mr. Gompers for making any such declaration as that he would set an anti-strike railroad law at defiance. If he did, it would then come to be a simple question of whether the Federation of Labor is greater than the government of this republic.

Under ordinary circumstances, the right to strike is the legal prerogative of labor; but not so if the strike would threaten the property, the comfort or even the lives of any large portion of the people. No organization in this country can be permitted to exercise any such power, as it would result in a state of affairs bordering on a public calamity.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that the United States senate will retain in the railroad bill the anti-strike clause forbidding strikes in all public utilities. Unless this be done the railroad brotherhoods are liable at intervals to bring forward demands and insist upon their being granted with the alternative of precipitating a disastrous railroad strike—disastrous alike to the industries and the people throughout the entire nation.

It is not intended by such prohibition to curtail the rights of the employees of public service corporations, but merely to protect the public. With such a law in force, a judicial tribunal would be provided to which all such workers could bring their demands for adjudication.

It will be remembered that the railroad brotherhoods have a record of a nationwide strike hanging over the country at present, as they gave President Wilson notice that unless the high cost of living were reduced within three months, they would have to get an increase in wages or otherwise they would strike.

Other threats of a similar character have been made by labor organizations so that the security of our industries and the safety of the people are imperilled by these continual threats of labor strikes.

When any organization of national scope threatens to set the government at defiance, it is high time to take the necessary steps for public protection; and that proposed in the Cummins bill is the only practical solution.

BEHIND WILSON

It is remarkable with what enthusiasm the country has approved the stand taken by President Wilson against the proposed miners' strike.

The president appealed to the mine workers not to strike, showing that the interests of the public would suffer immeasurably, but at the same time he told them that if a strike were declared, the government would have ample power to deal with it in an effective manner. The fact is that the miners could be dealt with under the law still in force, forbidding any attempt to limit production or curtail the transportation of the necessities of life during the war. For any violation of this law there is a heavy penalty and it would be applicable to the miners who would go out on strike at this time in open defiance of the order issued by the president of the United States who is commander-in-chief of the army and navy.

Congress has promptly expressed its determination to stand by Wilson so far as may be necessary in preventing or suppressing a miners' strike, and governors of states have wired the president approving of his stand and declaring that he has voiced the conscience of the nation.

In view of the fact that the soft coal miners are working under a contract that is to continue till April, 1920, or the end of the war, it is not likely that even the leaders will be so forgetful of the consequences as to go ahead with the strike in face of the warning they have received.

It may be possible in case the strike be called off, that some voluntary concessions will be made in order to conciliate the miners and to promote production. Any suspension in the operation of the soft coal mines at this time of year, would have a very serious effect upon the industries throughout the country.

PRESIDENTIAL FIGHT

Senator Miles Poindexter has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for president in a letter that sets forth many strong principles of patriotism and political policy. He is not quite so radical as Hiram Johnson, although a strong opponent of the League of Nations. There is room for a few more lightweights in the contest and we may expect other candidates to enter the field before the end of the year. It does not seem that Justice Hughes is being considered, nor even former-President Taft, who has played a very conspicuous and patriotic part in the stirring affairs of the nation during the war. He is also a strong advocate of the League of Nations, although it is doubtful if that would help him with republicans, while Senator Lodge, the republican leader, is fighting the progress of the treaty at every step.

On the democratic side it is now conceded that President Wilson will not seek the nomination, although it had been said before his illness that if the treaty were not ratified by the senate, he might be forced to become a candidate. It is very evident that the breakdown in his health will remove such a possibility. Champ Clark, therefore, will be suggested as the most available candidate and many of his friends will fight for his nomination on the ground that he was defeated only by a narrow margin in 1912.

ATHLETICS IN COLLEGE

The old program of college athletics was intended to turn out a crackerjack football team, a corking good baseball club, a small but prize winning aggregation of track stars, and the rest of the students sat in the grandstand.

The newer idea, as proposed by Adelbert college of Western Reserve University, sacrifices the few for the many. "Each student will learn the rudiments of football, basketball, wrestling, boxing and other 'plays,'" says the college bulletin. "In this way not merely a picked few 'experts' on the varsity, but every man in college will be a member of some athletic team, and derive the physical benefits."

"The new system of physical education for every man recognizes the injustice of the old method by which a selected few received the benefits of athletics while the large majority of students sat in the stands and applauded."

Equal opportunity for physical development to every student thus goes hand in hand with equal opportunity for mental development. This seems to be a close approach to democracy in college athletics. It promises a healthier, stronger, sturdier crop of college graduates in the future.—N. E. A.

THE TREATY

The defeat of the Johnson amendment providing that the United States would have as many votes as any other nation in the assembly of the League of Nations, indicates that other amendments or reservations equally inexpedient will also be defeated. Furthermore, it offers additional hope that the treaty will be ratified despite the effort of the "battalion of death" whose avowed purpose it is to maintain a filibuster that would prevent final action on the treaty.

Senator Lodge is afraid that this extreme step might have a bad effect upon the political fortunes of the republican party and hence he wants to have the treaty disposed of in a manner approved by the opposition without unreasonable delay. Nevertheless, it is not likely that any decision will be reached on the treaty before the middle of next month.

SMITH AND HEARST

A committee of New York citizens has staged a very interesting show for Wednesday night at Carnegie hall. It is to be a joint debate between Governor Smith and William Randolph Hearst, in which the governor offers his antagonist the privilege of asking him any question relative to his public and private life, providing he has the opportunity similarly to question Mr. Hearst.

Should Hearst fail to appear, Gov. Smith will make a speech in which he will answer the attacks made upon him by the Hearst papers. It is not probable that Mr. Hearst will accept the challenge as he has flunked in other cases of a similar kind, although his papers are likely to keep up the criticism that has stirred not only Governor Smith, but a great many citizens of New York.

NEW YORK STRIKE

The longshoremen of New York who are on strike in violation of the orders of their superior officers, are taking matters into their own hands in a way that is likely to bring serious trouble. The right to strike, except it inflicts very serious injury upon the public, is not questioned, but it is entirely a different matter when strikers take up arms to prevent others from taking their places. In this resort they will be met by the forces of the law and will finally be the losers.

On Nov. 4 the voters of this state will have to pass upon the adoption of the revised state constitution as framed by the constitutional convention recently held. This article appeals to citizens generally and should be voted by all. As compared with the old constitution, the new is immeasurably to be preferred.

According to custom, the Lloyd George ministry should retire after a severe adverse vote in parliament, but the premier is not so sensitive as some others so that he will just hold on until he gets another wallop.

The American mission at the peace conference opposes a mandate for the United States that would put us in charge of Constantinople. We might take care of Armenia.

Even those who differed with the late Col. Roosevelt will gladly assist in the movement to raise a suitable memorial to his honor. Nobody could question his genuine Americanism.

The League of Nations will probably be a reality by the end of this month. We will have to catch on to the band wagon once we shall have made up our mind.

SEEN AND HEARD

A man out west wants to divorce his wife because, he says, she "won't have conversation" at home. Some men don't know what real happiness is.

Tony Plazo, handcuffed to a bicycle, rode from Pacific to Atlantic, to win a bet, thereby doing less worth while stuff than if he had handcuffed himself to a hoe, a saw, or any other tool of production.

A Baltimore, Md., baby was born with a full set of adult teeth. In future years the up-to-date baby may be born with a complete equipment of knowledge, ready to jump right into a man's sized job.

A chambermaid came across a puzzle in one of the 30 rooms that she took care of and spent so much time with the puzzle that the matron "fired" her. Now she wants the court to decide what is the responsibility of the roomer who had the puzzle in his room. She contends that he either ought to get her another job or marry her. Some case, we'll say.

Wild West Had Man

It has been a long time since we read of a Wild West bad man making his audience dance to the tune of whistling bullets.

Philadelphia (Which is in the gentle east)—"Can you shimmy?" This question was quite a surprise to James Gottschalk, who was accosted by an affable looking stranger, Gottschalk, smiling, said he thought he could.

"Can you jazz?" the stranger asked. "I can."

"Let me see you jazz," the stranger insisted. Gottschalk hesitated.

"Let me see you shimmy and jazz," the stranger repeated, this time in a commanding tone, as he poked a revolver into Gottschalk's face.

Gottschalk jazzed as he had never jazzed before. Then he shimmyed and shimmyed, while the stranger looked on in approval, turning the muzzle of his revolver from Gottschalk's face to his face.

While the victim danced the villain went through his pockets to the tune of $27 and some jewelry.

Who said, "Wild West?"

Beauty or Brains?

George L. Barden, manufacturer, psychologist and socialist, asked 22 women of Penn Yan, N. Y., this question:

"Would you rather be considered beautiful or clever?"

Nineteen of them gave beauty preference over brains. One said she would prefer to be considered both beautiful and clever.

Barden believes this about expresses the consensus of opinion of all women. So much for the woman viewpoint.

As to the male:

The writer asked 18 young unmarried men:

"Would you rather marry a beautiful or clever girl?"

Beautiful won unanimously! Only six of the fellows qualified their votes with—

"She ought to have some brains."

Have you ever rushed to the box office for a front seat to see a musical comedy staging a "chorus of clever brainy girls?"

However, the chances are that the clever girl can bake the better biscuits.

And you girls, which would you rather marry—

The handsome or the clever man?

Adonis, who looks so well in a full dress suit, or Bill Pay, who doesn't look so nifty in overalls but who brings home the bacon in a large sized salary envelope every Saturday evening?

Seven voted for the handsome guy, and the others thought, "Any man is handsome if you love him."

Morning

(Copyright, 1919, N.E.A.)

Who knows this trouble is? Oftentimes it seems to be a dream.

Fashioned of fabric woven of our dreams.

O, have you in the reaches of the night been trapped and tangled by some monstrous fright.

Some spell, or danger of some hideous dream.

From which your leaden legs refused to run?

Or have you struggled for an age, in To climb, a cliff, quench fire, or catch a train?

Or have you sauntered through the city's rush

Clad in a fig leaf, bordered by a blush?

Half roused, although the vision grew more vague,

Yet still it threatened like some poison plague.

You had no skill to combat or oppose.

Then morning came, and as you blushed, you rose

And all the seeming of it grew absurd.

Mayhap the dawn of some tomorrow dream.

When we shall smile at all life's troubled dream.

THE CHURCH HAS STOOD THE TEST

BY THE REV. CHARLES STELZLE

Thus far the church has stood the test of time. Her ideals and her methods have been so far above those of every other agency that she has surpassed them in the race for supremacy. For at no time in her history has the claim of the church to be the truest representative of God in the world, been undisputed. Other religions and other institutions have insisted that they too, must be recognized as representing the spirit and the teaching of the Creator.

But the great strength of the church lies in the fact that Christianity is the result of God looking man, while all other religions are the result of man seeking God.

Misrepresentation and persecution have done their hurt against the church. But neither the ignorance and the narrowness of the bigot, nor the hatred and the malice of the oppressor have succeeded in accomplishing the church's destruction. Rather have they forced the church to define more clearly her position and to weld more closely her adherents.

Changes in political, in economic, and in social life have also come, but the church has always adjusted herself to these changing conditions.

Generally the change came quite naturally, because the great underlying principles upon which Christianity is built are applicable to every human condition, and the leaders in the church quickly discerned the signs of the times, although frequently it required the strong, stern message of a prophet who saw the clearer vision.

And so, the church has come down the ages with increasing power and influence. Sometimes with martial tread, in response to trumpet call; sometimes with ministering hand to hungry and distressed; sometimes with message strong to quicken conscience weak with sin, but principally in meeting the every day needs of a common suffering humanity, whose cry for help was the church's call to service.

Not always has she been true to her highest ideals, but by these ideals must she be judged, rather than by her mistakes.

So great has been the influence of the church that even some of her earlier rivals among other religions—catching something of her spirit—have been vastly improved, until sometimes the best that is in them compares favorably with the inferior forms of Christianity; and the good that they adopted has become the enemy of the best that may be found in the fuller gospel of Christ.

Not only has the church adjusted herself to changing social conditions, but she has been the principal factor in the social progress. Even her enemies have been compelled to admit that the church has done more for the common cause of humanity than all other agencies combined.

But, as in religion, so in social progress, the spirit and the method of the church have sometimes been appropriated by social reformers, and in some instances they have set themselves up as leaders of movements which ignored the church.

LITHUANIANS WANT TO EXTEND SPIRIT OF AMERICA TO THEIR HOMELAND

At a meeting of the Lithuanian societies in Worcester, the delegates petitioned the Catholic war council to send their official representative, and a unit of its trained nurses to extend the American spirit to the Lithuanian republic abroad. The Catholic war council agreed and has sent such representatives and a unit consisting of 12 nurses.

In some of the counties of New York state fully 60 per cent. of the total vote was cast by women.

If Too Thin Try Bitro-Phosphate

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength return, weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty, and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

THE RED CROSS ROLL CALL DRIVE TEAMS

As soon as the city teams for the Red Cross roll call drive are completed, Chairman Paul D. Chandler will proceed with the plans for the opening meeting, which will be held at St. Anne's parish house next Tuesday evening. Pastors in city churches will be asked to speak in favor of the roll call from pulpits next Sunday.

Speaking of the work which is ahead, Chairman Chandler said today: "The expression, 'roll call,' indicates clearly the nature of the work ahead of us. When we say roll call, it implies members, and members of the American Red Cross, at $1 per head, are what we want. We want to see the Red Cross banner in every window, and we want to see as many of the smaller red crosses on these banners as possible.

"The Red Cross finds it can't let go. The day after the armistice, people began to ask what the Red Cross was going to do next, assuming that the war ended its work. Findings and beginnings are not so abrupt as that. They merge, as night dissolves into day, through degrees of dawn. The American Red Cross is still up to its ears in the after-care of soldiers and their families. Here in Lowell, the Red Cross is doing a tremendous amount of work in this line. At the same time, it is planning a home service work of wonderful magnitude. "That is the work that the members' dollars will do. Half of that dollar stays in Lowell. That is why we want men to canvass for members."

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A regular meeting of the members of Loyal Victoria lodge, I.O.O.F., M.U., was held last evening in K. of P. hall with N. G. Sister Salome in the chair. Several applications for membership were received, and routine business was transacted. At the close of the session a social hour was held during which refreshments were served and an address was delivered by W.P.G.L. Effie Snow of Brockton.

Loyal Integrity Lodge
Three new members were elected by ballot and two propositions for honorary membership were received at the regular meeting of Loyal Integrity lodge, I.O.O.F., M.U., which was held last evening with N.G. William DeLong in the chair. Routine business was transacted and later in the evening a varied entertainment program was given by Earl Fruean, P.G. James McArdle and others.

TAKE UP LABOR'S FIGHT FOR FREE SPEECH

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28.—Organized labor's fight for free speech and public assembly in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county will be taken up immediately with the federal government, according to an announcement from steel strike headquarters here today. A delegation of representatives of organized labor unions of the city and county, representing more than 150,000 workers, will leave for Washington tonight to protest to the government "against the denial of labor by Pennsylvania officials of the traditional and constitutional rights of free speech and public assembly," said the announcement.

Constitutional rights have been consistently denied the workers by Pennsylvania authorities to "protect the despotic power of the steel companies over their employees," according to the announcement.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Robert Hyman and Virginia Mann have a most unusual recipe for boosting a person's salary to $5000 a year in their little sketch at B. F. Keith's theatre this week. So unusual is it that there was left in many people's minds some doubt as to whether it would work out in real life. However, in the play it seems to go smoothly enough and certainly met with real success.

The sketch is entitled "5000 a Year" and has to do with a young married couple living on Long Island who simply can't seem to get along on a $3000 salary, try as they will. They are compelled by the limitations of such a meagre salary to go without such necessities of life as an automobile, a maid and a butler. In fact they are in dire need of everything.

Brilliant husband hits upon a scheme whereby he thinks he will be able to get a substantial salary boost from his boss. He outlines his plan to his wife, invites his employer to his home for dinner and then proceeds with the task of extorting an advance of $2000 per year from him.

He dwells on the great sums of money which it costs him and his wife to entertain prospective customers of the firm when they visit New York. How he and his wife are deprived of all the comforts of life and how his wife is compelled to wear moth-eaten gowns.

But just at this moment friend wife comes in allured in a dazzling creation, close on her heels are a maid and a butler and other evidences of comfort are everywhere about. The boss looks it all in and decided that his employee has tied to him and immediately notifies him that he is fired.

At this point things look pretty dark but in the twinkling of an eye the tables are turned by the ingenuity of the wife and the boss is very eager to boost husband's salary to the desired heights. Why he does it forms the interesting part of the play which telling here would only spoil.

Mr. Hyman as the harassed husband and Mrs. Mann as his wife were especially good in their respective roles.

SITTING TIGHT

while the supporting company was adequate in every respect.

"Chasing the Blues" is the title of a whirlwind offering staged by Kellam O'Dare. Kellam is a tall, slender gentleman, inclined to feminine mannerisms, while Miss O'Dare is petite and plump with sparkling eyes and a thoroughly pleasing voice. Kellam has a penchant for reciting poems, dancing grotesquely and trying hard to sing. His comedy is all new and Miss O'Dare makes an excellent foil.

Eddie Larto and Florence Clark have one of the most novel sets seen here in some time. The affair opens showing a scene in a music store with pianos, victrolas and gramophones ranged about. At the mystical hour of midnight and the "Columbia" machine begins to talk to the "Victor" standing beside him. They recount the experiences they have met in the last few days during which they have been rented and loaned innumerable times.

Finally the cabinet doors of the machines open and the "voices" inside come to life in the persons of a young man and young woman. They dance and sing most gracefully and their comical patter was many a laugh last evening.

The Sterling Saxophone Four are a quartet of musicians who confine themselves solely to the saxophone and draw out from the old-fashioned instruments very catchy syncopation. The volume of sound from each of the four instruments differs but the harmony which the players are able to maintain by their skill is a most pleasing feature. They were given a big hand at yesterday's performances.

The Althoff Sisters offer a singing act that ranks a little above the average vaudeville standard. One of the sisters devotes herself wholly to the piano and the other has a capable voice. Their work is well worth listening to.

Victor Martin and Maude Florence present an artistic opening act in their "Tomb Court" novelty. Miss Florence is good to look upon while Martin is a skilled juggler who is not fussy what he juggles with.

The Worden Brothers are novelty double foot jugglers who do most of their work lying on their backs. They were well received last evening.

Scenes of devastated Belgium as taken by the Red Cross open the motion picture part of the bill, the Topics of the Day is up to its usually witty standard, and the Kinetograph Weekly has its customary quota of live news features.

Seats for the remaining performances of this good bill may be obtained in advance at the box office. Phone 28.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"A Woman at Bay," a drama in four acts from the pen of Mabel S. Keightley and Dorothy Potter, is the offering of the popular Lowell Players at the Opera House this week. The first performances given yesterday afternoon and last evening were greatly enjoyed by large audiences and all indications point to capacity houses during the remainder of the week. Although verging close to the line of melodrama, there is a generous amount of comedy sprinkled through the production, making it altogether one of the most enjoyable plays that local theatre-goers have witnessed in a long time.

The scenes are laid in Colorado and Chicago and the story centres around a young woman named Nancy, who is first seen as telegraph operator in a lonely shack near Boulder, Colo. Implicated, through no fault of her own, in the rascalties of a band of hold-up men, she is forced to match her brains against a clever detective in order to escape the clutches of the law. She succeeds in this and later marries the man of her choice, only to discover that the sleuth is still on her trail and believes her to be the leader of the gang. How she finally vindicates herself in the eyes of the law and makes secure the future happiness of herself and husband—and the baby—is one of the most thrilling and absorbing stories ever told over the footlights and holds one's interest until the final curtain.

Miss Marguerite Fields, leading woman, who has made herself more popular with each succeeding week by her capable and artistic treatment of the roles assigned her, plays the part of Nancy, first a telegraph operator and later the wife of a wealthy Chicagoan.

John Meehan, who co-stars with Miss Fields in the leading roles, also gave a clever and sympathetic portrayal in the character of Ralph Norton, the Chicago millionaire. Jack Bennett, as the detective, and William Melville as the leader of the band of outlaws who brought trouble and suffering to the little telegraph operator, also played their parts in a most satisfactory manner.

Others who are appearing in this week's presentation are Arthur Mack, Hal Crane, Miss Helen Scott and Miss Priscilla Knowles.

THE STRAND THEATRE

Two clever film productions, excellent organ selections, a comedy of high merit and the ever interesting Weekly constitution are the enjoyable bill that is being given at the Strand theatre the first three days of this week. The program is one of the best seen in this city in a long time and if the comment at both performances yesterday is to be taken as a criterion, the management of the theatre made no mistake in his selection of attractions.

The leading film numbers are "Lombardi, Ltd.," a romantic comedy feature, Bert Lytell in the leading role, and "The Winchester Woman" with Alice Joyce in the title role. "Lombardi, Ltd." deals with the proprietor of one of the smartest shops in Fifth ave., New York, whose very gift of designs has brought him financial success. His only ambition outside of becoming wealthy was that of winning a most beautiful girl for his wife. He finds that the latter task is a most difficult one, but through persistence he finally wins out. The play is one that is sure to make a hit with everyone, particularly with women owing to the many handsome designs in women's attire, which are being shown on the screen.

"The Winchester Woman" unfolds the story of a woman who sacrifices herself for the benefit of mankind with no hope of reward and no thought of personal gain. The young woman is cast aside as a renegade, but is finally acquitted of the charge. Nevertheless she suffers hounding and in order to escape notoriety she changes her name and moves to another place. Here she falls in love, but soon the echoes of her past are heard and in an endeavor to shield those she loves from knowing and learning of the money which the players are able to maintain by their skill is a most pleasing feature.

BRER RABBIT OLE SOUTH MOLASSES PIE

1. Boil two cups of BRER RABBIT Molasses and one tablespoon of butter.
2. Break four eggs in bowl or pan; add pinch of salt; beat until well mixed.
3. Pour the molasses over the eggs stirring briskly.
4. Have pie pans lined with eggs. Pour in and bake. This makes two pies. If you wish to make but one pie, equally divide the ingredients.

Happy Mothers

Many mothers who in order to keep the home neat and attractive, the children well fed and dressed, continually overdo.

The experience of motherhood alone causes a severe strain upon the system, from which many women recover slowly, and serious feminine disorders may develop unless great care is taken to prevent them.

To such women Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is invaluable. For many years this root and herb medicine has been recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills, restoring them to a normal, healthy condition.

Mrs. Morgan's Case

thoroughly appreciated. An above stated all the numbers are good and the selection of such a program reflects great credit upon the management.

JANE NOVAK IN "THE EYES OF THE WORLD"

That Jane Novak, the winsome screen star, has the leading feminine role in the tremendous film adaptation of Harold Bell Wright's famous novel, "The Eyes of the World," which will be shown the week of Nov. 3 at the Owl theatre, will be a welcome piece of news to local photography devotees. For Miss Novak's work as leading woman for William S. Hart, Charles Ray and other masculine screen celebrities has made her beloved wherever motion pictures are shown.

Unlike most actresses, Miss Novak denies that she ever cherished any childhood yearnings toward things theatrical. Born in St. Louis, she brought up there with all the love and care that adoring parents in moderate circumstances could lavish upon their lovely little daughter, who grew into womanhood with no thought of the stage or screen as her ultimate destination.

But Jane Novak possessed gifts which were never meant to be hidden away, and one of the first to discover this fact was William S. Hart. Mr. Hart, as everyone knows is a man of action. So he set to work in giving Miss Novak an opportunity to play opposite him in his next picture for Artcraft, "Selma Yates." What she did with that opportunity is superfluous to relate. Suffice to say that since then she has played leading roles in "The Tiger Man" with Mr. Hart; opposite Charles Ray in "The Claws of the Lion"; with Sessue Hayakawa in "The Temple of Dusk"; for the Fox Corporation in "Treat 'Em Rough" with Tom Mix; and "The Coming of the Law" with William S. Hart again in "Wagon Tracks" and in other productions of an equally noteworthy nature.

In "The Eyes of the World" Miss Novak has the role of Sybil Andres, the sweet, innocent little heroine. The role is particularly well suited to her type and abilities, and the characterization she creates will come as a welcome and refreshing contrast to the heavy vampire and underworld roles with which the screen of today is so regrettably overladen. Harold Bell Wright wrote "The Eyes of the World"

RASCALS

Biliousness, Headache, Colds, Constipation, driven out with "Cascarets"

Why take nasty cathartics, sickening salts, or stomach-turning oils to drive these rascals out? Let gentle, harmless Cascarets remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your skin sallow, your breath offensive, and your stomach sour. Get a box of Cascarets at the drug store and rid your liver, stomach, and bowels of the excess bile, poisons, and waste which are keeping you miserable. Cascarets never gripe, never sicken, never inconvenience. They cost so little and work while you sleep.—Adv.

APPLY POSLAM END DISTRESS OF ITCHY SKIN

Just call on Poslam to bring you the comfort your suffering skin craves. Let it help you to be free from eruptions and all disorders which mark your skin as needing antiseptic, healing treatment.

Unless you have actually seen Poslam's work and know how readily it takes hold, stopping the itching at once, you will hardly believe its effects possible in so short a time.

In Eczema, Poslam's action appears all the more remarkable, but is the trouble is persistently stubborn and nothing else seems to bring lasting relief, Poslam is harmless always.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Eleanor Mildwood, aged 13 years and residing at 481 Rogers street, this city, received cuts and bruises about the head and body in an automobile accident which occurred yesterday afternoon when the machine in which she was riding with friends went over an embankment in Pelham, N. H. The young girl was taken to her home in this city.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Earsal (double strength), and add to it 1 pin of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

SALEM AND LAWRENCE WIN POLO GAMES

SALEM, Oct. 25.—Salem defeated Worcester last night in a fast game of polo, 5 to 1. The game was the roughest of the season here.

"Kid" Williams, Alexander and Hardy featured the play for Salem and Higgins and Mallory for the visitors.

Lawrence was knocked out in the third period by a hard driven ball hit by Hardy and was compelled to leave the floor for several minutes.

Worcester got the jump on the local team in the first period, but Salem came strong in the second and third.

Worcester summary: 1 goal, 3 fouls; Taylor, 1, 0; Dunne, 0, 0; Foley, 0, 0; Mallory, 0, 0; Totals: 1 goal, 3 fouls.

Tomorrow night, Wednesday, the New Bedford team makes its first local appearance of the season. As there are several Lowell favorites in the lineup, a great crowd is expected to turn out. New Bedford like Fall River got away to a good start, and is right up there with the leaders, "Bob" Hart, who played sensational polo for Lowell last season, will appear with the visitors. "Bob" is in better condition than ever, and according to reports from the "whispering" he is playing the game of his life. Barney Doherty, the veteran halfback of the league, is with New Bedford. He is well liked here. Moose Conley, goalie of the New Bedford club, and he is kicking "em out in an artistic manner. Mulhead and Kehoe are the other members of the "whalers."

FOUR GOOD BOUTS FOR ALL STAR SHOW

The all star card arranged for the meeting of the Crescent A. A. on next Thursday night should be replete with action from bell to bell. All the men signed to perform are well known for their aggressiveness and willingness to mix things. Johnny (Young) Avilla who is in the lineup in the first round, is a sensational double knock out mill with Young Kearney here several months ago, will meet Tommy Doyle of Lowell in a second round number. Doyle, a few years ago was pronounced one of the leaders of his weight. He has been training carefully for some time in anticipation of a bout, and feels that he will be able to halt the victorious career of Avilla.

He realizes that this bout will be an important one and will have no excuses to offer if he fails to make good. Babe Christie of Lowell and Jack Stone of Boston are bound to furnish fireworks in their third round number. Billy Duffy of Everett, who made a big hit here recently with Al Ketchell of Bridgeport, who boasts of a victory over Louis Bogash, in another round event. In the preliminary of six rounds Young Panko, the local "dancing master," will meet Jackie Clark.

POLO NOTES

Big Fred Jean, who captained the Salem team last season, will come here tonight, as leader of the Fall River club, which is now setting the pace in the American Polo league. Jean has his club traveling at a fast clip, and the fans down that way are already claiming the pennant. In Young Pierce, son of Dick Pierce, who played with the old Lowell polo club, is considered a "find." He's just like his father, say those who have seen him perform.

George Hart, brother of Bob, is also a member of the Fall River club. He is teaming up with Pierce on the rush line, and the pair make a classy combination. Cusick and Purcell, formerly of Lowell and Salem, are the other members of the team, and they too are playing fine polo. Jean, himself, is said to be just as good as ever.

UP TO BOB MARTIN TO START BOYS GOING

BY FRED TURBYVILLE
N.E.A. Sports Writer

Jack Dempsey wants a fight very badly. But there isn't anyone ready to fight and interest is sluggish in the heavyweight ranks.

Jack Dempsey, the most sensational boxer of modern ring history, is really in need of some ready funds. He has a championship and a world of admirers but he hasn't a whole lot of money and a champion can't live the part. Without extra funds he is going to be a champion's manager, not a fighter.

Jack Kearns is the manager, and if there is any one thing he likes better than being manager is the fact that it is arduous himself in the cream of the hardbashing.

Jack has made a whole lot of money out of the Willard fight, and really made as much in training and giving "testimonials" for advertisement as he did for knocking Jess off his pins.

The promoters always figure a young fighter is getting something more valuable than ready cash when he wins a championship. They don't take the drop seriously, live with their challenges as soon as Dempsey won the belt, but the public doesn't like to be kidded that way. They don't take the drop seriously, live with their challenges as soon as Dempsey won the belt, but the public doesn't like to be kidded that way.

And then there was an awful fizzle. Looks as if Harum's dope was weakening. They didn't turn out for the "fish and soup" stuff.

Joe Buckett and Becker Carpenter are delaying their feud with the evident intention of trying to outlast the league of Nations thing. That's disheartening for the winner meant ready money for Dempsey.

There is still hope, however. If Bob Martin comes up to the advance notice he'll renew interest in the heavyweight ranks. He's going to be a drawing card and the fans are going to flock to the arena to see him. Then the slugger's heavy weight class be revived. They'll trot 'em out for Martin and during the excitement some promoter will get ambitious and match someone with Dempsey.

Then Jack can continue to eat the big beefsteaks and Kearns can buy more silk shirts.

The bronze of the ancients is now being attempted by the experts in order to serve some of the purposes for which steel is not entirely satisfactory.

MITCHELL STAYS WITH CUBS

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Rumors that Fred Mitchell, manager of the Chicago National League Baseball club would be supplanted before the next spring training season, today had been put to rest with the announcement that Mitchell would guide the Cubs' destinies in 1920. He already was under contract, but following a stockholders' meeting it was decided to pass a vote of thanks to Mitchell for his efforts in the past year and next year in order to silence the rumors.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Special evangelistic services will be held at St. Paul's M. E. church at 2:29 and 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 5. Charles L. Goodell, D.D., secretary of the commission on Evangelism of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, a well known speaker, will preach at both services. The public is invited to hear Rev. Mr. Goodell tell of the work which the conference on Evangelism is accomplishing throughout the country.

COOLIDGE IS ATTACKED BY LAWYER VAHEY

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 28.—Democratic spellbinders and democratic bands, with torchlight parades and all the incidentals dear to the hearts of "old-timers," held sway in this and other Connecticut valley cities and towns last night.

Largely attended and lively rallies took place in Springfield, Chicopee, Chicopee Falls, Holyoke and Westfield, and the Long "victory squad" added to its great record of the past 10 days.

In the absence of Richard H. Long, the party candidate for governor who went to Washington Sunday, Colonel F. J. Herbert, nominee for lieutenant governor, and Joseph A. Conry, candidate for attorney general, led the squad in its tour of the cities.

Judge Thomas Kennedy of Natick and James H. Vahey of Waterbury lent their weight to the arguments of the candidates on the state ticket.

In the Central high school here last night Attorney Vahey for the first time since he accepted the position as legal advisor for the Boston Policemen's union gave before a public gathering "The Truth About the Police Strike and the Performances of Gov. Coolidge."

With Col. Herbert and Joseph A. Conry Vahey shared the greatest applause of the evening when he charged Gov. Coolidge with sole responsibility for the death of the nine persons killed in the Boston police riots.

He declared "God will settle with Coolidge if no human can."

"Here in this city close to Northampton—his home city—I publicly charge that Calvin Coolidge has slung more than any chief executive of Massachusetts within my memory."

Attorney Vahey declared that both he and John P. Feeney, his associate, had advised the men of the Boston police union to refrain from striking. He indicated that the men were ready to cut their affiliations with the American Federation of Labor as recommended by the Storow committee of 34, but that Gov. Coolidge himself, under an oath like the policemen, failed to "lift a hand to prevent the strike and only came in the field of battle on the Thursday after the strike, when 'the troops had disappeared'."

Joseph A. Conry made undoubtedly the best appeal for votes in the present campaign when, taking on an issue of great local interest, he lauded Candidate Long's promise to take away from the lighting interests, the water powers of the state. Reference to the deficiencies of the Boston contracting firm which is building the South Boston dry dock was an outstanding feature of his speeches last night.

"Calvin Coolidge knows that $4,000,000 is due Massachusetts from the United States government when this work is completed and yet he fails to take action against the contractors now far behind, for the reason that the 'big noise' in the company stand high in the republican party."

Conry predicted Long's election. "Boston will give him a majority of 30,000 votes," he declared amid the cheers of 500 citizens of Holyoke.

Arthur Cartier, candidate for state auditor, and Charles H. McGline, who aspires to be secretary of state, were accorded cordial receptions at all rallies.

PRESENTED SIKET RING

Jack Fitzsimmons, a Lowell boy, who is spending a brief turlough in his home town this week, was presented a handsome sisket ring by the Columbia Girls' club last evening, who staged a pleasant surprise party for the young man at the home of Miss Mary Godelman on Pond street. The presentation was made by Miss Evelyn Trembly, and during the evening a musical program was given by some of the young folks present embracing songs by Miss Anna Conway, Mr. McCafferty and Mr. Fitzsimmons; piano selections, Miss Margaret Rooney, Miss May Rooney and Miss Trembly, and songs and musical numbers by other members of the club. Miss Florence Griffin had general charge of the affair, assisted by Thomas Whitehead. Refreshments were served.

OPEN CONGRESS OF WORKING WOMEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Women from practically all of the leading countries of the world gathered here today for the opening of the international congress of working women, the first of its kind ever held and which has as its object an interchange of ideas and experience on subjects which most intimately affect women—legislation concerning employment, child labor, care of mothers and protection of their sex in hazardous industries.

Each of the delegates were said to have brought proposals and data relative to industrial problems.

Each of the countries has 10 votes in the congress regardless of the number of delegates present. Most of the nations, however, have only two delegates except Poland which has five. The executive committee of the congress consists of a member from each delegation.

The 10 delegates representing this country in the congress are Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago, president of the National Women's Trade Union League; Miss Mary Anderson of Washington, representing boot and shoe workers; Mrs. Lois B. Rantoul of Boston, of the federal employees' union; Mrs. Maud Swartz of the printers; Miss Leonora O'Reilly of the New York Women's Trade Union League; Misses Agnes Nestor and Elizabeth Christian, representing the glove makers; Miss Rose Schenckelmann of the cap makers; Miss Julia O'Connor, president of the telephone operators' union and Miss Fania Cohn of the ladies' garment workers' union of New York.

JENKINS HOME AFTER WEEK OF CAPTIVITY

MEXICO CITY, Monday, Oct. 27.—The release of William O. Jenkins, United States consular agent at Puebla, who was held captive by Mexican bandits in the mountains south of that city and who returned to Puebla yesterday, was effected by one lone man, Senor Mestre, the personal attorney of Jenkins, according to advices received here.

At the beginning of the negotiations for the ransom of Jenkins, Federico Cordova, the leader of the bandits, stipulated that any effort on the part of the consular agent's friends to appear in force at the bandit rendezvous would result in the death of the captive. Senor Mestre, therefore, met Cordova at Hacienda Chavarras about two hours' run by automobile south of Puebla. He was then conducted to a room where he found Jenkins lying on a bed. After a short parley the ransom money, $300,000, Mexican, was counted out and a receipt was signed by Cordova. Jenkins was then released.

Few details of incidents which occurred during Jenkins' week of captivity have been learned, as he is not physically able to tell much of his experiences in the mountains except that his abductors were on the move continually to guard against attacks. They treated their prisoner with every consideration possible, however, it is said. Forced to sleep on the wet ground during a week of daily rains, Jenkins suffered a recurrence of rheumatic attacks which rendered him almost helpless. He is now in the American hospital at Puebla.

LOWELL POST GETS TWO SILK FLAGS

The regular business session of Lowell Post, American Legion, followed the Roosevelt meeting at the Community club last evening and was presided over by Vice Commander John O'Rourke. Otto Hockmeyer was present as the honored guest and made the official presentation of two beautiful silk flags to the post; one, the Stars and Stripes and the other, a legion banner. He was given an enthusiastic reception and after thanking the post for the honor conferred upon him in being invited to make such a presentation, spoke at some length upon the importance of legion membership and the great, underlying purposes of the body.

The principal item of business transacted was the vote taken whereby representatives and senators from this district be urged to favor and work for the passage of legislation which will compel preference to service men in the matter of civil service appointments.

The presiding officers read a letter from the national chairman, asking that the local post urge Lowell churches to observe Sunday, Nov. 9, as Legion Sunday, and to dedicate a part of the service at least on that day to such an observance.

CITIZENS OF MASSACHUSETTS

This is the first of a series of advertisements intended to make clear the VITAL IMPORTANCE to YOU and to YOUR GOVERNMENT of the paramount issue in this campaign in Massachusetts, and the REVOLUTIONARY and far-reaching consequences CERTAIN TO FOLLOW a wrong decision of it. The issue is NOT the political fortune of ANY MAN, or the success of ANY POLITICAL PARTY.

IT IS A FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLE OF YOUR GOVERNMENT—the principle of YOUR right to the protection of your Constitution and your laws, YOUR RIGHT TO THE UNDIVIDED ALLEGIANCE OF YOUR PUBLIC SERVANTS.

The issue was raised by the DESERTION of a large majority of the police force of Boston, and their subsequent UNREPENTANT AND DEFIANT ATTITUDE against the authority of the Commonwealth—an attitude in which they are now aided and abetted by the Democratic Candidate for Governor.

Those policemen had taken this SOLEMN OATH:

"I (space for name) do solemnly swear that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the United States of America and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and will support the Constitutions and the laws thereof, so help me God."

"I (space for name) do solemnly swear that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent on me as a police officer of the city of Boston."

In obedience to this oath, they also signed the following agreement:

"I (space for name) hereby accept the office of _____ on the police force of the city of Boston and agree to obey and be bound by such rules and regulations as are, or may be, from time to time, laid down for the government of the police department of said city."—Oath found in Section 2, Rule 4, of police regulations.

To them, UNDER THAT SACRED CONTRACT, was entrusted the DUTY of safeguarding the lives and property of the men, women and children of Boston.

THEY PROVED FAITHLESS TO THAT TRUST!

Deliberately and with malice, they BROKE THEIR OATH, defied YOUR SOVEREIGNTY, flouted YOUR LAWS, abandoned their duty and LEFT THE CITIZENS OF BOSTON TO THE MERCY OF THE CRIMINALS AND THE MOB!

A BASE BETRAYAL OF THE PEOPLE'S TRUST. "A CRIME AGAINST CIVILIZATION," in the words of the President of the United States.

Those faithless policemen are now DEMANDING that the TRUST THEY BETRAYED be given again into their hands! The Democratic candidate for Governor says in effect that he will GRANT THAT DEMAND.

That GOVERNOR COOLIDGE HAS REFUSED TO DO, declaring that to place the security of the people of Boston again in the hands of the men who once abandoned them would be to "support those men in their evil doing," and that "a government which does that is a reproach to civilization and WILL SOON HAVE ON ITS HANDS THE BLOOD OF ITS CITIZENS."

THAT IS THE ISSUE.

The Democratic candidate would SURRENDER YOUR STATE GOVERNMENT.

CALVIN COOLIDGE HAS MAINTAINED YOUR GOVERNMENT, DEFENDED YOUR SACRED RIGHTS.

If you believe that "OBEDIENCE TO LAW IS LIBERTY," that to permit the Commonwealth to be INTIMIDATED OR COERCED would be to DESTROY LIBERTY AND TAKE THE STEP INTO ANARCHY, YOU CAN DEFEND THAT BELIEF ONLY IN ONE WAY IN THIS CRISIS: GO TO THE POLLS NOVEMBER 4, and VOTE THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Vote for CALVIN COOLIDGE for Governor

Regular Habits Produce a Beautiful Complexion

Daily elimination rids the system of poisons.
Women should realize that!

MANY women complain daily of their complexion, of their headaches and general ill health little realizing that the trouble is constipation. Women, too, are much more subject to such congestion than men, and much more careless of it. The result is seen in lusterless, weary eyes, in sallow, pimply complexion, in lassitude, bad breath, and in that word so often used, "indisposed."

At the first sign of these symptoms the wise woman will take a laxative, and will see that the young girl and others in her care do likewise. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite with thousands of women because it is mild and gentle in its action and in the end trains the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally without the aid of medicine.

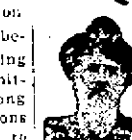

This combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1 a bottle, the latter for families, for it is also a very useful first-aid in colds, fevers and other sudden ills that make it advisable to always have a bottle in the home. It is free from narcotics and safe for the tiniest baby.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

He Quit Tobacco

This veteran, S. B. Lamphere, was addicted to the excessive use of tobacco for many years. He wanted to quit but needed something to help him.

He learned of a free book that tells about tobacco habit and how to conquer it quickly, easily and safely. In a letter he wrote: "I have no desire for tobacco any more. I feel like a new man." Legions of others report similarly. Wonderful for cigarette and pipe habit, and chewing.

Anyone desiring a copy of this inspiring book can get it free, postpaid, by writing to Edward J. Woods, T.D.-31, Station F, New York City. You will be surprised and pleased. Look for quieter nerves, stronger heart, better digestion, improved eyesight, increased vigor, longer life and other advantages if you quit poisoning yourself with nicotine. In three days you can be rid of the addiction—then become robust, acquire healthy flesh, add years to your life. Show others this adv't.

CHANDLER M. WOOD

Candidate for State Treasurer on Democratic Ticket Visits Lowell

Chandler M. Wood, candidate for state treasurer on the democratic ticket, made a personal visit to Lowell late yesterday afternoon and met 15 or 20 representative local members of both the democratic and republican parties at the Washington club.

While in town Mr. Wood was the guest of Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, president of the Washington club. Accompanying him was Professor Frank L. Simpson of Boston University Law school.

The purpose of the visit was to present Mr. Wood's qualifications and to outline a plan of campaign here in Lowell in the interest of his candidacy. It was decided to promote actively here a branch of the Wood non-partisan committee and to send to voters personal letters appealing for support.

Mr. O'Sullivan introduced Professor Simpson as one who had known Mr. Wood for many years and was therefore qualified to present his claim as being experienced in financial affairs.

Professor Simpson reviewed the candidate's career from the time he first entered Tufts college until the present time when he is president of the Metropolitan Trust company of Boston. In 1903 Mr. Wood entered Boston University Law school and three years later was graduated with the highest rank of anybody ever graduated from that institution. He said that Mr. Wood entered Tufts college as a poor boy, worked his way through and while studying at Boston University Law school was a teacher of history at Tufts. Upon graduation from the law school he engaged in the active practice of law in Boston and was later called upon to teach law at his alma mater. Eventually he was given a full professorship.

In 1914 he became connected with what is now the Metropolitan Trust company of Boston and since that time has devoted much of his time to financial affairs. He has also financial interests in New York.

Professor Simpson said that when Mr. Wood won the nomination for treasurer the chances for his election did not seem as inviting as at the present time when a combination of circumstances has made his candidacy a most prominent issue in the state campaign. When Mr. Wood realized what his nomination meant he decided to make an active canvass at the behest of his friends and many of them volunteered to help him. Democratic and republican committees in the interest of his candidacy have been formed as well as a Wood non-partisan committee which is about equally divided between democrats and republicans.

Mr. Wood was then called upon and he reiterated much that had been said by Professor Simpson concerning the circumstances of his candidacy. He emphasized the fact that he had been a democrat all his life and had served actively on the democratic state committee. He pointed out the need of an experienced man in the office of state treasurer and said that in no way could such a position be resolved into a political office. The man who fits the position is called upon to handle millions of dollars yearly and no matter how honest he may be, if he hasn't had the financial experience which kills him just where and when to invest the state's money, he may be the cause of the loss of thousands of dollars annually.

In the present campaign Mr. Wood said that he had entered the field in no spirit of acrimony. He believed that the candidate who was best fitted for the position should be given it. If his opponent were better qualified to fill the position he thought he should be elected. If, on the other hand, he himself had the better qualifications, he believed his candidacy should have consideration. The matter was wholly up to the voters, he said.

Following Mr. Wood's remarks several of those present, including members of both parties, were called upon and without exception each assured Mr. Wood of support. These included Col. James H. Carnichael, Walter E. Guyette, John C. Leggat, William C. Purcell, Representative Thomas J. Corbett and others.

SAYS HEADACHE IS SYMPTOM OF DISEASE

The following article dealing with headache, constipation and germs is another in a series of articles conducted by the United States public health service, by direction of Rupert Blue, surgeon general, U. S. public health service:

Headache is a symptom of disease of some portion of the body. When it is unilateral, localized, sharp and paroxysmal it is known as neuralgia. It may be caused by many conditions, among which may be mentioned derangements of the stomach and liver, constipation, neurasthenia, eyestrain, heat exhaustion, exposure to cold and dampness, inflammation of the kidneys or genital organs.

It is present in malarial fever, typhoid fever, smallpox, diabetes and influenza. In meningitis or inflammation of the coverings of the brain the pain in the head is excruciating.

Many of the diseases of childhood begin with headache.

Remove the cause if possible. Open the bowels with a dose of castor oil or salts. If the headache is severe take 10 grains of aspirin and repeat if necessary in three hours. A little hot tea and toast should be given with this medicine to prevent nausea.

Questions and Answers.

Q. Will you suggest some treatment for constipation?

A. Much can be accomplished in the treatment of this condition by attention to the following points:

1. The establishment of regular habits regarding evacuation of the bowels.

2. The use of a dietary which includes an ample proportion of roughage. By roughage is meant the material such as cellulose of and which through its slightly irritant action stimulates the intestines to activity. Roughage would be supplied in the form of whole bread, prunes, spinach, figs, most green vegetables, fresh fruits, etc. Constipation is often induced by a diet consisting of too much meat and other foods which leave little or no residue.

3. Exercise, especially exercise of the abdominal muscles, is an important factor in overcoming constipation. Where ordinary outdoor exercises do not suffice it may be advisable for the patient to take systematic indoor exercise, directed especially to strengthening the abdominal muscles. Such an exercise would consist in lying on the floor with the feet thrust under some heavy piece of furniture and the raising of the body repeatedly. In addition to this physicians have found that the rolling of a heavy ball over the abdomen is of service. When such a ball is used, the direction of the movement should be such that it begins at the lower right hand portion of the abdomen, is directed first upward, then across the upper part of the abdomen to the left side, then down the left side and across the lower part of the abdomen to the starting point on the right.

4. The drinking of insufficient amount of water appears to be the cause of constipation in certain individuals. In some instances constipation is due to the character of the water, hard water appearing to be associated with constipation.

Q. How do germs get into foods?

A. Not only the germs of intestinal diseases, but also the germs of such diseases as tuberculosis, pneumonia, diphtheria and scarlet fever may reach the mouth in food. The germs get into the food from flies, from dust, from washing in impure water the food, or vessels in which food is kept, from diseases animals, but most commonly of all from the hands of those carrying germs. Those who prepare food should pay special attention to the cleanliness of their hands, washing them off in soap and water, and no one who is sick with an infectious disease, or who is recovering from such a disease should have anything to do with the handling or preparation of foods.

OUR BODIES MADE OF FOOD AND WATER

BY HONORA COSTIGAN

Our bodies are made of food and water.

We are about 70 per cent. water and the rest food. For that reason, water and food, next to ourselves, are the most important physical things.

Like other things, our bodies give back to us just what we put into them. If we eat foods which give us strength and durability, we will become strong and possess a high rate of endurance. Heat-producing foods will keep us warm.

Foods which build up the substance of the body will make us grow, and

Oh, stomach

Those people who suffer with the distressing symptoms attending chronic dyspepsia will be interested to read the following voluntary testimonial:-

"I have kept the 'L. F.' Atwood's Medicine in the house for over twenty years and have received great benefit from it. It does seem as though I could not keep house without it. In the past I have had a very bad stomach trouble, and could hardly do my work. After taking a few bottles of the true 'L. F.' Atwood's Medicine, I became much better. My niece has been greatly benefited by it. We both are willing to recommend the medicine to all who need a remedy for dyspepsia and constipation."

PASS BILL OVER WILSON'S VETO

House Votes 176 to 55 to Repass "Dry" Enforcement Measure

President Unexpectedly Turned Down Bill—Senate to Act by Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Temporarily nonplussed by President Wilson's veto of the prohibition enforcement bill, but later greatly encouraged by the equally unexpected action of the house in passing the measure over the president's veto, dry leaders in congress were working today to obtain the necessary two-thirds vote in the senate.

Leaders of the anti-prohibition forces were equally active for through an adverse vote in the senate there still may be a "wet spell" before constitutional prohibition becomes effective next Jan. 16.

Dry leaders in the senate were hopeful of calling up the enforcement bill today immediately upon the reading of the president's veto message. In his veto the president said that he could not sign the measure because it provided for enforcement of war time prohibition, which, he asserted, "sound public policy makes clear the reason, and necessity for its repeal." Confidence was expressed that the necessary two-thirds would be obtained to override the veto. Should action not be taken today, it was considered certain that the measure would be brought to a vote tomorrow.

The vote in the house yesterday of 176 to 55, 22 more than necessary, came within three hours after the president's veto was announced from the White House and followed an uproar in the chamber lasting from the time the executive message was read until the final roll call. The prohibitionists set a record for congressional action, for so far as veteran members and employees could remember, never has a presidential veto been overridden within three hours after it was announced.

The veto hit congress like a crack of lightning. The house, getting on its feet again, deserted its leaders, who wanted to defer consideration until Thursday so as to round up all the dry members. But the drys swept into the chamber and showed that there was an overwhelming majority sentiment among them to give the government ample weapons for dealing with the liquor traffic, now outlawed throughout the land.

Nobody had really professed to know that the president would veto the bill. Republicans and democrats alike, and the countless multitude that had sorrowfully watched the passing of the bars—thought it would become a law without his signature.

Atty. Gen. Palmer, it was said, had declared it constitutional.

Hope of "Wet Spell" Vanishes

With re-passage of the law by the house and the prospect of the same thing happening in the senate, hopes of the big "wet spell" that would run over the Christmas season vanished into thin air. Prohibition leaders last night predicted that the refusal of the house to accept the president's veto meant that the sale of liquor would not be permitted again in the life of this and many other generations.

One hope remains for the talked of "wet spell" before prohibition becomes effective by constitutional amendment in January.

It is that the German peace treaty may be ratified, and that the president may declare peace and demobilization of the army and navy. Some legal experts contend that that would automatically annul the war-time prohibition law.

But there is a legal question involved as to whether the ratification of the treaty with Germany alone will accomplish that end.

The war-time prohibition act was passed at a time when the United States was at war with both Germany and Austria-Hungary. Hostilities, however, actually had ceased. Some law officers here are inclined to believe that war may not be ended until both treaties are ratified.

On the other hand, friends of the administration who profess to know its plans, say they expect to see the war-time prohibition lifted by presidential proclamation as soon as the German treaty is ratified.

Word that the enforcement act had failed to meet presidential approval was flashed from the White House a few minutes before 4 o'clock, an hour or more before it was officially laid before the house. Instantly, the wet and dry forces were summoning their respective cohorts, prepared for any break. But there was no thought that immediate action was contemplated.

House in An Uproar

Some of the dry leaders suggested that it might be wise to repeal the war-time act, as the president suggested last spring, so far as it related to light wines and beers, mindful of the protest against suppression of these products. But if this plan were discussed generally in the cloak rooms it apparently did not gain favor, for outside the members were gathering for the fight.

The house was in an uproar when the president's message was read.

Members were standing in all parts of the chamber, many clamoring for recognition, but Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee, which framed the bill, was given the floor. As custodian of the measure, he moved that consideration of the veto be deferred until Thursday. What he was trying to say could not be heard for there was a general hubbub and members swarmed in from in front of the speaker's stand exactly after the manner of an excited crowd at a race track betting ring.

Finally a shout that the house was not in order helped to quiet the situation.

The wrangling started again when Representative Walsh, republican, of Massachusetts, moved to table the Volstead motion. Most of the members did not seem to know what this meant, but it was evident that Mr. Walsh was trying to force an immediate vote.

The hubbub and the wrangling kept going while Republican Leader Mondell, demanding the right to be heard ahead of the 50 others who were trying to catch the speaker's eye, finally got the floor and told how the prohibition bill affected the welfare of all the people, which made it necessary that the house have everybody present when voting time came. This plea was made after Chairman Volstead had asked unanimous consent to withdraw his motion. There were many motions after that and a number of roll calls until the final vote was taken at 7 o'clock.

Waken Unattended

The galleries were deserted. The crowds that used to sit through weary hours of prohibition debate had not heard, of course, that the final fight was at hand, and John Barleycorn's wake, if it was that, was unattended. On the floor a handful of members who had stood up against the dry phalanx edged in a word now and then and tried to appeal for upholding of the veto, but they were unable to make themselves heard above the din. The house went about its work with considerable glee, but there was no heart in the feeble cheer that followed announcement of the final vote.

If the senate also overrides the veto the country will go on a one-half of 1 per cent alcoholic content beverage basis. In the only test vote on the bill the senate gave it a five to one majority and dry leaders predict that the next test will reveal a similar strength for their cause.

PRES. WILSON'S VETO MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The president's message announcing his veto of the prohibition enforcement bill follows:

"To the House of Representatives:—I am returning without my signature H.R. 6810, an act to prohibit intoxicating beverages, and to regulate the manufacture, production, use and sale of high proof spirits for other than beverage purposes, and to insure an ample supply of alcohol and promote its use in scientific research and in the development of fuel, dye and other lawful industries."

"The subject matter treated in this measure deals with two distinct phases of the prohibition legislation."

"One part of the act under consideration seeks to enforce war time prohibition. The other provides for the enforcement which was made necessary by the adoption of the constitutional amendment. I object to and cannot approve that part of this legislation with reference to war time prohibition."

"It has to do with the enforcement of an act which was passed by reason of the emergencies of the war and whose objects have been satisfied in the demobilization of the army and navy and whose repeal I have already sought at the hands of congress. Where the purposes of particular legislation arising out of war emergency have been satisfied, sound public policy makes clear the reason and necessity for repeal."

"It is not difficult for congress in considering this important matter to separate these two questions and effectively to legislate regarding them, making the proper distinction between temporary causes which arose out of war time emergencies and those like the constitutional amendment of prohibition, which is now part of the fundamental law of the country."

"In all matters having to do with the personal habits and customs of large numbers of our people we must be certain that the established processes of legal change are followed. In no other way can the salutary object sought to be accomplished by great reforms of this character be made satisfactory and permanent."

"WOODROW WILSON."

DISCHARGED MEN

Red Cross Ready to Assist in Many Ways

There is an act of the war risk insurance bureau which states: "That no compensation shall be payable for death or disability which does not occur prior to or within one year after discharge or resignation from the service, or within such reasonable time thereafter, not exceeding one year, as may be allowed by regulations, a certificate has been obtained from the director to the effect that the injured person at the time of his discharge or resignation was suffering from injury likely to result in death or disability, compensation will be payable for death or disability, whenever occurring proximately resulting from such injury."

This exception is of great importance because it permits recovery for death or disability, no matter when such death or disability may occur, if within one year after discharge or resignation the injured person procures from the director of the bureau a certificate to the effect that at the time of his discharge or resignation he was suffering from an injury likely to result in death or disability.

Every discharged soldier or sailor who is now suffering from a disability, such as a wound, gassing, or any other disease or injury, or who feels that at some future date, this disability will bother him, should, within one year after his discharge, notify the government to this effect. If he is now suffering from the ailment, he can immediately claim his compensation.

FLAT DENIAL MADE BY LONG AT INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—A flat denial was made here yesterday by Richard B. Long of Framingham, democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts, that his company had made "exorbitant profits" on war contracts, as alleged in a recently published interview accredited to Representative Graham of Illinois, chairman of the special investigating committee.

Mr. Long came to Washington to testify voluntarily before the committee and to make a statement. He was not permitted to do the latter, but he took the stand and, under oath, submitted to examination. He also said, under oath, that a prepared statement which he decided to read and have incorporated in the records, was true. This statement, Chairman Graham of the committee, ruled was not relevant at the present stage of the hearing, but after the examination of the witness was concluded, it might or might not be admitted.

Mr. Long had sent a telegram to Chairman Graham announcing his purpose to come to Washington to refute the "malicious and false statements" concerning his war contracts, made, he asserted, to "save Coolidge from defeat." He charged the chairman with "political trickery" and unfair attack and challenged him to tell the truth of the "profits" of the American Woolen company and other contractors.

Telegram Increased Graham

This telegram Chairman Graham denounced in open session of the committee as "contemptuous and insulting." So incensed was he that he confessed his inability to conduct the examination of the witness without prejudice and delegated that duty to Representative Jeffries of Nebraska, the other republican member.

Mr. Long, who was accompanied by his son, Richard H. Long, Jr., hung about the committee room all day, but he was not called to the stand until late in the afternoon. Almost all of the session had been consumed by Major A. C. Dickinson of the chemical warfare board now out of the service, who described circumstances connected with certain claims filed by Mr. Long with his board.

Mr. Long decided to stay over in Washington until today. He was uncertain as to what he would do. He said he was scheduled to speak in New Bedford and Fall River Tuesday night and if he remained in Washington for the session of the committee he knew it would be impossible for him to keep those engagements. His son advised him to forego the Bristol county rallies for the reason that if he left before the committee had finished its examination his position might be misunderstood.

The political atmosphere of the hearing was undisguised. The two republican members of the committee voted against letting in the Long statement at this time, while Representative Gardett, the democratic member, voted in favor.

Mr. Long went into details to show in competition with other concerns and he flatly contradicted most of the criticisms made by witnesses at the hearing.

Had 200 Contracts

Under examination by Mr. Jeffries, Mr. Long said:

"I had about 200 contracts with the government. Their total amount would be somewhere between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000. They were all finished before the armistice except such as the government failed to deliver the material for and such as delivery was not called for before that time. I believe there were about 90 contracts which were unfinished."

"The only contracts we were requested to discontinue were with the gas defense. They stopped us immediately and threw 1200 people out of work."

Regarding the contract which Major Dickinson and other officers have testified was never actually given to Long, the witness said: "We received an order for 2,000,000 knapsacks about Sept. 9 from Major Dickinson. It was not in writing. He instructed us to go ahead and shipped us some material, thereby confirming the contract. That was the contract I tried to get information about from the chemical warfare service."

However, it is something which will bother him later on, but which doesn't trouble him now, he can procure from the government a certificate of disability. He will hold this certificate in his possession and later on, if he becomes ill, he can then claim government compensation. If he has no certificate of disability, he cannot make any claim against the government. All men are strongly urged to file claim.

The local Red Cross chapter has in its possession blanks which soldiers and sailors may obtain for filing their claims.

John Slater, an Englishman not yet 30 years old, has risen to the head of a $25,000,000 concern from the position of clerk in a colliery.

FEDERAL TROOPS CALLED

Arrival Prevents New Outbreaks Following Strike at Knoxville

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 25.—The crisis in the situation brought about by the street car strike here which also has precipitated a threatened general strike of all allied trades in the city, was believed to have passed today when three companies of federal troops arrived here from Camp Gordon.

Last night at a meeting of the Central Labor union, it was decided that a general strike be called for Nov. 1, unless in the meantime the street car strike had been settled and all troops withdrawn from the city. The proposed strike would run indefinitely and affect practically every industry.

Today a petition was being circulated for a special election on the question of Mayor Neale's recall. The mayor is accused of failure to bring about a meeting between the striking employees and officials of the street railway company.

Last night passed quietly, no disorders being reported. The street cars were sent to the barns at sundown and this morning at 7 o'clock were started out again.

VETO ADVANCED AS ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF CONTENTION "WAR EMERGENCY" PASSED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 25.—Pres. Wilson's veto of the prohibition enforcement bill yesterday, was advanced today by officials of the United Mine Workers of America here as an argument in favor of their contention that the "war emergency" has passed and that the miners, therefore, are no longer bound by wage agreements entered into for "the continuation of the war."

It is hoped, they said, that the action will swing public opinion their way and aid in securing their demands for a 30-hour week, and 60 per cent. increase in pay, failure of which has resulted in an order for a strike of all bituminous coal miners on Nov. 1.

Acting President John L. Lewis of the mine workers will attend a meeting of the executive board of the organization here tomorrow. President Lewis also has asked 25 district presidents of the mine workers and members of the miners' scale committee to attend the meeting. This action was taken in view of the president's demand that the order for a strike Nov. 1 be rescinded.

WANT SITE FOR TROLLEY EXPRESS BUSINESS

Although the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway, ably seconded by the Lowell board of trade, have been trying for some time to secure a site for a terminal to be used in the development of the trolley express in this city, their joint efforts have met with nothing but failure up to the present time, according to Thomas Lees, manager of the local street railway. It is hoped, however, that a site will soon be secured, and the long-expected trolley express put into operation here.

"Up to a short time ago indications pointed to the possibility of a deal whereby the street railway would be able to locate in the old Boston & Maine railway station on Green street, near Tower's Corner," said Mr. Lees to a Sun man today. "The present tenants of this property, however, are at the present time so pressed for space that they are unable to release the space necessary for the trolley express terminal, unless they are able to in turn obtain other quarters."

A committee of the board of trade has been working on the proposition, but thus far has been unable to solve the difficulty. Other sites for the proposed trolley express terminal have been considered, but they have been disposed of as impractical and unless quarters can be secured in the B. & M. property it is likely that the trolley express for Lowell may be put off indefinitely.

"According to the board of trade's study of the situation the introduction of the trolley express will mean saving of thousands of dollars and immeasurable time and convenience to Lowell business men."

"The public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway are convinced that by linking up Lowell by air-line freight they will be able to move toward rehabilitating the system, increasing the general service and re-establishing friendly relations between the railway and the business interests of the community. They hope that the people of Lowell will understand their predicament and help them to solve the difficulty which now lies in the way of settling the wheels in motion for the trolley express."

Speaking of Winter

The trustees of the street railway yesterday awarded the contract for 12 snow sweepers at a cost of $5000 each. These sweepers will be substituted quite generally for the snow plows. The report we have from those now in operation elsewhere is that they cut the snow right down to the paved streets, leaving them as clean as if they were swept by a broom.

MISS GEE HONORED

St. John's church parish hall was the scene of a pleasant surprise shower last evening tendered by the members of St. John's branch of the Girls' Friendly Society to Miss Elizabeth Gee. On behalf of the club members, Miss Estelle Morris presented her a G. F. S. souvenir spoon and a goodly number of kitchen utensils. The curtain on the stage then was raised, showing Miss Gee's co-workers at the U. S. Bunting Co., and Miss Jeanie Cunningham presented her $50 and a chest of silver. Miss Gee graciously responded to both gifts. Music and dancing brought a happy evening to a close.

MATRIMONIAL

Supremant-Supremant

Mr. Joseph C. Supremant of this city and Miss Emma Roberts Supremant of Webster were married yesterday morning, the ceremony being performed at 10 o'clock at the Sacred Heart church in Webster by Rev. M. A. Desrochers. The bride wore a tulle-trimmed gown with heavy trimmings and silver brocade hat to match and carried bridal roses. She was given away by Mr. J. Donacourt of Marlboro, while the bridegroom's witness was Mr. William Plante of this city. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride and later the happy couple left on an extended honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will make their home at 9 Rockdale avenue, this city.

MISS P. K. L.—Making the pores smaller has a direct and tremendous result in the elimination of wrinkles. The reason for this is that when the pores become smaller the texture of the skin becomes finer, and the tissues are thereby braced up. Coarse skins are usually full of wrinkles. Just try this method once and you will realize that you have found a powerful wrinkle secret. Get a two-ounce package of esol in half a cup of water, and use as a wash. You will be surprised at the remarkable cleanliness of your scalp and the glossiness of your hair, as a result. For 25 cents you can get at the drug store enough esol to last for many weeks.

$5000 for Sewers

Mayor Thompson should prove this too much. The mayor voted "no."

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10.07. Mr. Morse was absent.

The following petitions of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company were referred after hearings to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand: Permission to locate one pole in Corner street between Warwick and South Walker streets, one pole in Brookside street at Woodward avenue, two poles in Ludlum st. and one pole in Barker avenue to give service at 174 Barker avenue.

The petition of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company for permission to erect and maintain a pole in D street, near Puffer was withdrawn.

The Lowell Electric Light corporation petitioned for permission to erect a pole in Harding st. between Warwick and South Walker streets to give service at 2 Harding street. After a hearing the matter was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

Hearings were held on the following garage and gasoline petitions and later referred to Commissioner Morse: Lucy L. Gaudette, 1117 Middlesex st., and Bernard & Miller, 545-50 Moody street.

Jurors Drawn

Commissioner George E. Marchand drew the following names from the jury box to serve as juror at the session of the superior court which starts in Cambridge November 3.

George J. Rizzardi, 9 Roberts avenue, water works.

Thomas F. Garvey, 72 Lilley avenue, cigar maker.

Murdoch McKinnon, 1732 Middlesex street, marketman.

Walter J. Chase, 254 Gibson street, clerk.

Timothy Buckley, 453 Riverside st., operative.

Thomas K. McGreevey, 215 Forrest street, operative.

A petition from the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a pole location in Shaw street between Warwick and South Walker streets was referred for a hearing November 11.

Similar action was taken on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. for two pole locations in Fort Hill avenue between Andover street and 14 Fort Hill ave.

The petition of Charles E. Fogg, et al., that a portion of Hadley street be accepted was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

The Tidewater Oil Sales corporation asked for garage and gasoline licenses at the following places and the petitions were referred to Commissioner Morse: 25 West Jackson street, 135 Moody street, 505 Rogers street, 105 Quebec street.

Similar action was taken on the petition of Osterman & Gilman for a gasoline license at 22 Sheldahl street.

The petition of George H. Nagle for permission to move a building in Chelmsford street was held for a hearing November 11.

After a hearing on the petition of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company for permission to erect three poles in Aberdeen street between Methuen street and 83 Aberdeen street, the matter was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

The council then passed an order calling a meeting of the qualified

$5000 Transferred

Mayor Thompson presented an order to transfer $5000 from the appropriation for isolation hospital maintenance to the appropriation for mothers with dependent children as he said that his resources in the latter department were at a low ebb. The order was passed.

An order to lay out Hazel street from Rogers street to Wentworth avenue and another to lay a sidewalk on the northerly side of B street from Harrison avenue westerly about 82 feet were introduced by Commissioner Murphy but ordered to remain seven days in the city clerk's office.

$5000 For Sewers

At this point Commissioner Murphy introduced an order to borrow $10,000 for the construction of sewers, the money to be paid in ten equal annual payments.

Commissioner Murphy said that the order had been introduced as a consequence of numerous sewer petitions lying in his office. He saw no reason why the money could not be borrowed inasmuch as by November 1 the borrowing capacity of the city will be extended to $56,974.

Mayor Thompson: "I think the day is November 2."

Commissioner Marchand: "Have you any sewers open now?"

Commissioner Murphy: "The Gorham street sewer has been open nine days and the cars of the street railway company are beginning to cause the banks to cave in. The sewer should be finished as soon as possible. The board of health has approved it and is anxious to have the job completed."

Mayor Thompson: "I don't believe the city can afford to borrow money at the present time. When this $10,000 runs out we may have another sewer open and this business could go on indefinitely. Besides, it is not yet Nov. 2 and we are very near the debt limit at the present time."

Commissioner Murphy: "The people in that section of the city are just as much entitled to a sewer as any others."

Mayor Thompson: "The man who is going to be particularly affected by the completion of this sewer is a friend of mine and I don't like to object to it, but I don't think we should endanger our borrowing capacity. Especially not at this time when the inclemencies of the winter season are coming on."

At this point Commissioner Morse came into the meeting and the matter before the council was explained to him. He said that he had always voted for Mr. Murphy's requests for money because he believed men should be kept at work, but at the present time he is in urgent need of money himself for a piece of fire apparatus.

"Unless there's plenty of money, I don't think I care to vote for this order," he said.

There followed conversation between Messrs. Morse and Murphy at some length. Mr. Morse emphasizing the fact that lives of the firemen at the Lawrence street house are in danger because of the apparatus there.

He asked Commissioner Murphy why he had never mentioned the amount of money he had obtained this year in loans, and the latter answered that those were distinct from maintenance, that such money was appropriated for a specific purpose and was entirely irrelative to the ordinary appropriation for the conduct of the department.

"You can't expect to run a department on peanuts," he added.

Commissioner Donnelly asked Mr. Murphy how much it would take to complete the Gorham street sewer and the latter said $1800. Commissioner Donnelly then moved that the $10,000 order be changed to read $5000. Commissioner Marchand seconded the motion and the amended order was passed with the mayor voting against it.

Commissioner Morse thereupon declared that at the next meeting he would bring in an order for $5000 for a piece of fire apparatus.

Dean Gets Compensation

Mayor Thompson then read a vote authorizing the compensation of Edward Dean, an employee of the board of health, for a sum equal to the difference in the wages he received as an employee of the health department and the pay he received while in the military service of the government.

The total amount involved amounted that this sum should be charged to $116.25 and the order provided the claims appropriation.

Mayor Thompson reviewed the case briefly, which he said had been before the government before. Dean had rented to the city a pair of horses which for several years were used by the health department during the winter months. At various times Dean himself was employed to drive and in 1918 when there was a scarcity of help in the department he was kept on the payroll up to June, although the winter season usually ended in March.

At this time Dean was called into the military service and the mayor, on behalf of the health department, bought from him the team of horses which he had previously rented to the city.

Upon his return Dean asked that he be compensated in accordance with the legislative act which provided for compensation for city employees who served in the war.

The question to be decided was whether Dean was a temporary employee or a regular teamster. Hon. James E. O'Donnell appeared for Mr. Dean and after exhaustive arguments by both Mr. O'Donnell and the mayor, the council voted, four to one, to award Dean the sum stated, or less, if the city auditor's computation showed that the was entitled to less. The mayor opposed the order.

Before it was passed it was amended so that the money would be charged to the health department appropriation and not to that for claims. Adjourned at 11.35 until next Tuesday at 10 a. m.

On the premises, at the time above stated, will be sold at public auction this most valuable residential property. The location is ideal—fronting on Park Garden and yet within 10 minutes' walk of Merrimack Square. The house is of a grade of construction equaled in but few residences in this city. The finish throughout is of an extremely rich character. There are 17 rooms, many with open fireplaces, on both first and second floors; also a conservatory or sun room on second floor. The house is equipped with every possible comfort and convenience of the highest class modern home—combination heating plant, gas and electricity—base sockets, etc., hardwood floors throughout—some quartered oak—a beautiful drawing room occupies the entire southerly side of the first floor—the dining room and library in the northerly wing of the house are finished in mahogany, with massive built-in sideboard in dining room—there is a butler's pantry—modern kitchen with built-in refrigerator—the plumbing throughout is of the most modern type. On the second floor are several spacious chambers—large tiled bath room and extra fine linen closet. On the third floor are more chambers and large billiard room. In the basement is a laundry, maid's bath room, vegetable, fruit and wine closets. The house has slated roof and is in good repair. There is ample room in rear for garage. This property is admirably adapted for club or society quarters. This is one of the highest grade properties offered in the City of Lowell in recent years, and the opportunity of purchase herein offered is most unusual.

Terms—$500 deposited or secured to auctioneer soon as property is struck off. Other terms at sale.

12 Drowned as Steamer Hits Pier and Smashes to Pieces

MUSKEGON, Mich., Oct. 28.—Twelve persons lost their lives this morning when the Crosby Line steamer City of Muskegon, formerly the City of Holland, struck the South pier at Muskegon channel and was smashed to pieces, sinking in four minutes. Three of the victims were passengers, the remainder being members of the crew. There were about 25 passengers aboard but the vessel lay against the pier so that most of them were able to make their way to safety.

The City of Muskegon left Milwaukee in clear weather last evening, but was caught in a raging northwestern that struck Lake Michigan early this morning. Riding the storm well, Captain Edward Miller decided it was safer to attempt to make the harbor than to turn about. Just as the bow of the vessel came into the channel, a big wave caught it and smashed the craft against the end of the pier.

Commissioner Murphy Asks $10,000 For Sewer Construction and Council Allows Him $5000

Mayor Votes Against Passage of Order—Health Department Employee Awarded Compensation for Military Service—Hearings on Various Petitions

A further lease of life for the sewer department was created by the municipal council at its regular meeting this morning when it voted to borrow $5000 for sewer construction, despite Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy's plea that his department be given $10,000 so that sewers which now remain partially completed may be finished. Mayor Perry D. Thompson voted against the passage of the order.

The latter part of the meeting was given over wholly to detailed arguments, pro and con, on the petition of Edward Dean, a former employee of the health department, that he be given an amount of money equal to the difference in the wages he was receiving from the city as a teamster in the health department and the pay he receive while in the military service in the world war. Hon. James E. O'Donnell appeared for Mr. Dean and Mayor Thompson opposed the petition on the grounds that Mr. Dean was not an employee of the department when he entered the national service, but that the city had merely rented a team of horses from him. Arguments on both sides were so extensive that the meeting began to resolve itself into the nature of a court scene. Mr. O'Donnell finally won his point, the council voting four to one, to award Mr. Dean $10,000, or a less sum if the city au-

Contentment and Happiness
Will be more general in Massachusetts with
Richard H. Long
AS
Governor
He is Honest and Fearless!
He has a faculty of bringing order out of confusion, harmony out of discord.
Governor Coolidge and the machine that gave him every office permit corporations and wealth to take extortionate toll from the pockets of the people. The Boston Elevated bill is typical. The people of Greater Boston, including the Republican mayors, unanimously condemn it.
Richard H. Long will be just to wealth, but he also demands justice for the workers who create prosperity—the wage earners, school teachers, clerks, state, city and town employees, and the small business man.
The corrupt interests, conscious of impending loss of control, are summoning their every friend and tool, inside and outside the state, to defeat Long and make Massachusetts safe for the plunderers of the people.
Long's thousands of contented employees know him and trust him.
The people, by his overwhelming primary vote, showed their trust in him.
Business men who want a broad-minded, liberal man for governor advocate his election.
The only people who fear his election are the corrupt interests. Long would be elected by 50,000 today. He will be elected November 14th by more. Watch his majority grow.
Long advocates these safe and progressive measures:
A graduated income tax to make the billion-and-a-quarter of Massachusetts' big incomes pay its share of tax burdens.
Recognition of the Service man.
The five cent car fare and restoration of abandoned service.
State ownership of the trolley and the elimination of Water and Grant.
State ownership and development of water power, saving two million tons of coal annually and safeguarding against a coal famine.
Humane and conciliatory adjustment of labor troubles.

N. J. Cassavetes of Boston, director of the Pan-Epirotic Union of America, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the members of the local Greek community held in the basement of their church in Jefferson street Sunday under the auspices of the Americanization committee of the board of trade. The meeting was held for the purpose of stimulating better attendance at the English classes, which are being held evenings in the local public schools and great interest was manifested by those present.

The meeting was presided over by
V. Glavis, chairman of the Americanization committee of Greeks in Lowell, and he briefly explained the purposes and aims of the gathering. He introduced Mr. Cassavetes, who urged his listeners who are not conversant with the English language to register at the schools offered by the city. His address was listened to with great interest and at the close of his remarks the speaker was cheered to the echo.
In the course of the meeting it was announced that registration will open during the week.

COOLIDGE SAYS LAW MUST LIVE

Declares He Will Fight Force
and Terrorism While He is Governor

Speaks at Dinner to Commemorate Birthday of
Theodore Roosevelt

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Speaking at the dinner of the Middlesex club held last evening in Hotel Somerset in commemoration of the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, Gov. Coolidge declared: "So long as I am in authority it is my solemn duty to resist those who resist the government."

"I am for a government of all the people. I am against a government of force or terrorism, of group or class, or selfish interest. But most of all I am against a government founded on organized mendacity. The terror of force has failed. The terror of falsehood is failing."

What Governor Said

Other speakers included Chas. Sumner Bird, William Roscoe Thayer, Jas. R. Garfield and George Wharton Pepper. Louis A. Coolidge presided. In part, the governor said:

"The memory of a great man is with us on this day, a soldier, a statesman, a patriot, a president, but above all, a great American, Theodore Roosevelt."

"He loved his fellow man. He loved his country. He loved justice. Life with him was a practical affair. He had thoughts, and theories, and principles, but they were important to him only as they gave a rule of action. With him a duty was something that ought to be done. Theodore Roosevelt was the courage of America to act. His voice is hushed now, his form is still, but his deeds live in an awakened civic conscience that take on immortality."

"Others will speak of him and what he did. Let us, like him, consider what we ought to do, and knowing, let us, too, as becomes Americans, act."

"Recent events here have turned the eyes of the nation again toward Bunker Hill. What others see clearly there is danger in the confusion of a campaign that we may fail to perceive."

Policeman Not Employee

"A policeman is a public officer. He is the outward symbol of the law. He represents the authority of the people. It is a high crime to interfere with him in any way in the discharge of his duties. On him depends the peace and order of the state. He is a judicial officer. Well might he remember the words of Grover Cleveland that 'A public office is a public trust.' Policemen are not employees. They are not holders of a job. No private concern is trying to make a profit of their efforts."

"On the night of Tuesday, Sept. 9, about three-fourths of the Boston police abandoned their posts. They did not leave because of any grievance. They say their pay, which had just been raised $200, was small, their hours long, the station houses bad. That was not the reason they left."

"Besides, no one can be heard to assert that his selfish interests require him to violate the law and his oath of office. They left because they were determined not to obey the law as expressed in the rule of their department. They determined to substitute their will and their welfare for the will and welfare of all the people."

"Unless those in authority would permit this they were to be forced to permit it by turning over Boston to terrorism. Force was to be substituted for law. There was at once demonstrated the need of the order of Stephen O'Meara and the order and the rule which had the force of law against an affiliated police union. It was for this purpose alone that the police left their posts."

What Mayor's Committee Found

"The committee of Mayor Peters confirms this when it says that 'at no time did the executive committee of the union or the members of the union vote to surrender their union affiliation or in any other way act upon the matter, except by vote to strike following the suspension of the 19 members who were placed upon trial.'"

"And in justice to the commissioner it should further be stated that at no time during the progress of the affair did counsel for the union or officers of the union of men upon trial take any position with the commissioner other than to insist upon continuing and retaining their membership in the union."

"And in justice to the governor it should be stated that at all times he assured the members of your committee that whenever called upon for a military force he would provide sufficient men—if they could be secured—to maintain law and order."

"And in further justice to all the parties it should be stated that the governor and the mayor and the commissioner, in the opinion of the committee, acted at all times from the highest of motives and with but a single thought, namely, the welfare of the commonwealth and its people."

The Governor's Position

"Up to this point the question was one of police discipline. Over that the governor has absolutely no control. With it I declined to interfere. From then until now the question has been whether terrorism was to succeed. So long as law and order are maintained there is no terrorism."

"For that purpose on the evening of the strike I sent late Boston about 60 state police and about 100 metropolitan police. Some of the metropolitan police refused to do duty. That was in part the cause of the disorder of that night."

"As seen as possible under the law the mayor and I called out the state

Always Tired and Without Ambition for Daily Tasks

New Hampshire Woman Finds Tonic
Strengthens Her Nerves

"I was very weak and run down and seemed to be tired all the time and without ambition for my work," says Mrs. George D. Wolcott, of No. 65 Pleasant street, Claremont, N. H. "I couldn't sleep and was so nervous that the slightest unusual noise upset me. I felt as tired in the morning as when I went to bed and couldn't enjoy my food for it always caused distress. My eyes bothered me, too, and I couldn't read. My heart palpitated and I suffered from shortness of breath when I exerted myself."

"I saw an announcement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and procured a box. After a week's treatment I saw a decided improvement in my condition and continued taking the remedy until I had not only regained my strength but had taken on weight. I now feel better than I have for years. I am no longer weak or tired, the heart palpitation has stopped and I do my work without tiring easily. I attribute my recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and gladly recommend them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

guard. Before night of the day the disorder started the state guard were on the street. There has been no disorder since they arrived that they have not been more than able to disperse."

"All possible help has been rendered by Mayor Peters. He did all he could in conference with me to avert the strike, and all he could to help me maintain law and order."

Help From Council

"In this important work Lieut. Gov. Cox and the council have aided, vigorously. The lieutenant governor knows Boston thoroughly, is a legislator of experience, a lawyer of ability, decision and force of character. His counsel has been most helpful throughout."

"Many volunteers have appeared. They have done all kinds of work from patrolling the street to serving on committees for the solicitation and distribution of funds. The existence of the government itself is due to the loyal men of the three police forces, volunteers, state guard, new militia, and private citizens. For their sacrifice and determination, no praise is too high."

"An organized attempt has been made to enlist organized labor against law and order. That has failed and will continue to fail. For that they organize. All that their worst enemy could wish is that they would array themselves against the peace and good order of the whole people to secure some fancied benefit for themselves."

Labor Loyal to War

"If that were to start organized labor would end. The high estimation in which it comes to be held was because of its patriotic stand during the war. It did not fail to support the government. That gave it public approval. That carried its legislation through the last session of the general court. Labor was loyal. It refused to listen to appeals to withdraw its support from the government. It will support now. If the organization of government fails the organization of labor fails."

"All values fail, all opportunity for employment ends, all rights of property and of persons end. Force and terror reign alone."

"Organized labor is on the side of law and order and for the support of the government. Its members in Massachusetts are not submerged. They sit in the Boston city council, the house and the senate, on the most important boards and commissions in the commonwealth and in the governor's council."

"With them right and private interest join. The government is their government. This fight is their fight. If it is lost they cannot win. They will not be deceived. They are not bent on suicide. They never authorized the Boston police to leave their post of duty."

"Picketing the Government"

"The leaders of those who sought to overthrow the administration of the law by terrorizing Boston are on the road now, apparently well financed, still striving to gain their end. They and their associates are picketing the government. They are hindering in

Heat Eases Pain

It reduces inflammation and scatters congestion.

There is more concentrated, non-blistering heat in a box of Begy's Mustarine than in any box the same size anywhere.

That's why some people call it the triple extract of heat. But it can not blister.

MUSTARINE

Is the world's quickest pain killer, and contains real yellow mustard.

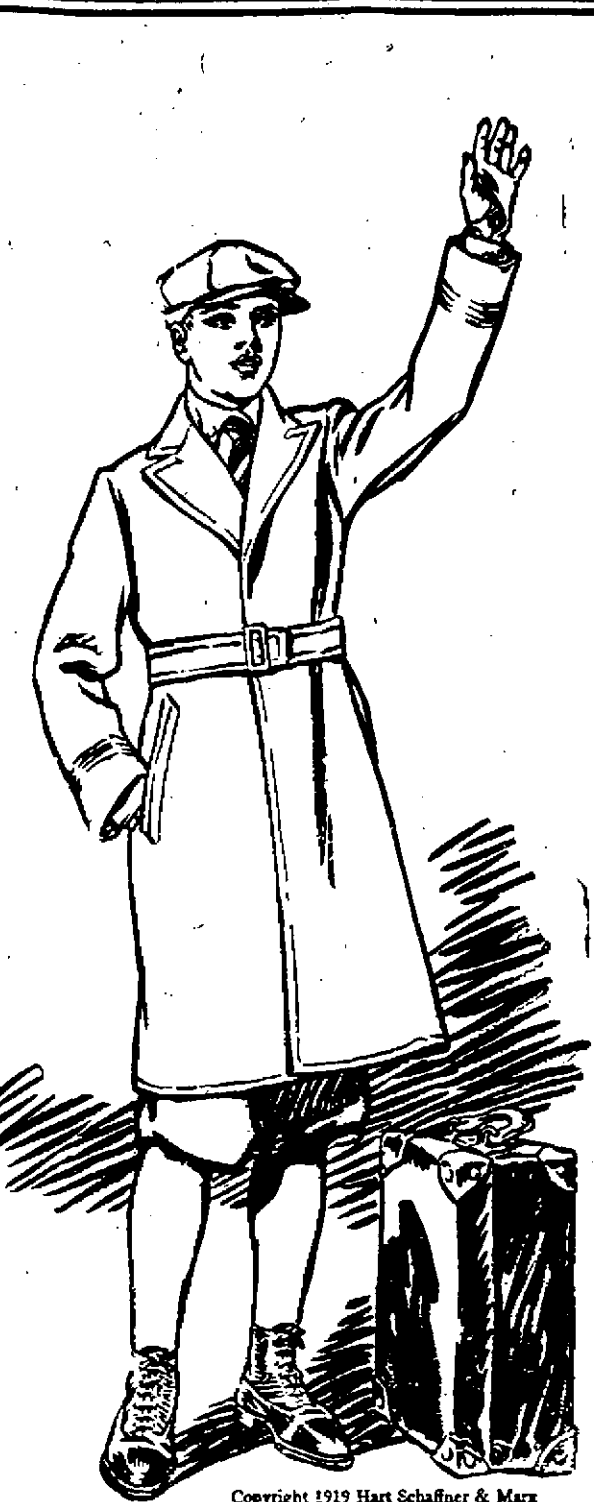

Use it to end Chest Colds, Sore Throat and pleurisy—overnight.

Use it for Sprains, Strains, Swellings, Soreness, Stiff Joints and Neck.

Always in the yellow box. Money back if not as advertised—20 and 50 cents.

School overcoats for boys---

The Best You Can Buy

BOYS' overcoats ought to be warm and well made; nothing but all-wool fabrics should be used; the best of tailoring isn't too good.

But when you get these things you want style, too; your boy ought to be dressed to represent you. That brings us---and you too, we hope---to our fine line of every way possible the organization of a new police force. They are vitally the state guard for doing its duty. Misled and misleading. So long as I am in authority it is my solemn duty to resist those who resist the government."

"It is of the utmost importance that this question be thoroughly understood. It is not a question between employer and employee. It has absolutely nothing to do with wages or conditions of labor. Those questions can be compromised, they can be arbitrated. We cannot arbitrate the supremacy of the law, cannot arbitrate the duty of all persons to be obedient to the law. When that is done government ceases to exist."

"The will of all the people ends and the arbitrary will of some class, some dictator, begins. That is revolution. That is disorder. That is anarchy. That is destruction. Disaster, distress and universal poverty would follow in their ranks."

Not a Party Issue

"We are facing an issue which knows no party. It is not new. That issue is the supremacy of the law. On this issue America has never made but one decision. Since that day when the little band sat in the cabin of the Mayflower and declaring the right of the people to make laws, bound themselves one to another, that they would all observe obedience to those laws, America has rejected the rule of force and clung to the rule of reason."

"Since that day there has been a government in Massachusetts founded on the will of all the people, and that government has been supreme. This issue is the same cause of all the people. It must not fall now."

"I am for the government of all the people, founded on right and truth, and justice. I am against a government of force or terrorism, of group, or class, or selfish interest, but most of all I am against the attempt at a government founded on organized mendacity. The terror of force has failed. The terror of falsehood is failing."

Issue for the People

"But the people must remember this is their government. If it is saved they must save it. No party can do it. It requires the united efforts of all the people if their cause is to prevail. I have presented but most briefly the dangers. The remedy lies in action. The press of the commonwealth and the nation, without regard to party, is unanimous in the support of this issue. I appeal to all the people to rise and stamp out terrorism in every form that there may continue to be a reign of law and ordered liberty."

"Fellow members of the Middlesex club, though not by birth or residence, yet by the major part of my American inheritance I belong to Middlesex. I have a great pride in that county. Within her soil rest many of my ancestors. It was there our kinsmen fired the first shot for liberty. Send forth your intendants again that what they won we may preserve. The courage of America to act—let that mantle of Theodore Roosevelt rest worthily and mightily upon us."

Sailors of the American navy have supplied whole French districts with homes. They worked from December, 1918, to May, 1919, on construction jobs."

Britain is building the largest dirigible in the world. It will carry six airplanes for its own protection and use—airial lifeboats, as it were."

Soviet Forces Recapture Tsarskoye Selo and Pavlovsk

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Winter, moving southward from the Arctic regions, is coming to the aid of Bolshevik troops in Petrograd and the ability of General Yudenitch to capture the former Russian capital before cold weather puts an end to his campaign, seems doubtful. Soviet forces, fighting desperately against the Northwestern Russian army, have succeeded in recapturing Tsarskoye Selo and Pavlovsk, south of Petrograd, and appear to be in a position to prolong the defense of the city for an indefinite period.

Some of the best soldiers in the ranks of the Soviet army are said to have been rushed to Petrograd from Moscow, and it is believed they formed the main portion of the red forces which have initiated what appears to be a successful counter offensive. Yudenitch troops are reported to have fallen back among the front south of Petrograd, but unofficial reports would seem to indicate they have moved nearer Petrograd on the line running from Gatchina to Krasnaya Gorka. It is said the town of Gorka, on this line, has been taken from the Bolsheviks.

Furious fighting is going on in and around Kiev, which was taken last week by General Denikin's forces. At some points the Denikin troops have been forced to retire slightly.

Letish troops are now holding Dnipro, below Riga, and have maintained their control of the right bank of the Duna river.

War-Time Prohibition

time act provided that it should be annulled by the president when peace had been declared and when the army and navy had been demobilized. Congress was informed yesterday by the president in his message vetoing the prohibition enforcement bill that demobilization of the army and the navy had been completed.

The White House announcement clears up any doubt as to whether the war would be ended legally with the ratification of the German treaty. Some officials had expressed the opinion that the war emergency would not pass until the treaty with Austria had been acted upon by the senate.

Final Papers Passed

corded at the court house in Gorham street.

The real estate involved in the transaction is assessed at about $60,000. There is an area of 11,992 square feet of land. The real estate consists of a grain elevator capable of storing 200 cars of grain and a coal elevator with a capacity of 3000 tons.

The property has a frontage on Thorndike street, Brewery street and Middlesex place. The main line of the Boston & Maine railroad intersects the property, affording a wonderful opportunity for future development of the land area for manufacturing purposes. There is a large manufacturing building on Thorndike street with stores on the ground floor together with an office building on the same street.

Mr. Ziskind has placed Albert Rowlin White in charge of the entire business as general manager. Mr. White has been connected with the Livingston Co. for 20 years and is a son-in-law of the late William E. Livingston. He has retained the services of all the former employees and will be assisted in the office by Frank Gilbert and Mr. Ramsey, while James Crowley and Arnold J. Ryan will have charge of the grain business.

Army Store Opened

that men's underwear, blankets and garden implements will be received from the depot in Boston within a few days. There were many calls for blankets this forenoon.

The canned goods on the shelves disappeared swiftly, with beans and corned beef leading in total sales. Bacon was in brisk demand, also, although the fact that it was sold only in 12 pound tins, restricted its sale somewhat.

The store opened in charge of H. A. Braad of Boston, assisted by James Walsh of this city and 15 clerks and cashiers. Miss Alice P. Merhan, sent here from the Boston store in charge of the office. Boston clerks will be employed as patronage increases and other changes made to speed up the actual handling of customers. This was accomplished very slowly at times this morning, but will naturally become easier as the clerks grow more familiar with the goods.

At present it is planned to open the store daily at 9 a. m. and continue sales until 4 p. m., but this is only tentative, however, and it is probable that on two days in the week the store will open at noon and close in the early evening.

12,000 TRAINMEN READY TO QUIT

Other Lodges of 180,000 Trainmen Throughout Country Take Strike Vote

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Twelve thousand members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen embraced in 14 lodges in the Chicago switching district today were ready to strike Thursday, unless wage demands filed July 3 last were met "in full" and a vote on the proposition by the other lodges of the 180,000 trainmen throughout the country was underway. Headed by W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood, a committee of 23 tomorrow will confer at Washington with Walker D. Hines, director general of railroads. In the event the demands are not met the committee has been empowered to call out all passenger and freight brakemen, suburban service men and yardmen.

The action of the Chicago district trainmen was taken at a secret meeting Sunday night.

The strike declaration, after asserting that the present action is taken with "no tinge of un-Americanism, no tinge of Bolshevism, no tinge of red, but the highly aggravated feeling that our members must not and cannot be ignored," states:

"We have staunchly supported the cause of our government in its fight for democracy by contributing thousands of men to its fighting forces and unlimited dollars to its many funds; we are determined more than ever to respect Old Glory, her cause and her armed forces; but we also are set in our determination that we shall not be deprived of any rights or wages that Old Glory and her armed forces, together with all other American institutions should guarantee all American workers."

ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY FOR JOHN T. SPARKS

In a most enthusiastic rally made up of both democrats and republicans, the candidacy of Hon. John T. Sparks for senator received a decided impetus last evening in Elks hall. In the absence of former Representative John W. Brennan, Walter E. Guyette called to order and former Alderman James J. Gallagher was presented as chairman. Mr. Gallagher said that it was quite evident from such a gathering that the Sparks forces were on the job and that it was a good omen to see so many of his friends coming out actively in his support.

Secretary Daniel Gray gave a comprehensive outline of the work thus far mapped out and read a list of ward chairmen. The latter were present and reported themselves ready for their work.

The candidate, Mr. Sparks, received an ovation when he was called on. He began by saying that such a showing filled him with confidence. He then reviewed his activities of the past week during which he had addressed many meetings and said that he was greatly encouraged by the interest shown on all sides and the tenders of support he had received. His record at the state house, he said, had not yet been challenged.

Marcel Chenevert spoke in advocacy of Mr. Sparks' election and gave some interesting facts concerning his record. Other speakers included Frank P. White, Charles Flannery, Charles Cordeau, Joseph Harvey, C. A. Desrosiers, Robert Carr, John Welch, John McCullough and others.

William F. Curtin said that Mr. Sparks' record had always appealed to him quite forcibly and expressed confidence of the candidate's election.

Representatives Thomas J. Corbett, Frank McMahon gave an insight into the doings of the legislature and said that outside of a few bills relative to election laws there is never any cause for a strict lineup of the legislators on party lines. Both men extended on the qualification of Mr. Sparks for senatorial duty.

It was stated that the officers of the Sparks' campaign committee had arranged a series of rallies this week that will keep the candidate on the jump. Tonight he is to address a big meeting at the Centralville Social club another one in Pawtucketville Thursday night and in addition to the big rally Friday night where he is to speak with U. S. Senator Walsh and other celebrities, he is also booked for several other meetings.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Great preparations are going on for the Halloween party to be given at the Girls' Community Service club, in the Runels building, on Friday evening of this week. As far as is possible it will be a costume affair and many of the members have spent a great deal of time in making their dresses. The dance will be the principal attraction, although all sorts of spooky novelties will be arranged for the pleasure of the guests. All club members have been invited to attend and to invite service men and gentlemen friends.

Queensland, Australia, contains 820,500 square miles and has only 650,000 inhabitants.

Was Not on Furlough

John King, alias Neal F. Kane, one of the two sailors who were found guilty yesterday of stealing an overcoat from Philip Breen, financial secretary of the local K. of C. after the two had been sheltered and housed at the organization's rooms Friday night.

King, of Kane, declared that he was not a deserter. He had intended going back to the hospital this week, he said, as soon as he could raise sufficient funds. Regarding the matter of his ship, the U. S. S. Pennsylvania which he yesterday said was in the Charlestown navy yard, and which was later found to have been away from New England shores since July, he had nothing to say today.

In order to further investigate his case, also to find if possible whether his story of escaping from the hospital in the Quaker City is true, the court ordered a continuance until Thursday, with bail set at $300.

Other Offenders

Accused of operating an automobile without having his headlights lit one evening recently, Charles Monaples pleaded not guilty through his counsel and had his case continued until Nov. 6. Counsel claimed that Charles was driving his car on a brightly-lighted street and at that moment needed no headlights. Court thought differently, however. Whether counsel's arguments will prevail will be decided when the case is called again. Law authorities at police court seem unable to come to an agreement as to the validity of counsel's assertion. At least, they hadn't convinced each other when the session closed this morning.

Two Lowell men, Aristides Reamoulos and John S. Rablas, also charged with violating the headlight regulations, were given continuances until Thursday.

LOWELL TO HAVE NEW AUTOMOBILE CONCERN

Lowell is to have a new automobile concern to be known as The Motor Sales Co., and if live wires mean anything it is going to be a success. The men behind are "Ted" J. Coffey, Joseph M. Halloran and James J. Skehan. They constitute an up-to-the-minute trio and they allow that they can do some business here. They will handle the Columbia Six and while they have not yet definitely decided as to where they will locate they expect to be ready for business in a few days. They said today that they expected negotiations for a location would be closed this evening and then they will prepare for the sale of a car which they declare is a sure winner.

INQUEST INTO DEATH OF BOY KILLED BY AUTO IN LAWRENCE

An inquest was held by Judge Picken today in connection with the death of Joseph Zimoli, 43 North street, the boy who was fatally injured in an automobile accident on Lawrence st., Oct. 13. Charles L. Bond of Boston, a Harvard student who is said by the police to have been the driver of the car which struck the lad, is out on bail in the sum of $1000.

KING AND QUEEN NATION'S GUESTS

Royal Party Greeted by Vice President and Mrs. Marshall at Capital

May See President—King Awarded D. S. Cross and Citation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—King Albert, Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Leopold, Duke of Brabant of Belgium are the guests of the nation in the national capital today.

The royal guests arrived in Washington last night and were greeted by Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, members of the cabinet and diplomatic corps.

Their program called for an informal tea with Mrs. Wilson at the White House, Thursday afternoon, but it is probable, in view of President Wilson's improved condition, that the guests may be permitted to visit the president informally. King Albert is known to be particularly anxious to greet the president and return the call he received from him at Brussels.

At 9:45 o'clock this morning King Albert received informally members of the Belgian embassy and during the morning their majesties and the Duke of Brabant received calls from Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, cabinet officers, the president pro tem of the senate and the speaker of the house.

During the afternoon, King Albert was to address the senate and house of representatives; be decorated with the Distinguished Service medal by Secretary Baker an decree formal ministers to Brussels. Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Leopold also, were to visit the capital in the afternoon and her majesty later was to receive women who aided the Belgian cause during the war. A dinner in honor of the royal visitors tonight at the residence of Vice President and Mrs. Marshall ends the day's program.

The award of the American Distinguished Service medal carries the following citation:

"To this distinguished soldier, commander-in-chief of the Belgian army, this medal is presented as an expression of the high regard of the people of the United States and of their army for the distinguished and patriotic service which he has rendered to the common cause on the battlefields of Europe."

LOWELL EAGLES MAY BUY NEW HOME

A convention of the worthy presidents of the subordinate aeries of Eagles of Massachusetts is being held today at the Quincy house in Boston and among those in attendance is Worthy President David J. Hackett of the Lowell Aerie.

The Lowell members of the order are particularly interested in this convention, for the matter of the purchasing of a home for the Lowell Aerie is expected to be thrashed out at the meeting. The local aerie has now a building fund of $45,000 and it is understood that the trustees of the organization have their eyes on a large building in the vicinity of Merrimack square, which they intend buying, providing the deal is sanctioned by the board of trustees of the grand aerie. The members of this board are scheduled to be present at the convention and it is believed that after they are informed of the plan of the Lowell Eagles, they will approve them. If President Hackett returns with favorable news a special meeting of the aerie will be called and it is safe to state that the deal will be put through in a very short time.

SUN BREVITIES

Best printing, Tobin's, Associate bldg. J. F. Donohoe, 223 Hildreth Bldg., real estate and insurance. Telephone.

All kinds of hats renovated at DeLorme, the Hatter, Sun building.

The dinner for the executive committee and rotating committees of the Lowell Community Service club, which was to have been held last evening, has been postponed to November 11, according to present plans.

Gardner W. Pearson of this city was elected first vice president of the Sixth Veterans' association of the Spanish War at the 21st annual meeting of the organization, which was held at the Hotel Brunswick in Boston, Saturday.

Pres. Wilson Continues to Show Progress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—President Wilson continued to show progress, said a bulletin today by his physicians. The bulletin follows: "There is no special change in the president's condition. His progress continues. He takes his luncheon and dinner in a semi-sitting position which adds greatly to the enjoyment of his food and causes no fatigue."

Pershing to Inspect War Industries

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—General Pershing announced today he was planning a tour of inspection of the war industries built up during his absence in France for the purpose of formulating recommendations to Secretary Baker as to what portion should be maintained against another national emergency. His trip will take him as far as the Pacific coast, and while away, he will visit his home in Missouri.

HOUSE SHORTAGE GROWS; NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

BY GEORGE WATERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—When will the supply of houses catch up with the increase in population? Nobody seems to know.

It is known that from the increase in population alone 5,000,000 are jammed into houses where they should not be.

It is further known that not more than 20,000 houses were built in 1918, when the normal building program to keep up with the establishing of new families would call for 405,531. This estimate is based on figures obtained from the United States Housing corporation, which had control of all building during the war.

After the armistice building was resumed for a while with vim, but two months ago it slackened up again. Architects say the builders had no way of knowing that they could complete their structures before labor and material advanced, and they were uncertain as to whether there would be a decline in prices a little later on.

The kind of flooring that used to retail for $22 per 1000 feet is now selling wholesale, f.o.b. the mill, for from $30 to $50, and in the retail yards it sells for $105. The United States Housing corporation estimates that the increase in the cost of material has been from 70 to 75 per cent, so if the same amount of money was spent annually now for housing, as was spent before the war, it would produce only half the number of dwellings.

The increase in the population as it relates to the housing problem has nothing to do with the babies born the last two or three years. The ones who established the new families were born from 20 to 30 years ago.

The theory was advanced at the bureau of census that 20 to 30 years hence fewer homes might be established, thus enabling the country to catch up with housing, but it was soon shattered.

"Indeed not," said Chief Statistician Hunt, who makes the figures on population. "More babies are born during and after war than in normal times. That has been the experience of all wars. In 20 or 30 years from now we will need more than the normal supply of homes. And the war stimulated the creation of families. This census will show an increase of 25,000,000 families, an increase of 25 per cent over 1910."

The United States has not had more houses than the people could use in the last 10 years and R. A. Cullock, custodian of the United States Housing corporation, said the shortage was noticed in 1913. From the middle of 1913 to August, 1914, when the war started there was little building on account of a general lack of prosperity. With the prosperity brought on by the war in Europe a demand for houses was created, but the demand didn't catch up with the supply. The acute condition dates from the time the war industries board stopped building. At this time nobody will venture to state when he thinks the number of dwellings will get in speaking distance of the number of families.

SPOKE ON "WOMEN AND THE GOVERNMENT"

Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, a former state federation president, spoke before the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon on "Women and the Government." She allowed her conversational address to drift from the problems of government from the standpoint of women to the national campaign for thrift and treated each phase of her subject with her usual delightful thoroughness and always from a common sense viewpoint.

Club women always expect to hear Mrs. Gurney say many things that are decidedly worth while and of immediate moment. She is one of the most charming talkers imaginable, seeming almost to think and talk with you rather than at you. A fair representation of the club membership heard and enjoyed her address.

As a prologue to her subject proper, Mrs. Gurney reviewed the problems overcome by women during the years of war; their earnestness and keen desire to have a part in every patriotic endeavor; their sacrifice and their noble work at home. She then said that the problems of reconstruction which now face the nation are just as great as those of destruction, although not quite so spectacular. "We view the creation or reconstruction of a building with only passing interest," she said, "yet we will look by the hundred to watch the destruction of that same structure by fire. Through the days of destruction and death we labored valiantly and now that the unemotional work of reconstruction is at hand a similar duty and sacrifice confronts us."

"As women go into politics more and more through the granting of suffrage, they must choose a party, for all our government is worked out along party lines. Whatever party principals we adhere to, we must have preparation. We must educate ourselves to the great responsibility we assume when taking the right to vote. We must not forget that whatever government we have a part in, responsibility for its acts rests upon us. I know of no better way to educate and prepare ourselves for this sovereign duty than to face them through a careful reading of the newspapers. I do not mean a hasty and superficial glance at headlines, or a religious reading of the society and fashion columns, but a careful study of the editorial pages which deal with the great political questions of the hour."

"What is there to the duty of voting aside from the practical side of registration, appearance at the polls, receiving and marking the ballot, placing it in the box and leaving the booth? There is the spiritual side. Women to use this ballot correctly should enter a polling booth with a prayer in their hearts, asking for guidance to vote only for the best, that we may become factors for good government."

"I am going to speak to you once more of thrift. Why has the government made this nation-wide appeal for careful living and conservation? Is it because we have a paternal government which sees its individual children spending money extravagantly and wishes to play the role of interested parent? No, absolutely no. It is because the government considers it, and I do not think I am putting it too strongly, a question of life or death. Our terrible extravagance, if allowed to go on unchecked, would mean our ruin. We must become a thrifty people.

General debility cured by RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

I have known RED PILLS for the past eighteen years, and they have helped me immensely during that time, in relieving me of general debility, headaches, poor digestion, and numerous other ailments peculiar to women. My ill health had been brought on by overwork, and the cares incumbent on the mother of a family. Today I consider it my duty to recommend RED PILLS to weak and suffering women who tell me of their troubles.

"In Germany today the people are perfectly satisfied with the condition of their country at the end of war. England's merchant marine is at the bottom of the sea, France is weakened and helpless, the United States is wasteful and stirred with labor troubles. German men and women are working their regular hours of labor for good pay and then at the close of each day's work are giving two hours more labor to the government, for which they receive nothing. They are speeding up production and practicing thrift. Thrift is not penurious scripping, but simply the art of getting one's money's worth. Oftentimes it is a thrifty expenditure to purchase a high priced garment which will wear for a long time.

"Let me tell you what a prominent

LITHUANIANS TO BECOME AMERICANS

Among the Lithuanian laborers, notably in Chicago and through Pennsylvania, there is a strong movement on foot to counteract the possible spread of extreme radicalism. Three workers' houses have been established in Chicago, under St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Lithuanian Workers' association. The purpose of the undertaking is to establish educational centers where workers of more conservative and constructive sentiments can meet and discuss their needs. It is intended that these houses shall become the true centers of Americanization. The practical results of this are shown by the fact that 40 Lithuanians were recently taken by their priest to file their "first papers."

GOING HOME TO EXCHANGE CASH

One of the strongest reasons for the departure of the Italians from the United States is the exceptionally favorable conditions of the foreign exchange added to the fact that the bankers are carrying on a wide campaign to induce Italians to take advantage of these peculiar circumstances. During the first half of September, for instance, the exchange depreciated Italian money to such an extent that with $1, which in normal times is worth 5 lire, one could get 10 lire. This state of affairs continues to be one of the most pressing motives by which the Italians are influenced to withdraw their savings from the banks and depart for the mother country.

ITALIANS RETURN TO UNITED STATES

A recently arrived steamship from

Italy carried 800 steerage passengers, most of whom were returning Italians who had rushed home just after the armistice in the firm conviction that they could live in Italy in affluence on a few thousand dollars. According to what they said they were quickly disillusioned. They found that the food shortage in Italy was far worse than they had ever imagined, and they reported also that thousands of Italian Americans who rushed home last winter are trying hard to get back to the United States.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT REPUBLICAN RALLIES

Lowell Post of American Flying Squadron of Speakers Legion Honors Memory of for Coolidge Address Three Man of Destiny Enthusiastic Rallies.

Theodore Roosevelt, first citizen of the nation and man of destiny, was eulogized at an open meeting of Lowell Post of the American Legion at the Community Service club last evening, by George Dalgely, regional director of the Roosevelt Memorial campaign, who came to this city in an effort to arouse Lowell people to a finer sense of duty and appreciation in supporting the memorial drive. The city has not raised one-tenth of its $10,000 quota to date and in the words of the speaker, "Lowell has failed to deliver the goods."

Mr. Dalgely felt that Lowell people were ready and anxious to rally to the support of the drive, but had hung back through over-confidence and this situation, evident all over the country, has retarded the success of the campaign. The speaker urged all American Legion members to put forth every effort to make the local campaign a sweeping victory, to even strive for an over-subscription, rather than a bare reaching of the goal.

Mr. Dalgely spoke very personally of Roosevelt and intimately referred to him as a friend of the American people, regardless of race, color or creed. In his death the nation mourned the loss of a true friend. No monument or memorial can add anything to his memory, the speaker said, but such a memorial erected to venerate his memory will remind the American people of his high standards of living, which in a great part, are the standards each true patriot pursues.

The speaker outlined Roosevelt's life from boyhood and traced it through its crowning successes to its untimely end. "He sought no monetary gain," said Mr. Dalgely, "no glory; only the joy of duty to his country well performed and he expected all Americans to do their work for home and nation just as well as he did his. He was a world citizen, but first, last and always an American."

Daniel Cosgrove also spoke for the memorial and paid glowing tributes to the life and acts of the great man. He told particularly of Roosevelt's "big stick" methods in solving the great problems which arose in 1902 and his efforts which saved the country from labor uprisings and financial disturbances. Harry Mack, who leads the Lowell drive for the securing of memorial funds, also spoke and urged hearty co-operation and generous response.

The Salvation Army band marched to the hall and furnished music throughout the meeting and afterwards marched back to its headquarters in Jackson street. Community singing was led by John W. Hughes and the meeting was brought to a close with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

In 227 American cities of more than 10,000 population, the per capita expenditure exceeded the per capita revenue by an average of $1.42 in the last fiscal year.

The flying squadron of speakers who arrived in Lowell yesterday in the interest of the candidacy of Governor Coolidge and other members of the republican state ticket held three well attended and enthusiastic rallies here last evening. The traditional trio of local outdoor rallying places, city hall steps, Towers' corner and Bridge and Paige streets, were visited in the order named. The largest crowd attended the Towers' corner rally.

The speakers included Senator John E. Beck of Chelsea, Representative James Morrison of Medford and Harold Caverly, formerly of this city but now of Boston. They based their pleas mainly on the stand Governor Coolidge had taken in the Boston police-men's strike and said that the issue involved this year was not a political one.

The first rally held at city hall opened shortly after 8 o'clock and Representative Morrison of Medford was introduced as the first speaker. He reviewed the Boston strike situation in detail, told of the part Governor Coolidge had played in upholding law and order and said that the governor's work was not yet done. He stated that the support of the people of the commonwealth in the stand he had taken was desired by His Excellency. He told of the assurances of support which had come from all over the state and asked that Lowell add her share to this. He pleaded for a victory for Coolidge in this city on election day.

The second speaker introduced was Harold Caverly, well known to Lowell people, and his appeal was a particularly strong one. He, too, dwelt on the part the present governor had done to maintain law and order and said that his efforts in such a crisis represented the highest type of Americanism.

In this connection he made reference to the Ladd and Whitney monument standing before him. He characterized these men as "heroes of a great struggle" and said that it would be well if every Lowell citizen would visit the monument some time this week and draw from it the inspiration of true Americanism which it embodies. "The spirit of the Lowell men who died in the world war—and he named over a dozen of them—was the same spirit of those earlier heroes of the Civil war."

"We who are living will see to it that these men have not died in vain," he said. "In the same spirit with which you defended the principles of liberty we shall help defend the safety of our women and children by supporting a man who has been a leader in the task, Calvin Coolidge."

Senator Beck of Chelsea, a veteran legislator and thoroughly conversant with state house matters, was the final speaker. The liberties of a country, he pointed out, can be threatened by other forces besides those of foreign aggression. Forces right in our midst can rise up and cause serious trouble, he said, and this fact found exemplification in the recent Boston police strike. Disorder had risen up and threatened those things that true Americans held most dear and it had to be overcome.

He expressed the belief that the American people were capable of settling their own differences. Under the leadership of Governor Coolidge the Boston disorder had been put down and order restored.

Senator Beck gave a vivid picture of some of the scenes that attended the first night of the strike in Boston and emphasized the fact that at all times there is an undercurrent of unrest waiting its chance to come to the surface unless firmly restrained by those in authority. He then contrasted the scenes in Boston the day that Governor Coolidge took control with those of the first night of the strike and said that it was because the governor had not played politics that his handling of the situation was so effective. He was free and unfettered to do what he thought to be the right thing and he did it unhampered.

The matter of the war contracts of Richard H. Long, Governor Coolidge's opponent, was gone into with some detail by the speaker and he said that the democratic candidate had hustled himself making money while other people were thinking only of the boys overseas and the hardships and struggles that they were enduring. He said that Mr. Long had made enormous profits on work which the government had to have done in order to wage war.

In closing the senator asked that a record-breaking vote for the governor be cast here in Lowell. He said that it would not be enough merely for Governor Coolidge to win, but that he must win by such an overwhelming majority that there will be no doubt throughout the rest of the country of the stand which the people of Massachusetts had taken in one of their big crises.

All the speakers were given steadfast attention both at city hall and the other rallying points. It was stated after the rally that another core of republican speakers would come to Lowell Wednesday noon to speak at several of the hall gates. It is planned to have rallies at the Lamson Co. plant and the Saco-Lowell shops at 12:30 and it is probable that there will be speakers at the Billerica car shops some time during the day. Chairman David Dickson of the local republican committee stated.

Following the republican rally at city hall, George H. Brown spoke briefly on local political matters and asked that those present begin to give thought to city matters so that they might vote intelligently when it came time to adopt or reject Plan B charter.

The Coolidge campaigners remained in Lowell overnight and early this morning left for Lawrence where they were scheduled to stage rallies today. This evening they will go to Methuen

MUST OBEY FOOD LAWS

Profiteers Who Ignored

Warning Now Face Criminal Prosecution

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Food profiteers in New York who had ignored a warning issued several weeks ago to cease manipulation of food prices, found themselves face to face today with criminal prosecution.

Following the arrest yesterday on federal warrants of two large handlers of food products, Arthur Williams, federal food administrator, issued the following statement:

"We have given two months' notice that the food laws were made to be obeyed. We have done all that we should be asked to do. Hereafter we are going to recommend to the United States district attorney prosecution of all cases of violations in which we obtain evidence."

The two men arrested yesterday were Louis Leavitt, a manufacturer, who was accused of hoarding 1,300,000 pounds of bacon purchased from the war department and Samuel Shapiro, a manufacturing confectioner, charged with profiteering in sugar. Both were released in bond for hearings. Mr. Williams said he had learned the name of a man who had offered 1000 tons of sugar for sale at prices nearly double those fixed as "fair" by the food administration and that proceedings would be instituted against this man within a short time.

DR. M. C. MCGANNON DEAD

Word has been received in this city of the death of Dr. M. C. McGannon, brother of Dr. Thomas G. McGannon of this city, and a former resident of Lowell, which occurred at Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 9. Deceased was born in Edinburg, Ont., and was graduated from McGill university in 1883. He had practiced in Brockville, Ont., New York and Lowell, leaving the latter city in 1895 to make his home in Nashville, where he became professor of abdominal surgery and women's diseases in the University of Nashville. A short time ago deceased was appointed surgeon general of Tennessee by Governor Roberts with the rank of brigadier general.

MR. GOMPERS' THREAT

In this country, as it should be in every country, the public interest is paramount or above all other considerations.

In other words the interests of the many are above those of the few. In the "right of eminent domain" this principle is expressed in law under which the rights of individuals may be sacrificed to those of the general public, even to the seizure of property.

It is true that all men are equal in the purview of the law, but the majority rules, which means, that the public, the people, the citizens throughout the country are sovereign and cannot be overridden by any class or organization, however powerful.

It would be well for all citizens to keep in mind these principles of our constitution under which are guaranteed the rights of every individual, but which at the same time, holds the rights of the people for a majority thereof superior to the rights of any individual or any class.

Class legislation, class power, class dominance are not or should not be countenanced under our constitution which is framed to uphold the public weal. The rights of the public, the people, the citizens, are paramount and any assertion of power in opposition to this principle is opposed to public policy and to the fundamental principles of American liberty. In this light it appears that President Gompers and the brotherhood officials who declare that they will not obey an anti-strike prohibition in the new railroad law are on dangerous ground.

They are actually setting up the organizations they represent as superior to the government of the United States and a law unto themselves. They had better think the matter over before they go far in this direction. If, as we have shown, the public interests are paramount, then no class of railroad employees should be allowed to tie up the transportation systems of the country in order to coerce congress into granting what they want. We are surprised especially at Mr. Gompers for making any such declaration as that he would set an anti-strike railroad law at defiance. If he did, it would then come to be a simple question of whether the Federation of Labor is greater than the government of this republic.

Under ordinary circumstances, the right to strike is the legal prerogative of labor; but not so if the strike would threaten the property, the comfort or even the lives of any large portion of the people. No organization in this country can be permitted to exercise any such power, as it would result in a state of affairs bordering on a public calamity.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that the United States senate will retain in the railroad bill the anti-strike clause forbidding strikes in all public utilities. Unless this be done the railroad brotherhoods are liable at intervals to bring forward demands and insist upon their being granted with the alternative of precipitating a disastrous railroad strike—disastrous alike to the industries and the people throughout the entire nation.

It is not intended by such prohibition to curtail the rights of the employees of public service corporations, but merely to protect the public. With such a law in force, a judicial tribunal would be provided to which all such workers could bring their demands for adjudication.

It will be remembered that the railroad brotherhoods have a record of a nationwide strike hanging over the country at present, as they gave President Wilson notice that unless the high cost of living were reduced within three months, they would have to get an increase in wages or otherwise they would strike.

Other threats of a similar character have been made by labor organizations so that the security of our industries and the safety of the people are imperilled by these continual threats of labor strikes. When any organization of national scope threatens to set the government at defiance, it is high time to take the necessary steps for public protection; and that proposed in the Cummins bill is the only practical solution.

BEHIND WILSON

It is remarkable, with what enthusiasm the country has approved the stand taken by President Wilson against the proposed miners' strike.

The president appealed to the mine workers not to strike, showing that the interests of the public would suffer immeasurably, but at the same time he told them that if a strike were declared, the government would have ample power to deal with it in an effective manner. The fact is that the miners could be dealt with under the law still in force, forbidding any attempt to limit production or curtail the transportation of the necessities of life during the war. For any violation of this law there is a heavy penalty and it would be applicable to the miners who would go out on strike at this time in open defiance of the order issued by the president of the United States who is commander-in-chief of the army and navy.

Congress has promptly expressed its determination to stand by Wilson so far as may be necessary in preventing or suppressing a miners' strike, and governors of states have wired the president approving of his stand and declaring that he has voiced the conscience of the nation.

In view of the fact that the soft coal miners are working under a contract that is to continue till April, 1920, or the end of the war, it is not likely that even the leaders will be so forgetful of the consequences as to go ahead with the strike in face of the warning they have received.

It may be possible in case the strike be called off, that some voluntary concessions will be made in order to conciliate the miners and to promote production. Any suspension in the operation of the soft coal mines at this time of year, would have a very serious effect upon the industries throughout the country.

PRESIDENTIAL FIGHT

Senator Miles Poindexter has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for president in a letter that sets forth many strong principles of patriotism and political policy. He is not quite so radical as Hiram Johnson, although a strong opponent of the League of Nations. There is room for a few more lightweights in the contest and we may expect other candidates to enter the field before the end of the year. It does not seem that Justice Hughes is being considered, nor even former-President Taft, who has played a very conspicuous and patriotic part in the stirring affairs of the nation during the war. He is also a strong advocate of the League of Nations, although it is doubtful if that would help him with republicans, while Senator Lodge, the republican leader, is fighting the progress of the treaty at every step.

On the democratic side it is now conceded that President Wilson will not seek the nomination, although it had been said before his illness that if the treaty were not ratified by the senate, he might be forced to become a candidate. It is very evident that the breakdown in his health will remove such a possibility. Champ Clark, therefore, will be suggested as the most available candidate and many of his friends will fight for his nomination on the ground that he was defeated only by a narrow margin in 1912.

ATHLETICS IN COLLEGE

The old program of college athletics was intended to turn out a crackerjack football team, a corking good baseball club, a small but prize winning aggregation of track stars, and the rest of the students sat in the grandstand.

The newer idea, as proposed by Adelbert college of Western Reserve University, sacrifices the few for the many. "Each student will learn the rudiments of football, basketball, wrestling, boxing and other 'plays,'" says the college bulletin. "In this way not merely a picked few 'experts' on the varsity, but every man in college, will be a member of some athletic team, and derive the physical benefits."

"The new system of physical education for every man recognizes the injustice of the old method by which a selected few received the benefits of athletics while the large majority of students sat in the stands and applauded."

Equal opportunity for physical development to every student thus goes hand in hand with equal opportunity for mental development. This seems to be a close approach to democracy in college athletics. It promises a healthier, stronger, sturdier crop of college graduates in the future.—N. E. A.

THE TREATY

The defeat of the Johnson amendment providing that the United States would have as many votes as any other nation in the assembly of the League of Nations, indicates that other amendments or reservations equally inexpedient will also be defeated. Furthermore, it offers additional hope that the treaty will be ratified despite the effort of the "battalion of death" whose avowed purpose it is to maintain a filibuster that would prevent final action on the treaty.

Senator Lodge is afraid that this extreme step might have a bad effect upon the political fortunes of the republican party and hence he wants to have the treaty disposed of in a manner approved by the opposition without unreasonable delay. Nevertheless, it is not likely that any decision will be reached on the treaty before the middle of next month.

SMITH AND HEARST

A committee of New York citizens has staged a very interesting show for Wednesday night at Carnegie hall. It is to be a joint debate between Governor Smith and William Randolph Hearst, in which the governor offers his antagonist the privilege of asking him any question relative to his public and private life, providing he has the opportunity similarly to question Mr. Hearst.

Should Hearst fail to appear, Gov. Smith will make a speech in which he will answer the attacks made upon him by the Hearst papers. It is not probable that Mr. Hearst will accept the challenge as he has flunked in other cases of a similar kind, although his papers are likely to keep up the criticism that has stirred not only Governor Smith, but a great many citizens of New York.

NEW YORK STRIKE

The longshoremen of New York who are on strike in violation of the orders of their superior officers, are taking matters into their own hands in a way that is likely to bring serious trouble. The right to strike, except it inflicts very serious injury upon the public, is not questioned, but it is entirely a different matter when strikers take up arms to prevent others from taking their places. In this respect they will be met by the forces of the law and will finally be the losers.

On Nov. 4 the voters of this state will have to pass upon the adoption of the revised state constitution as framed by the constitutional convention recently held. This article appeals to citizens generally and should be voted by all. As compared with the old constitution, the new is immeasurably to be preferred.

According to custom, the Lloyd George ministry should retire after a severe adverse vote in parliament, but the premier is not so sensitive as some others so that he will just hold on until he gets another wallop.

The American mission at the peace conference opposes a mandate for the United States that would put us in charge of Constantinople. We might take care of Armenia.

Even those who differed with the late Col. Roosevelt will gladly assist in the movement to raise a suitable memorial to his honor. Nobody could question his genuine Americanism.

The League of Nations will probably be a reality by the end of this month. We will have to catch on to the band wagon once we shall have made up our mind.

SEEN AND HEARD

A man out west wants to divorce his wife because, he says, she "won't make conversation" at home. Some men don't know what real happiness is.

Tony Plazo, handcuffed to a bicycle, rode from Pacific to Atlantic, to win a bet, thereby doing less worth while stuff than if he had handcuffed himself to a hoe, a saw, or any other tool of production.

A Baltimore, Md., baby was born with a full set of adult teeth. In future years the up-to-date baby may be born with a complete equipment of knowledge, ready to jump right into a man's sized job.

A chambermaid came across a puzzle in one of the 30 rooms that she took care of and spent so much time with the puzzle that the ma'am "fired" her. Now she wants the court to decide what is the responsibility of the roomer who had the puzzle in his room. She contends that he either ought to get her another job or marry her. Some case, we'll say.

Wild West Band Man

It has been a long time since we read of a Wild West band man making his audience dance to the tune of whistling bullets.

Philadelphia (Which is in the gentle east)—"Can you shimmy?" This question was quite a surprise to James Gottschalk, who was accosted by an affable looking stranger. Gottschalk, smiling, said he thought he could.

"Can you jazz?" the stranger asked. "I can."

"Let me see you jazz," the stranger insisted.

Gottschalk hesitated.

"Let me see you shimmy and jazz," the stranger repeated, this time in a commanding tone, as he poked a revolver into Gottschalk's face.

Gottschalk jazzed as he had never jazzed before. Then he shimmed and shimmed, while the stranger looked on in approval, turning the muzzle of his revolver from Gottschalk's feet to his face.

While the victim danced the villain went through his pockets to the tune of jazz and some jewelry.

Who said, "Wild West?"

Beauty or Brains?

George L. Barden, manufacturer, psychologist and socialist, asked 20 women of Penn Yan, N. Y., this question:

"Would you rather be considered beautiful or clever?"

Nineteen of them gave beauty preference over brains. One said she would prefer to be considered both beautiful and clever.

Barden believes this about expresses the consensus of opinion of all women. So much for the woman viewpoint.

As to the male:

The writer asked 18 young unmarried men:

"Would you rather marry a beautiful or clever girl?"

Beauty won, unanimously! Only six of the fellows qualified their votes with—

"She ought to have some brains."

"Have you ever rushed to the box office for a front seat to see a musical comedy staging a 'chorus of clever brainy girls'?"

However, the chances are that the clever girl can make the better biscuits.

And you girls, which would you rather marry—

The handsome or the clever man?

Adonis, who looks so well in a full dress suit, or Bill Pay, who doesn't look so lively in overalls but who brings home the bacon in a large sized salary envelope every Saturday evening?

Seven voted for the handsome guy, and the others thought, "Any man is handsome if you love him."

Morning

(Copyright, 1919, N.E.A.)

Who knows that trouble is? Off times it seems.

Fashioned of fabric woven of our dreams.

O, have you in the reaches of the night been trapped and tangled by some monstrous fright.

Some spell, or danger of some ill-omened dream?

From which your leaden legs refused to run?

Or have you struggled for an age, in vain,

To climb a cliff, quench fire, or catch a train?

Or have you sauntered through the city's rush

Clad in a flig leaf, bordered by a half roused, although the vision grew more vague.

Yet still it threatened like some poison on a plate.

You had no skill to combat or oppose. Then morning came, and as you blithely rose

You told your terror with a laughing word

And all the seeming of it grew absurd.

Mayhap the dawn of some tomorrow gleams,

When we shall smile at all life's troublous dreams.

THE CHURCH HAS STOOD THE TEST

BY THE REV. CHARLES STEELE

Thus far the church has stood the test of time. Her ideals and her methods have been so far above those of every other agency that she has surpassed them in the race for supremacy. For at no time in her history has the claim of the church to be the truest representative of God in the world, been undisputed. Other religions and other institutions have insisted that they too, must be recognized as representing the spirit and the teaching of the Creator.

But the great strength of the church lies in the fact that Christianity is the result of God seeking man, while all other religions are the result of man seeking God.

Misrepresentation and persecution have done their hurt against the church. But neither the ignorance and the narrowness of the bigot, nor the hatred and the malice of the oppressor have succeeded in accomplishing the church's destruction. Rather have they forced the church to define more clearly her position and to weld more closely her adherents.

Changes in political, economic, and in social life have also come, but the church has always adjusted herself to these changing conditions.

Generally the change came quite naturally, because the great underlying principles upon which Christianity is built are applicable to every human condition, and the leaders in the church quickly discerned the signs of the times, although frequently it required the strong, stern message of a prophet who saw the clearer vision.

And so, the church has come down the ages with increasing power and influence. Sometimes with martial tread, in response to trumpet call; sometimes with ministering hand to hungry and distressed; sometimes with message strong to quicken conscience weak with sin, but principally in meeting the every day needs of a common suffering humanity, whose cry for help was the church's call to service.

Not always has she been true to her highest ideals, but by these ideals must she be judged, rather than by her mistakes.

So great has been the influence of the church that even some of her earlier rivals among other religions—catching something of her spirit—have been vastly improved, until sometimes the best that is in them compares favorably with the inferior forms of Christianity; and the good that they adopted has become the enemy of the best that may be found in the fuller gospel of Christ.

Not only has the church adjusted herself to changing social conditions, but she has been the principal factor in the social progress. Even her enemies have been compelled to admit that the church has done more for the common cause of humanity than all other agencies combined.

But, as in religion, so in social progress, the spirit and the method of the church have sometimes been appropriated by social reformers, and in some instances they have set themselves up as leaders of movements which ignored the church.

LITHUANIANS WANT TO EXTEND SPIRIT OF AMERICA TO THEIR HOMELAND

At a meeting of the Lithuanian societies in Worcester, the delegates petitioned the Catholic war council to send their official representative, and a unit of its trained nurses to extend the American spirit to the Lithuanian republic abroad. The Catholic war council agreed and has sent such representatives and a unit consisting of 12 nurses.

In some of the counties of New York state fully 60 per cent. of the total vote was cast by women.

If Too Thin Try

Bitro-Phosphate

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—strength replaces weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty, and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION: While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

THE RED CROSS ROLL CALL DRIVE TEAMS

As soon as the city teams for the Red Cross roll call drive are completed, Chairman Paul B. Chandler will proceed with the plans for the opening meeting, which will be held at St. Anne's parish house next Tuesday evening. Pastors in city churches will be asked to speak in favor of the roll call from pulpits next Sunday.

Speaking of the work which is ahead, Chairman Chandler said today: "The expression, 'roll call,' indicates clearly the nature of the work ahead of us. When we say roll call, it implies members, and members of the American Red Cross, at $1 per head, are what we want. We want to see the Red Cross banner in every window, and we want to see as many of the smaller red crosses on these banners as possible."

"The Red Cross finds it can't let go. The day after the armistice, people began to ask what the Red Cross was going to do next, assuming that the war ended its work. Endings and beginnings are not so abrupt as that. They merge, as night dissolves into day, through degrees of dawn. The American Red Cross is still up to its ears in the after-care of soldiers and their families. Here in Lowell, the Red Cross is doing a tremendous amount of work in this line. At the same time, it is planning a home service work of wonderful magnitude."

"That is the work that the members' dollars will do. Half of that dollar stays in Lowell. That is why we want men to canvass for members."

TAKE UP LABOR'S FIGHT FOR FREE SPEECH

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28.—Organized labor's fight for free speech and public assembly in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county will be taken up immediately with the federal government, according to an announcement from steel strike headquarters here today. A delegation of representatives of organized labor unions of the city and county, representing more than 150,000 workers, will leave for Washington tonight to protest to the government "against the denial of labor by Pennsylvania officials of the traditional and constitutional rights of free speech and public assembly," said the announcement.

Constitutional rights have been consistently denied the workers by Pennsylvania authorities to "protect the despotic power of the steel companies over their employees," according to the announcement.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Robert Hyman and Virginia Mann have a most unusual recipe for boosting a person's salary to $1000 a year in their little sketch at B. F. Keith's theatre this week. So unusual is it that there was left in many people's minds some doubt as to whether it would work out in real life. However, in the play it seems to go smoothly enough and certainly met with real success. The sketch is entitled "Add a Year," and has to do with a young married couple living on Long Island who simply can't seem to get along on a $2000 salary. They try at first to get by on the limitations of such a meagre salary to go without such necessities of life as an automobile, a maid and a maid. In fact they are in dire poverty—so they think. Brilliant husband hits upon a scheme whereby he thinks he will be able to get a substantial salary boost from his boss. He outlines his plan to his wife, invites his employer to his home for dinner and then proceeds with the task of extricating an advance of $2000 per year from him.

He dwells on the great sums of money which it costs him and his wife to entertain prospective customers of the firm when they visit New York, how he and his wife are deprived of all the comforts of life and how his wife is compelled to wear moth-eaten gowns. But just at this moment friend wife comes in attired in a dazzling creation, close on her heels are a maid and a butler and other evidences of comfort are everywhere about. The boss took it all in and decided that his employee has lied to him and immediately notifies him that he is fired.

At this point things look pretty dark but in the twinkling of an eye the tables are turned by the ingenuity of the wife and the boss is very eager to boost husband's salary to the desired heights. Why he does it forms the interesting part of the play which telling here would only spoil.

Mr. Hyman as the harassed husband and Miss Mann as his wife were especially good in their respective roles.

while the supporting company was adequate in every respect.

"Chasing the Blues" is the title of a whirlwind offering staged by Kellam & O'Dare. Kellam is a tall, slender gentleman, inclined to feminine mannerisms, while Miss O'Dare is petite and plump with sparkling eyes and a thoroughly pleasing voice. Kellam has a penchant for reciting poems, dancing grotesquely and trying hard to sing. His comedy is all new and Miss O'Dare makes an excellent foil.

Eddie Parto and Florence Clark have one of the most novel acts seen here in some time. The affair opens showing a scene in a music store with piano, virolo and gramophone. The machines are open and the "voices" inside come to life in the persons of a young man and young woman. They dance and sing most gracefully and their comedy patter won many a laugh last evening.

The Sterling Saxophone Quart are a quartet of musicians who confine themselves solely to the saxophone and draw out from the odd-looking instruments very catchy syncopation. The volume of sound from each of the four instruments differs but the harmony which the players are able to maintain by their skill is a most pleasing feature.

They were given a big hand at yesterday's performances.

The Althoff Sisters offer a singing act that ranks a little above the average vaudeville standard. One of the sisters devotes herself wholly to the piano and the other has a capable voice. Their work is well worth listening to.

Victor Martyn and Maude Florence present an artistic opening act in their "Tennis Court" novelty. Miss Florence is good to look upon while Martyn is a skilled juggler who is not fussy what he juggles with.

The Worden Brothers are novelty double foot jugglers who do most of their work lying on their backs. They were well received last evening. Scenes of devastated Belgium as taken by the Red Cross open the motion picture part of the bill. The Topics of the Day is up to its usually witty standard and the Kinogram News Weekly has its customary quota of live news features.

Seats for the remaining performances of this good bill may be obtained in advance at the box office. Phone 28.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"A Woman at Bay," a drama in four acts from the pen of Mabel S. Keightley and Dorothy Potter, is the offering of the popular Lowell Players at the Opera House this week. The first performance given yesterday afternoon and last evening were greatly enjoyed by large audiences and all indications point to capacity houses during the remainder of the week. Although working close to the line of melodrama, there is a generous amount of comedy sprinkled through the production, making it altogether one of the most enjoyable plays that local theatre-goers have witnessed in a long time.

The scenes are laid in Colorado and Chicago and the story centres around a young woman named Nancy, who is first seen as telegraph operator in a lonely shack near Boulder, Colo. Implicated through no fault of her own in the assassinations of a band of hold-up men, she is forced to match her brains against a clever detective in order to escape the clutches of the law. She succeeds in this and later marries the man of her choice, only to discover that the sleuth is still on her trail and believes her to be the leader of the gang. How she finally escapes her pursuer, she is forced to discover herself in the eyes of the law and makes secure the future happiness of herself and husband—and the baby—is one of the most thrilling and absorbing stories ever told over the footlights and holds one's interest until the final curtain.

Miss Margaret Fields, leading woman, who has made herself most popular with each succeeding week by her capable and artistic treatment of the roles assigned her, plays the part of Nancy, first a telegraph operator and later the wife of a wealthy Chicagoan.

John McMan, who co-stars with Miss Fields in the leading roles, also gave a clever and sympathetic portrayal in the character of Ralph Norton, the Chicago millionaire. Jack Bennett, as the detective, and William McVilvie as the leader of the band of outlaws who brought trouble and suffering to the little telegraph operator, also played their parts in a most satisfactory manner.

Others who are appearing in this week's presentation are Arthur Mack, Hal Crane, Miss Helen Scott and Miss Priscilla Knowles.

THE STRAND THEATRE

Two clever film productions, excellent organ selections, a comedy of high merit and the ever interesting Weekly constitute the very enjoyable bill that is being given at the Strand Theatre the first three days of this week. The program is one of the best seen in this city in a long time and if the comment at both performances yesterday is to be taken as a criterion, the management of the theatre made no mistake in his selection of attractions.

The leading film numbers are "Lombardi, Ltd.," a romantic comedy feature, Bert Lytell in the leading role, and "The Winchester Woman" with Alice Joyce in the title role. "Lombardi, Ltd." deals with the proprietor of one of the smartest shops in Fifth ave., New York, whose very gift of designs has brought him financial success. His only ambition is that of becoming wealthy was that of winning a most beautiful girl for his wife. He finds that the latter task is a most difficult one, but through persistence he finally wins out. The play is one that is sure to make a hit with everyone, particularly with women owing to the many handsome designs in women's attire, which are being shown on the screen.

"The Winchester Woman" unfolds the story of a woman who sacrifices self for the benefit of mankind with no hope of reward and no thought of personal gain. The young woman is cast aside as a murderess, but is finally acquitted of the charge. Nevertheless she suffers haunting and in order to escape notoriety she changes her name and moves to another place. Here she falls in love, but soon the echoes of her past are heard and in an endeavor to shield those she loves from knowing and learning of her past she makes many sacrifices. The story is interesting throughout and should be seen on the screen to be thoroughly appreciated. As above stated all the numbers are good and the selection of such a program reflects great credit upon the management.

JANE NOVAK IN "THE EYES OF THE WORLD"

That Jane Novak, the winsome screen star, has the leading feminine role in the tremendous film adaptation of Harold Bell Wright's famous novel "The Eyes of the World," which will be shown the week of Nov. 3 at the Owl theatre, will be a welcome piece of news to local photoplay devotees. For Miss Novak's work as leading woman for William S. Hart, Charles Ray and other masculine screen celebrities has made her beloved wherever motion pictures are shown.

Unlike most actresses, Miss Novak denies that she ever cherished any childhood yearnings toward things theatrical. Born in Louisiana, she brought up there with all the love and care that adoring parents in moderate circumstances could lavish upon their lovely little daughter, she grew into womanhood with no thought of the stage or screen as her ultimate destination.

But Jane Novak possessed gifts which were never meant to be hidden away, and one of the first to discover this fact was William S. Hart. Mr. Hart, as everybody knows is a man of action. So he just as time in giving Miss Novak an opportunity to play opposite him in his next picture for Artcraft, "Solish Yates." What she did with that opportunity is superfluous to relate. Suffice to say that since then she has played leading roles in "The Tiger Man," with Mr. Hart; opposite Charles Ray in "The Claws of the Tiger," "The Coming of the Law," with William S. Hart again in "Wagon Tracks," and in other productions of an equally noteworthy nature.

In "The Eyes of the World" Miss Novak has the role of Sybil Andrews, the sweet, innocent little heroine. The role is particularly well suited to her type and abilities, and the characterization she creates will come as a welcome and refreshing contrast to the heavy vampire and underworld roles with which the screen of today is so regrettably overladen. Harold Bell Wright wrote "The Eyes of the World"

Happy Mothers

Many mothers who in order to keep the home neat and attractive, the children well fed and dressed, continually overdo, The experience of motherhood alone causes a severe strain upon the system, from which many women recover slowly, and serious feminine disorders may develop unless great care is taken to prevent them.

RASCALS

Biliousness, Headache, Colds, Constipation, driven out with "Cascarets"

Why take nasty cathartics, sickening salts, or stomach-turning oils to drive these rascals out? Let gentle, harmless Cascarets remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your skin sallow, your breath offensive, and your stomach sour. Get a box of Cascarets at the drug store and rid your liver, stomach, and bowels of the excess bile, poisons, and waste which are keeping you miserable. Cascarets never gripe, never sicken, never inconvenience. They cost so little and work while you sleep.—Adv.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Eleanor Milwood, aged 13 years and residing at 481 Rogers street, this city, received cuts and bruises about the head and body in an automobile accident which occurred yesterday afternoon when the machine in which she was riding with friends went over an embankment in Pelham, N. H. The young girl was taken to her home in this city.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Mucin (double strength), and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should be kept breathing open and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

JENKINS HOME AFTER WEEK OF CAPTIVITY

MEXICO CITY, Monday, Oct. 27.—The release of William O. Jenkins, United States consular agent at Puebla, who was held captive by Mexican bandits in the mountains south of that city and who returned to Puebla yesterday, was effected by one lone man, Senor Mestre, the personal attorney of Jenkins, according to advices received here.

At the beginning of the negotiations for the ransom of Jenkins, Federico Cordova, the leader of the bandits, stipulated that any effort on the part of the consular agent's friends to appear in force at the bandit rendezvous would result in the death of the captive. Senor Mestre, therefore, met Cordova at Hacienda Chavarras about two hours' run by automobile south of Puebla. He was then conducted to a room where he found Jenkins lying on a bed. After a short parley the ransom money, $300,000, Mexican, was counted out and a receipt was signed by Cordova. Jenkins was then released.

Few details of incidents which occurred during Jenkins' week of captivity have been learned, as he is not physically able to tell much of his experiences in the mountains except that his abductors were on the move continually to guard against attacks. They treated their prisoner with every consideration possible, however, it is said. Forced to sleep on the wet ground during a week of daily rains, Jenkins suffered a recurrence of rheumatic attacks which rendered him almost helpless. He is now in the American hospital at Puebla.

LOWELL POST GETS TWO SILK FLAGS

The regular business session of Lowell Post, American Legion, followed the Roosevelt meeting at the Community club last evening and was presided over by Vice Commander John O'Rourke. Otto Hockmeyer was present as the honored guest and made the official presentation of two beautiful silk flags to the post; one, the Stars and Stripes and the other, a Legion banner. He was given an enthusiastic reception and after thanking the post for the honor conferred upon him in being invited to make such a presentation, spoke at some length upon the importance of Legion membership and the great, underlying purposes of the body.

The principal item of business transacted was the vote taken whereby representatives and senators from this district be urged to favor and work for the passage of legislation which will compel preference to service men in the matter of civil service appointments.

The presiding officers read a letter from the national chairman, asking that the local post urge Lowell churches to observe Sunday, Nov. 9, as Legion Sunday, and to dedicate a part of the service at least on that day to such an observance.

HAIR PULLING STORY AIRED IN COURT

If Michael Megas had been wearing his hair closely cropped—after the fashion of young men of today—it might never have happened. But he hadn't. Why he didn't say. Maybe he doesn't like barbers; some folks don't.

Michael was defendant in police court today, charged with assault and battery on his neighbor, Ludvik Gurka, on the evening of October 25. Mike admitted beating his erstwhile friend up rather thoroughly, but claimed that Ludvik was really to blame.

Going into detail he explained to

Regular Habits Produce a Beautiful Complexion

Daily elimination rids the system of poisons.
Women should realize that!

At the first sign of these symptoms the wise woman will take a laxative, and will see that the young girl and others in her case do likewise. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite with thousands of women because it is mild and gentle in its action and in the end trains the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally without the aid of medicine.

This combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1 a bottle, the latter for families, for it is also a very sterling first-aid in colds, fevers and other sudden ills that make it advisable to always have a bottle in the home. It is free from narcotics and safe for the tiniest baby.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Menomonee, Illinois.

He Quit Tobacco

This veteran, S. B. Lamphere, was addicted to the excessive use of tobacco for many years. He wanted to quit but needed something to help him. He learned of a free book that tells about tobacco habits and how to conquer them quickly, easily and safely. In a letter he writes: "I have no desire for tobacco any more. I feel like a new man." Legions of others report similarly. Wonderful for cigarette and pipe habit, and chewing.

Anyone desiring a copy of this inspiring book can get it free, postpaid, by writing to Edward J. Woods, TD-31, Station F, New York City. You will be surprised and pleased. Look for quieter nerves, stronger heart, better digestion, improved eyesight, increased vigor, longer life and other advantages if you quit poisoning yourself with nicotine. HONOLULU, Oct. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The Japanese government has announced that negotiations will be opened with Great Britain for an extension of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, according to a Tokio cable to the Japanese Daily Nippon-Jiji.

Earlier advices to the Nippon Jiji forwarded to America stated that extension of the Anglo-Japanese treaty would be sought by Japan, but quoted no official source.

CITIZENS OF MASSACHUSETTS

This is the first of a series of advertisements intended to make clear the VITAL IMPORTANCE to YOU and to YOUR GOVERNMENT of the paramount issue in this campaign in Massachusetts, and the REVOLUTIONARY and far-reaching consequences CERTAIN TO FOLLOW a wrong decision of it. The issue is NOT the political fortune of ANY MAN, or the success of ANY POLITICAL PARTY.

IT IS A FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLE OF YOUR GOVERNMENT—the principle of YOUR right to the protection of your Constitution and your laws, YOUR RIGHT TO THE UNDIVIDED ALLEGIANCE OF YOUR PUBLIC SERVANTS.

The issue was raised by the DESERTION of a large majority of the police force of Boston, and their subsequent UNREPENTANT AND DEFIANT ATTITUDE against the authority of the Commonwealth—an attitude in which they are now aided and abetted by the Democratic Candidate for Governor.

Those policemen had taken this SOLEMN OATH:

"I (space for name) do solemnly swear that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the United States of America and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and will support the Constitution and the laws thereof, so help me God.
"I (space for name) do solemnly swear that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent on me as a police officer of the city of Boston.
In obedience to this oath, they also signed the following agreement:

"I (space for name) hereby accept the office of _____ on the police force of the city of Boston and agree to obey and be bound by such rules and regulations as are, or may be, from time to time, laid down for the government of the police department of said city."—Oath found in Section 2, Rule 4, of police regulations.

To them, UNDER THAT SACRED CONTRACT, was entrusted the DUTY of safeguarding the lives and property of the men, women and children of Boston.

THEY PROVED FAITHLESS TO THAT TRUST!

Deliberately and with malice, they BROKE THEIR OATH, defied YOUR SOVEREIGNTY, flouted YOUR LAWS, abandoned their duty and LEFT THE CITIZENS OF BOSTON TO THE MERCY OF THE CRIMINALS AND THE MOB!

A BASE BETRAYAL OF THE PEOPLE'S TRUST. "A CRIME AGAINST CIVILIZATION," in the words of the President of the United States.

Those faithless policemen are now DEMANDING that the TRUST THEY BETRAYED be given again into their hands! The Democratic candidate for Governor says in effect that he will GRANT THAT DEMAND.

THAT IS THE ISSUE.
That GOVERNOR COOLIDGE HAS REFUSED TO DO, declaring that to place the security of the people of Boston again in the hands of the men who once abandoned them would be to "support those men in their evil doing," and that "a government which does that is a reproach to civilization and WILL SOON HAVE ON ITS HANDS THE BLOOD OF ITS CITIZENS."

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE WOULD SURRENDER YOUR STATE GOVERNMENT.
CALVIN COOLIDGE HAS MAINTAINED YOUR GOVERNMENT, DEFENDED YOUR SACRED RIGHTS.

If you believe that "OBEDIENCE TO LAW IS LIBERTY," that to permit the Commonwealth to be intimidated or coerced would be to DESTROY LIBERTY AND TAKE THE STEP INTO ANARCHY, YOU CAN DEFEND THAT BELIEF ONLY IN ONE WAY IN THIS CRISIS: GO TO THE POLLS NOVEMBER 4 and VOTE THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

PASS BILL OVER WILSON'S VETO

House Votes 176 to 55 to Repass "Dry" Enforcement Measure

Turned Down Bill—Senate to Act by Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Temporarily unopposed by President Wilson's veto of the prohibition enforcement bill, but later greatly encouraged by the equally unexpected action of the house in passing the measure over the president's veto, dry leaders in congress were working today to obtain the necessary two-thirds vote in the senate. Leaders of the anti-prohibition forces were equally active for through an adverse vote in the senate there still may be a "wet spell" before constitutional prohibition becomes effective next Jan. 16.

Dry leaders in the senate were hopeful of calling up the enforcement bill today immediately upon the reading of the president's veto message. In his veto the president said that he could not sign the measure because it provided for enforcement of war time prohibition, which he asserted "sound public policy makes clear the reason and necessity for its repeal." Confidence was expressed that the necessary two-thirds would be obtained to override the veto. Should action not be taken today, it was considered certain that the measure would be brought to a vote tomorrow.

The vote in the house yesterday of 176 to 55, 32 more than necessary, came within three hours after the president's veto was announced from the White House and followed an uproar in the chamber lasting from the time the executive message was read until the final roll call. The prohibitionists set a record for congressional action, for so far as veteran members and employees could remember, never has a presidential veto been overridden within three hours after it was announced.

The veto hit congress like a crack of lightning. The house, getting on its feet again, deserted its leaders, who wanted to defer consideration until Thursday so as to round up all the dry members. But the dries swept into the chamber and showed that there was an overwhelming majority sentiment among them to give the government ample weapons for dealing with the liquor traffic, now outlawed throughout the land.

Nobody had really professed to know that the president would veto the bill. Republicans and democrats alike, and the countless multitude that had sorrowfully watched the passing of the bars—thought it would become a law without his signature.

Atty. Gen. Palmer, it was said, had declared it constitutional.

With re-passing of the law by the house and the prospect of the same thing happening in the senate, hope of the big "wet spell" that would run over the Christmas season vanished into thin air. Prohibition leaders last night predicted that the refusal of the house to accept the president's veto meant that the sale of liquor would not be permitted again in the life of this and many other generations.

One hope remains for the talked of "wet spell" before prohibition becomes effective by constitutional amendment in January.

It is that the German peace treaty may be ratified, and that the president may declare peace and demobilization of the army and navy. Some legal experts contend that that would automatically annul the war-time prohibition law.

But there is a legal question involved as to whether the ratification of the treaty with Germany alone will accomplish that end.

The war-time prohibition act was passed at a time when the United States was at war with both Germany and Austria-Hungary. Hostilities, however, actually had ceased. Some lawyers here are inclined to believe that war may not be ended until both treaties are ratified.

On the other hand, friends of the administration who profess to know its plans, say they expect to see the war-time prohibition lifted by presidential proclamation as soon as the German treaty is ratified.

Word that the enforcement act had failed to meet presidential approval was flashed from the White House a few minutes before 4 o'clock, an hour or more before it was officially laid before the house. Instantly, the wet and dry forces were summoning their respective cohorts, prepared for any break. But there was no thought that immediate action was contemplated.

der of an excited crowd at a race track betting ring.

Finally a shout that the house was not in order helped to quiet the situation.

The wrangling started again when Representative Walsh, republican, of Massachusetts, moved to table the Volstead motion. Most of the members did not seem to know what this meant, but it was evident that Mr. Walsh was trying to force an immediate vote.

The hubbub and the wrangling kept going while Republican Leader Mondell, demanding the right to be heard ahead of the 50 others who were trying to catch the speaker's eye, finally got the floor and told how the prohibition bill affected the welfare of all the people, which made it necessary that the house have everybody present when voting time came. This plea was made after Chairman Volstead had asked unanimous consent to withdraw his motion. There were many motions after that and a number of roll calls until the final vote was taken at 7 o'clock.

"Wetters" Unattended
The galleries were deserted. The crowds that used to sit through weary hours of prohibition debate had not heard, of course, that the final fight was at hand, and John Barleycorn's wake, if it was that, was unattended.

On the floor a handful of members who had stood up against the dry phalanx edged in a word now and then and tried to appeal for upholding of the veto, but they were unable to make themselves heard above the din.

The house went about its work with considerable glee, but there was no heart in the feeble cheer that followed announcement of the final vote.

If the senate also overrides the veto the country will go on a one-half of 1 per cent alcoholic content beverage basis. In the only test vote on the bill the senate gave it a five to one majority and dry leaders predict that the next test will reveal a similar strength for their cause.

PRES. WILSON'S VETO MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The president's message announcing his veto of the prohibition enforcement bill follows:

"To the House of Representatives: I am returning without my signature H. R. 4310, 'an act to prohibit intoxicating beverages, and to regulate the manufacture, production, use and sale of high proof spirits for other than beverage purposes, and to insure an ample supply of alcohol and promote its use in scientific research and in the development of fuel, dye and other lawful industries.'"

"The subject matter treated in this measure deals with two distinct phases of the prohibition legislation.

"One part of the act under consideration seeks to enforce war time prohibition. The other provides for the enforcement which was made necessary by the adoption of the constitutional amendment. I object to and cannot approve that part of this legislation with reference to war time prohibition.

"It has to do with the enforcement of an act which was passed by reason of the emergencies of the war and whose objects have been satisfied in the demobilization of the army and navy and whose repeal I have already sought at the hands of congress. Where the purposes of particular legislation arising out of war emergency have been satisfied, sound public policy makes clear the reason and necessity for repeal.

"It will not be difficult for congress in considering this important matter to separate these two questions and effectively to legislate regarding them, making the proper distinction between temporary causes which arose out of war time emergencies and those like the constitutional amendment of prohibition, which is now part of the fundamental law of the country.

"In all matters having to do with the personal habits and customs of large numbers of our people we must be certain that the established processes of legal change are followed. In no other way can the salutary object sought to be accomplished by great reforms of this character be made satisfactory and permanent.

"WOODROW WILSON.

FLAT DENIAL MADE BY LONG AT INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—A flat denial was made here yesterday by Richard H. Long of Framingham, democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts, that his company had made "exorbitant profits" on war contracts, as alleged in a recently published interview accredited to Representative Graham of Illinois, chairman of the special investigating committee.

Mr. Long came to Washington to testify voluntarily before the committee and to make a statement. He was not permitted to do the latter, but he took the stand and, under oath, submitted to examination. He also said, under oath, that a prepared statement which he decided to read and have incorporated in the records, was true. This statement, Chairman Graham of the committee, ruled was not relevant at the present stage of the hearing, but after the examination of the witness was concluded, it might or might not be admitted.

Mr. Long had sent a sharp telegram to Chairman Graham announcing his purpose to come to Washington to refute the "malicious and false statements" concerning his war contracts, made, he asserted, to "save Coolidge from defeat." He charged the chairman with "political trickery" and unfair attack and challenged him to tell the truth of the "profits" of the American Woolen company and other contractors.

Telegram Ignored Graham
This telegram Chairman Graham denounced in open session of the committee as "contemptuous and insulting." So incensed was he that he confessed his inability to conduct the examination of the witness without prejudice and delegated that duty to Representative Jeffries of Nebraska, the other republican member.

Mr. Long, who was accompanied by his son, Richard H. Long, Jr., hung about the committee room all day, but he was not called to the stand until late in the afternoon. Almost all of the session had been consumed by Major A. C. Dickinson of the chemical warfare board now out of the service, who described circumstances connected with certain claims filed by Mr. Long with his board.

Mr. Long decided to stay over in Washington until today. He was uncertain as to what he would do. He said he was scheduled to speak in New Bedford and Fall River Tuesday night and if he remained in Washington for the session of the committee he knew it would be impossible for him to keep those engagements. His son advised him to forego the Bristol county rallies for the reason that if he left before the committee had finished its examination his position might be misunderstood.

The political atmosphere of the hearing was undisguised. The two republican members of the committee voted against letting in the Long statement at this time, while Representative Gardett, the democratic member, voted in favor.

Mr. Long went into details to show that he got his contracts by bidding in competition with other concerns and he flatly contradicted most of the criticisms made by witnesses at the hearing.

Under examination by Mr. Jeffries, Mr. Long said:

"I had about 200 contracts with the government. Their total amount would be somewhere between $30,000,000 and $10,000,000. They were all finished before the armistice except such as the government failed to deliver the material for and such as delivery was not called for before that time. I believe there were about 90 contracts which were unfinished.

"The only contracts we were requested to discontinue were with the gas defense. They stopped us immediately and threw 1200 people out of work."

Regarding the contract which Major Dickinson and other officers have testified was never actually given to Long, the witness said, "We received an order for 2,000,000 knapsacks about Sept. 9 from Major Dickinson. It was not in writing. He instructed us to go ahead and shipped us some material, thereby confirming the contract. That was the contract I tried to get information about from the chemical warfare service."

however, it is something which will bother him later on, but which doesn't trouble him now, he can procure from the government a certificate of disability. He will hold this certificate in his possession and later on, if he becomes ill, he can then claim government compensation. If he has no certificate of disability, he cannot make any claim against the government. All men are strongly urged to file claim.

The local Red Cross chapter has in its possession blanks which soldiers and sailors may obtain for filing their claims.

John Slater, an Englishman not yet 30 years old, has risen to the head of a $25,000,000 concern from the position of clerk in a colliery.

FEDERAL TROOPS CALLED

Arrival Prevents New Outbreaks Following Strike at Knoxville

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 28.—The arrival of federal troops here, which also has precipitated a threatened general strike of all allied trades in the city, was believed to have passed today when three companies of federal troops arrived here from Camp Gordon.

Last night at a meeting of the Central Labor union, it was decided that a general strike be called for Nov. 1, unless in the meantime, the street car strike had been settled and all troops withdrawn from the city. The proposed strike would run indefinitely and affect practically every industry.

Today a petition was being circulated for a special election on the question of Mayor Neale's recall. The mayor is accused of failure to bring about a meeting between the striking employees and officials of the street railway company.

Last night passed quietly, no disorders being reported. The street cars were sent to the barns at sundown and this morning at 7 o'clock were started out again.

WTO ADVANCED AN ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF CONTENTION "WAR EMERGENCY" PASSED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 28.—Pres. Wilson's veto of the prohibition enforcement bill yesterday, was advanced today by officials of the United Mine Workers of America here as an argument in favor of their contention that the "war emergency" has passed and that the miners, therefore, are no longer bound by wage agreements entered into for "the continuation of the war." It is hoped, they said, that the action will swing public opinion their way and aid in securing their demands for a 30-hour week and 60 per cent. increase in pay, failure of which has resulted in an order for a strike of all bituminous coal miners on Nov. 1.

Acting President John L. Lewis of the mine workers will attend a meeting of the executive board of the organization here tomorrow. President Lewis also has asked 25 district presidents of the mine workers and members of the miners' scale committee to attend the meeting. This action was taken in view of the president's demand that the order for a strike Nov. 1 be rescinded.

WANT SITE FOR TROLLEY EXPRESS BUSINESS

Although the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway, ably seconded by the Lowell board of trade, have been trying for some time to secure a site for a terminal to be used in the development of the trolley express in this city, their joint efforts have met with nothing but failure up to the present time, according to Thomas Lees, manager of the local street railway. It is hoped, however, that a site will soon be secured, and the long-expected trolley express put into operation here.

"Up to a short time ago indications pointed to the possibility of a deal whereby the street railway would be able to locate in the old Boston & Maine railway station on Green street, near Tower's Corner," said Mr. Lees to a Sun man today. "The present tenants of this property, however, are at the present time so pressed for space that they are unable to release the space necessary for the trolley express terminal, unless they are able to in turn obtain other quarters."

A committee of the board of trade has been working on the proposition, but thus far has been unable to solve the difficulty. Other sites for the proposed trolley express terminal have been considered, but they have been disposed of as impractical and unless quarters can be secured in the B. & M. property it is likely that the trolley express for Lowell may be put off indefinitely.

"According to the board of trade's study of the situation the introduction of the trolley express will mean saving of thousands of dollars and immeasurable time and convenience to Lowell business men."

"The public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway are convinced that by linking up Lowell by air-line freight they will be able to do much toward rehabilitating the system, increasing the general service and re-establishing friendly relations between the railway and the business interests of the community. They hope that the people of Lowell will understand their predicament and help them to solve the difficulty which now lies in the way of setting the wheels in motion for the trolley express."

Speaking of Winter
The trustees of the street railway yesterday awarded the contract for 12 snow sweepers at a cost of $5000 each. These sweepers will be substituted quite generally for the snow plows. The report we have from those now in operation elsewhere is that they cut the snow right down to the paved streets, leaving them as clean as if they were swept by a broom.

MISS GEE HONORED
St. John's church parish hall was the scene of a pleasant surprise shower last evening tendered by the members of St. John's branch of the Girls' Friendly Society to Miss Elizabeth Gee. On behalf of the club members, Miss Estelle Morris presented her a G. F. S. souvenir spoon and a goodly number of kitchen utensils. The curtain on the stage then was raised, showing Miss Gee's co-workers at the U. S. Bunting Co. and Miss Jennie Cunningham presented her $50 and a chest of silver. Miss Gee graciously responded to both gifts. Music and dancing brought a happy evening to a close.

MATRIMONIAL
Mr. Leroy E. Merrill and Miss Viola E. Merrill, both of Chelmsford, were married Oct. 25 by Rev. Dr. C. E. Fisher, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bridegroom. The couple will make their home in Chelmsford.

Surprised—Surprised
Mr. Joseph C. Surprenant of this city and Miss Emma Roberts Surprenant of Webster were married yesterday morning, the ceremony being performed at 10 o'clock at the Sacred Heart church in Webster by Rev. M. A. Desrochers. The bride wore a Joffe blue traveling suit with beaver trimmings and silver brocade hat to match and carried bridal roses. She was given away by Mr. Z. Denocourt of Marlboro, while the bridegroom's witness was Mr. William Plante of this city. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride and later the happy couple left on an extended honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will make their home at 9 Rockdale avenue, this city.

Beauty Answers By MADAME MAREE

MISS F. K. L.
Making the pores smaller has a direct and tremendous result in the elimination of wrinkles. The reason for this is that when the pores become smaller the texture of the skin becomes finer, and the tissues are thereby braced up. Coarse skins are usually full of wrinkles. Just try this method once and you will realize that you have found a powerful wrinkle secret. Get a two-ounce package (50 cents) of "Egg" from your druggist, and mix this powder with one tablespoonful of glycerine in half pint of water. Apply this cream freely on the face every day, and you will be astonished to find the difference it will make in your appearance of age. It removes the thousands of small wrinkles, crows' feet and even the deep wrinkles. Try it.

"EFFE"—A glorious head-wash. Yes, here it is, and a wonder, too! Just dissolve a teaspoonful of egg in half a cup of water, and use as a head-wash. You will be surprised at the remarkable cleanliness of your scalp and the glossiness of your hair, as a result. For 25 cents you can get at the drug store enough egg to last for many weeks.

MISS M. O. N.—A really wonderful way, and the easiest and quickest way to remove superfluous hair is to dissolve them. This is done by dissolving the hairs with sulfo solution, which you can get at any drug store for a dollar. This never leaves a scar or red spot, always works, whether the hair is very thick or downy, and on the most delicate skin. It is the only safe way, and is exceedingly simple and quick—adv.

ditor's computation should prove that too much. The mayor voted "no."

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10.07. Mr. Morse was absent.

The following petitions of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company were referred after hearings to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand: Permission to locate one pole in Corner street between Warwick and South Walker streets, one pole in Brookside street at Woodward avenue, two poles in Ludlum st. and one pole in Barker avenue to give service at 174 Barker avenue.

The petition of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company for permission to erect and maintain a pole in D street, near Puffer was withdrawn.

The Lowell Electric Light corporation petitioned for permission to erect a pole in Harding st. between Warwick and South Walker streets to give service at 2 Harding street. After a hearing the matter was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

Hearings were held on the following garage and gasoline petitions and later referred to Commissioner Morse: Lucy L. Gaudette, 1117 Middlesex st., and Bernard & Miller, 548-50 Moody street.

Jurors Drawn

Commissioner George B. Marchand drew the following names from the jury box to serve as juror at the session of the superior court which starts in Cambridge November 3.

George J. Flordan, 9 Roberts avenue, water works.

Thomas F. Garvey, 72 Lilley avenue, cigarmaker.

Murdoch McKinnon, 1782 Middlesex street, marketman.

Walter L. Chase, 284 Gibson street, clerk.

Timothy Buckley, 453 Riverside st., operative.

Thomas X. McGreevey, 216 Forrest street, operative.

A petition from the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a pole location in Shaw street between Warwick and South Walker streets was referred for a hearing November 11.

Similar action was taken on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. for two pole locations in Fort Hill avenue between Andover street and 14 Fort Hill ave. The petition of Charles E. Fogg, et al., that a portion of Hadley street be accepted was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

The Tidewater Oil Sales corporation asked for garage and gasoline licenses at the following places and the petitions were referred to Commissioner Morse: 25 West Jackson street, 125 Moody street, 503 Rogers street, 109 Quebec street.

Similar action was taken on the petition of Osterman & Gilman for a gasoline license at 22 Sheldon street. The petition of George H. Nagle for permission to move a building in Chelmsford street was held for a hearing November 11.

After a hearing on the petition of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company for permission to erect three poles in Aberdeen street between Methuen street and 83 Aberdeen street, the matter was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

The council then passed an order calling a meeting of the qualified

CHILD SAVED BY MOTHER

Gertrude Lamarre, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lamarre, 29 Main street, Sanford, Me., was saved from fits by the prompt action of her mother, who administered Dr. True's Elixir.

Mrs. Lamarre wrote the following to Dr. J. P. True & Co.: "My daughter, never even got out of her fits, she was always complaining of being sick, she used Dr. True's Elixir (Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller). She never had any fits since. I feel very grateful to you."

Symptoms of worms: Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, and fully bloated, with occasional hard and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. True's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a family Laxative and Worm Expeller, since 1831—over 65 years' reputation. Everyone can improve their health by simply looking after the bowels—a pure herb, laxative which Dr. True's Elixir is, will promptly relieve all worry and disorders. AT ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

voters of the city to cast their votes for the nomination of candidates for mayor, two aldermen and two members of the school committee on November 18, from 12 at noon to 8 p. m.

Agreements between the city and the New England Telephone & Telegraph company releasing the city from any liability in case of accidents due from pole locations in Cedar street, West Fourth street, Calire street and Butterfield street were approved. The agreements bore the sanction of the city solicitor.

$5,000 Transferred

Mayor Thompson presented an order to transfer $5,000 from the appropriation for isolation hospital maintenance to the appropriation for mothers with dependent children as he said that his resources in the latter department were at a low ebb. The order was passed.

An order to lay out Hazel street from Rogers street to Wentworth avenue and another to lay a sidewalk on the northerly side of B street from Harrison avenue westerly about 32 feet were introduced by Commissioner Murphy but ordered to remain seven days in the city clerk's office.

$5000 For Sewers

At this point Commissioner Murphy introduced an order to borrow $10,000 for the construction of sewers, the money to be paid in ten equal annual payments.

Commissioner Murphy said that the order had been introduced as a consequence of numerous sewer petitions lying in his office. He saw no reason why the money could not be borrowed inasmuch as by November 1 the borrowing capacity of the city will be extended to $56,974.

Mayor Thompson: "I think the day is November 2."

Commissioner Marchand: "Have you any sewers open now?"

Commissioner Murphy: "The Gorham street sewer has been open nine days and the cars of the street railway company are beginning to cause the banks to cave in. The sewer should be finished as soon as possible. The board of health has approved it and is anxious to have the job completed."

Mayor Thompson: "I don't believe the city can afford to borrow money at the present time. When this $10,000 runs out we may have another sewer open and this business could go on indefinitely. Besides, it is not yet Nov. 2 and we are very near the debt limit at the present time."

Commissioner Murphy: "The people in that section of the city are just as much entitled to a sewer as any others."

Mayor Thompson: "The man who is going to be particularly affected by the completion of this sewer is a friend of mine and I don't like to object to it, but I don't think we should endanger our borrowing capacity. Especially not at this time when the inclemencies of the winter season are coming on."

At this point Commissioner Morse came into the meeting and the matter before the council was explained to him. He said that he had always voted for Mr. Murphy's requests for money because he believed men should be kept at work, but at the present time he is in urgent need of money himself for a piece of fire apparatus.

"Unless there's plenty of money, I don't think I care to vote for this order," he said.

There followed conversation between Messrs. Morse and Murphy at some length. Mr. Morse emphasizing the fact that lives of the firemen at the Lawrence street house are in danger because of the apparatus there.

He asked Commissioner Murphy why he had never mentioned the amount of money he had obtained this year in loans and the latter answered that those were distinct from maintenance, that such money was appropriated for a specific purpose and was entirely irrelative to the ordinary appropriation for the conduct of the department.

"You can't expect to run a department on peanuts," he added.

Commissioner Donnelly asked Mr. Murphy how much it would take to complete the Gorham street sewer and the latter said $1500. Commissioner Donnelly then moved that the $10,000 order be changed to read $5000. Commissioner Marchand seconded the motion and the amended order was passed with the mayor voting against it.

Commissioner Morse thereupon declared that at the next meeting he would bring in an order for $3500 for a piece of fire apparatus.

Mayor Thompson then read a vote authorizing the compensation of Edward Dean, an employee of the board of health, for a sum equal to the dif-

Auction Sale

Of the Talbot Residence, 45 North Street, Corner of Chestnut Street, Lowell, Mass., Saturday, Nov. 1, 1919, at 3 o'clock p. m.

On the premises, at the time above stated, will be sold at public auction this most valuable residential property. The location is ideal—fronting on Park Garden and yet within 10 minutes' walk of Merrimack Square. The house is of a grade of construction equaled in but few residences in this city. The finish throughout is of an extremely high character. There are 17 rooms, many with open fireplaces, on both first and second floors; also a conservatory or sun room on second floor. The house is equipped with every possible comfort and convenience of the highest class modern home—combination heating plant, gas and electricity—base sockets, etc., hardwood floors throughout—some quartered oak—a beautiful drawing room occupies the entire southerly side of the first floor—the dining room and library in the northerly wing of the house are finished in mahogany, with massive built-in sideboard in dining room—there is a butler's pantry—modern kitchen with built-in refrigerator—the plumbing throughout is of the most modern type. On the second floor are several spacious chambers—large tiled bath room and extra fine linen closet. On the third floor, maid's bath room, vegetable, fruit and wine closets. The house has slatted roof and is in good repair. There is ample room in rear for garage. This property is admirably adapted for club or society quarters. This is one of the highest grade properties offered in the City of Lowell in recent years, and the opportunity of purchase herein offered is most unusual.

Terms—$500 deposited or secured to auctioneer room as property is struck off. Other terms at sale.
